St. Louis Terminal Co. Asks For its Patent at Madison.

MINNESOTA'S LIEN LAW ATTACKED.

Other Telegraph News Matters of This Big Slice of America.

MADISON, Wis. Oct. 21. (Special to The Herald.)—The St. Louis & Superior Terminal railway company, which filed articles a few days ago, has applied to the government for a patent.

The company proposes to build from a point on the south shore of the St. Louis river opposite the village of Fond du Lac, Minn., through the townsite of St. Louis to a point on St. Louis bay where the main line of the Northern Pacific railway between Superior and Duluth intersects the bay and also from some point on the line to South Superior, and thence to a point on the Bay of Superior, where the Nemadji river flows into the bay.

The incorporators of the road are Duluth men who have started the townsite of a place to be called St. Louis, a manufacturing suburb of Duluth.

The Lien Law Attacked.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Daniel Fish this morning attacked the constitutionality of the lien law of 1889 at the district court, before Judges Lochren and Young, and the decision of the court will be most important. The action was one of John Nelson, a lien claimant, against Westernland & Co., contractors. William N. Reed, the owner at that time, and Sykes & Champion, a subsequent purchaser.

Westernland & Co. agreed to build a foundation for $100, the stones which he bought of Nelson cost $105, therefore Judge Fish urged his argument. The law of 1889 gives to the contractor or owner, unlimited authority to bind the owner's property for labor, material, skill or machinery which may be supplied by sub-contractors and in violation of the owner's contract, thereby giving the contractors the power to indefinitely charge the owners premises for labor or material in excess of the contract price and for which he never contracted, no limitation being made by the law for the protection of the owner by a bond as provided by the old law of 1887.

A French Duel.
PARIS, Oct. 21.—The duel between Paul Deroudele and Reinach, growing out of the debate in the chamber of deputies yesterday, in which M. Deroudele described Reinach as "that lackey of administration" took place this morning. The weapons used were pistols. Twenty five paces were marked by the seconds, and M. Reinach fired, but his shot flew wide of its mark. M. Deroudele did not fire.

PAY IN FULL.

And Will Probably Leave Mr. Peters Still a Rich Man.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—A gentleman who has just returned from Detroit, is responsible for the statement that when affairs of R. G. Peters & Co., who recently failed, are sifted to the bottom it will be found the big lumber firm may be able to pay dollar for dollar.

Mr. Peters' own estimate of affairs places his liabilities in the neighborhood of $1,170,000 and his assets between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. Conservative estimates, however, increase the liabilities and reduce the assets considerably. Still the general opinion is that the estate will, if properly managed, pay dollar for dollar and leave a good margin.

Wife Number Two.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 21.—Miss Ada Cullen, the telephone girl, left here for New York, where she will be met by ex-Mayor W. S. Pendleton, and a second marriage ceremony will be performed. Mrs. Pendleton No. 1 was granted a divorce a few weeks since. Mr. Pendleton has begun the practice of law in New York city.

A Personal Quarrel.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 12.—The relations between ex-Senator Charles H. Van Wyck and President Burrows of the Farmers alliance are becoming decidedly strained. The ex-senator, one of the chief organizers, prints an open letter in which he denounces Burrows in unmeasured terms. Van Wyck, in his open letter, accuses Burrows of manipulating the alliance for his own personal ends.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

Mrs. John Mueller, wife of a saloon-keeper of St. Louis, became violently insane yesterday and attempted to shoot her husband and a friend. Failing in this she secured another revolver and killed herself.

Duluth Should Be In It.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—The committee on mines and mining of the World's Columbian commission has organized and the first stated meeting will be held at Chicago on Nov. 27. It is proposed to have a building erected for the display of the products of the mines of the world.

A Pleasant Greeting.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 21.—As a train in which the czar was traveling on his return from his hunting trip in Poland was passing Grodno a shot was fired from the railway station there.

THE ENGINEERS.

They Elect Their Executive and Distribute Much in Charity.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—At the meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers today propositions of federation with the trainmen's organizations have been rejected. The new executive committee is as follows: Edw. Kent of the Erie, chairman; Nat. Sawyer, New York Central; R. M. Clark, Denver; Ash Kennedy, Winnipeg; Dan Brown, Derry, Pa.; G. B. Torver, Temple, Texas.

At the meeting last night $2007 was distributed among the widows, orphans and indigent families of members. The committee on special charities disbursed considerable money in Atlanta. St. Paul and Minneapolis have been suggested as places for the next convention.

THIRTEEN DID IT.

The Number Becomes Unlucky Indeed for a Defendant Who Had Taken $25,000.

HARVARD, Ill., Oct. 21.—Charles Armstrong for forty years one of Harvard's most prominent citizens, has proved to be a defaulter, having robbed his clients of $25,000. He has always borne an unblemished reputation, but now it transpires that for years he has been practicing systematic frauds.

Armstrong, who is now 77 years old and very feeble, has carried on a general collection and leasing business besides being a justice of the peace. He loaned large amounts of money, making thirteen loans for Mr. Joseph Southill ranging from $400 to $1000 each. He did a like business for other residents of this place. Mr. Southill became suspicious that all was not right and wrote a letter to each of the thirteen men whom he supposed were owing him. Twelve proved to be fictitious. The thirteenth man, George Oakley of Marquette, Ill., wrote Mr. Southill that he did not owe him anything.

This alarmed Southill and he quietly set to work procuring a map and located the land which he supposed he had in mortgages and visited two places in Seneca, where he held paper. Both names were bogus and a glance at the county clerk's records in Woodstock revealed the fact that the six names in McHenry county against whom he held paper were forged.

Goodyear of the Goodyear Lumber company of Tomah, Wis., has been spending a few days in town with the idea of investing. Like almost everyone else, Mr. Goodyear was surprised to find the Gate city so large and flourishing. He is interested in the quarrying of sandstone, and spent some time in investigating that industry as carried on here.

The Players in Session.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The Brotherhood of baseball players met this morning, and, after some desultory conversation, resolved to do nothing until they met the central board of directors of the Players league, held at noon. They are now in session behind closed doors. Several of them expressed opinions that no definite understanding would be reached before tomorrow noon, if then.

The McKinley Hugbear.

TORONTO, Ont. Oct. 21.—Over 1000 live sheep and lambs have passed through St. John en route for New England within a few days despite the McKinley bill.

DOINGS IN LUMBER.

Herman Furniture Co. to Have a Mill For Hard Wood.

THE HILLS AND THE PEARSONS.

R. A. Gray's Mill Starts Up Again for the Fall; The Dalles Improvements.

The Herman Furniture company has contracted, in connection with its New Duluth shops, for the erection of a hardwood saw mill, with a capacity of 6,000,000 feet a year. This mill will use timber probably furnished by the newly organized Duluth Lumber company, which owns millions of feet of Wisconsin's best hardwood timber. A Chicago furniture house has just placed an order for 500 bedroom sets with the Hermann Furniture company and this will probably be its first work.

The Saginaw correspondent of The Northwestern Lumberman writes that the West End company's mill, owned by E. H. Pearson & Co., will be rebuilt at Duluth.

R. A. Gray will start up his mill tomorrow. Sawing will be done up to the end of the season on logs of Duncan Brewer & Co. have just been driven by reason of a dam the company has built on its stream.

The New Duluth Land company received a letter this morning from C. M. Hill, the Saginaw lumberman, informing the company that he will build a mill at New Duluth, if the land company will give him a site. The offer will be accepted.

The Dalles Improvement company will make some extensive repairs and changes on the St. Louis river this fall. The company expects to lay out about $100,000 in repairs and new work this season. This work will go a great way towards breaking the power of the Clouet monopoly, giving Duluth the right to the passage of logs down the St. Louis. The company is figuring with local parties for lumber for wing or sheer dams to be built along the river. These are put in the purpose of confining the water into a narrow channel.

It is also said to be the intention of the company to construct a series of dams across the streams flowing into the St. Louis, giving a supply of water to keep the river up during low stages. The company will put crews of men at work soon. This will necessitate the blasting away of a large amount of rock. A raft containing nearly a million feet was let go by the tug a day or two ago and is now on the beach on the south shore. It belongs to James E. Heney.

CHAPIN DISCHARGED.

The United States Court today; Doings in the Court Room.

The United States circuit court reconvened this morning and the case of Matthew Dalmore vs. the Northern Pacific Railroad company was placed on trial. The plaintiff asks $20,000 damages for injuries received while in the employ of the company.

The jury in the case of H. L. Chapin, charged with assaulting Dr. Sweeney, returned a verdict of not guilty. Wm. Williams alias Fox, was found guilty of selling whisky to the Indians at Sandstone. Sentence has not yet been passed.

Dan Sullivan was tried this morning but no verdict had been found at 3 o'clock.

Frank Chapman, a colored man, charged with assault in the third degree upon Ella Miller, plead guilty today and was fined $25 and costs.

George Bosboro, arrested for disturbing a religious meeting on Twentieth avenue west, was discharged today.

LAKE SIDE'S WATER.

The Company Starts Operations With a Capacity of 500,000 Gallons Daily.

The Lakeside Light & Water company started its pumping station at Lester Park yesterday. Three miles of mains were filled, and by Dec. 1 the entire water and sewer system of the village will be in use. The pump house now has machinery with a pumping power of 500,000 gallons a day, and this capacity will be increased to 1,500,000 gallons a day within a short time.

The sewers were flushed yesterday, and the system, so far as completed, found to be perfect.

Today's Registration.

Today has been the second day of registration and a large number of names have been added to the poll lists. The books will be kept open until 5 o'clock this evening and every voter should see personally that his name has not been omitted. Next Tuesday will be the last day for registration.

Building Permits.

Building permits were issued today to the following: J. B. Weston, two-story frame residence, Bench street, between Oregon and Montana avenues, $3200; Louis Smith, one-story frame residence, Sixth street, between Eighth and Ninth avenues east, $800; Hector McLean, two-story frame residence, Second street, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth avenues west, $900 each.

Astute London Police Believe.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—An American named Wright, and two women named Condy and Irvine, were arraigned today on the charge of robbing a jeweler in Cheapside of a diamond brooch valued at £350. It is believed they are implicated in other jewelry robberies here.

Would Abolish Cincinnati's Board.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 21.—The house this morning adopted a resolution that no slight or insult was intended in the refusal of the speaker to accept the governor's message yesterday evening, and appointing a committee to call upon the governor and request that the message again be sent to the house. Governor Campbell complied with the request. The message recommends that the legislature pass a law providing a non-partisan board of improvement for Cincinnati.

MORE NAVY.

The Concord and Bennington, Gunboats, Approaching Completion; A Heavy Fine on Their Contractors.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Palmer & Co., the contractors for building the two gunboats Concord and Bennington, have notified the department that the first named vessel is ready for her trial trip, and a naval board will be appointed to conduct the trial.

These vessels were contracted for more than three years ago, and as they were under contract to be completed in May, 1890, contractors are now under a penalty of $200 per day for every day's delay in the completion of the vessels since then. The Concord's sister ship, the Bennington, is about two months behind the Concord.

The Concord was reported to be ready for trial about four months ago, and a naval board was appointed to test her, but it appeared that much work remained to be done, so the trial was postponed.

THE MAFIA.

This Murderous Society Has Branches Everywhere in the United States.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The murder of Chief of Police Hennessey of New Orleans, by members of the Mafia, recalls the fact that this same society has branches all over the country. Down in New Orleans it is called Stopnigierio, whereas in New York it was originally known as the Camorra, but they are all the same. Elsewhere there are different names. The first public notice in this city of the fact of such a society's existence was the publication of a letter from a poor Italian woman, who said that she had been misused and robbed by members of the society, and that when she attempted through the police to regain her property and secure justice she was frightened in so many ways that she dared not go any further.

At that time Inspector Byrnes said that while such a society might exist, his detectives had not come in contact with it, and there had been no crime up to that time which could be in any way connected with a secret gang of Italian cut throats. Some time later, however, the inspector learned, in a very startling manner, that such a society did exist. On a quiet summer night, two years ago, an Italian was murdered by a member of the Mafia in front of Cooper Union.

RESERVOIR LANDS.

Why They are Thrown Open to Settlement in Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 21.—Governor Thad. Pound was at the Plankinton yesterday and talked to a reporter respecting the reservoir lands in northwestern Wisconsin which are soon to be opened to homestead entry. The idea of building reservoirs at headwaters of the St. Croix and Chippewa rivers, from which water could be drawn to flood those rivers in dry seasons, was one of Governor Pound's pet projects while in congress, and he succeeded in obtaining an appropriation of $100,000 with which to begin operations.

For various reasons, however, the plans were never carried out, the money was returned to the treasury, and the lands reserved for the purpose are soon to be taken by settlers under general homestead laws. Gov. Pound has never lost faith in the reservoir scheme, however, and believes in it today as thoroughly as he ever did. He says the defeat of the enterprise was due to a conflict with logging corporations, who were expected to cheerfully and promptly yield to the government the rights and privileges necessary to be acquired. Instead, however, they began to suspect that the rivers would be used for navigation by steamboats in such a manner as would greatly interfere with log driving, and many of them combined to throw obstructions in the way, so that it was thought best to abandon the effort.

Governor Pound Says the scheme of water reservoirs in Minnesota is a success.

Bohannon Not Contempt.

TIPPERARY, Oct. 21.—The trial of the defendants convicted of conspiracy was resumed before Magistrates Irwin and Shannon today. One of the witnesses who gave evidence yesterday for the crown testified he had since been told that hereafter his family would not be supplied with milk. Dillion, of counsel for defendants, said he wished that the tribunal before which the case was being heard was a superior for he would charge Mr. Balfour with contempt of court for his recent utterances at New Castle.

Where it Costs to Hit Reporters.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., Oct. 21.—Mayor Patrick J. Gleason of this city, who was convicted last week of assault in the third degree upon G. R. Crowley, the Long Island agent of the Associated Press, was arraigned here this morning and sentenced to five days in the county jail and a fine of $250. Judge Cullen was very severe on Gleason's act.

Suburban Residents Cannot Use the Library.

UNLESS THEY DO BUSINESS IN CITY.

To Buy a Thousand More Books at Once and Five Hundred a Month Regularly.

The public library board last night held the most important session that it has had for a long time. One of the matters that called the board together was the question of providing citizens of suburbs with books. It had already become quite a question, as yesterday and Saturday numerous people, especially of London and Lester Park, had applied for the privileges of the library, and had been told to wait until the board could adjust the question. The by-law on the subject is as follows:

The privileges of the library are extended to persons residing outside of the city limits of Duluth who have permanent place of business in Duluth subject to the same regulations that apply to the actual residents of the city; provided, that the guarantor for such person to be an actual resident of the city.

This being part of section 2, article 18. After a good deal of discussion last evening, in which the expediency of obtaining legislation to allow certain suburbs, such as West Duluth, and Lester Park, to contribute toward the maintenance of the library, it was decided to hold, for the present at least, strictly to the letter of the by-law and so avoid all question and conflict of any kind.

Therefore only such residents of Duluth's suburbs as are personally engaged in business in this city are to be allowed the privilege of drawing books.

Action was also taken in reference to getting more books and the library committee was authorized to select a list of from 300 to 1000 volumes for immediate purchase, and as well to purchase new books as they come out and duplicates as they are needed. The question of finances was also discussed and it was the board thought it saw its way clear to the purchase of nearly 500 books per month for at least a year from this date. These books would be purchased along week by week and would as well fill up the breaks in the present selections of books caused by the small orders heretofore made.

This will give by the close of next year, a well balanced free public library of about 10,000 volumes, which will allow it to be fairly complete, for the usual run of calls, in all general lines of literature. Several lists of books in the German, French and Scandinavian languages are being made out, each list to comprise only the best productions of authors of the several nations, and these will probably soon be purchased.

There were issued yesterday 182 volumes to circulation, which, as Mrs. Dixon says, is an average daily circulation for a library of 17,000 to 18,000 volumes. Of course, that it was the first day made some difference, but it is quite probable that the library will be fairly swamped with book-takers inside of three months.

STANLEY'S COMING LECTURES.

To Appear First in the Metropolitan Opera House for a Charity.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The famous African explorer, Henry M. Stanley, will sail from Liverpool for this country on the Teutonic on the 20th in company with his wife, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Tennant, and his wife's cousin, the author of "Doctor Bill."

His first public act in this country will be the giving of a lecture in the Metropolitan Opera house on Nov. 11 in behalf of the Summit Convalescent Home. His subject will be "The Rescue of Emin Pasha, the Forest, Pigmies, and March Across Africa." After this he will go on a long lecture tour already arranged. The major and Mr. A. B. DeFrece are busy now in making preparations for the arrival of Mr. Stanley, and in arranging for his first lecture. There will be several hundred of the best known citizens of New York on the stage. Mr. DeFrece will introduce Chauncey M. DePew, who will in turn introduce Mr. Stanley. There will be an auction sale of seats, and the upset price for boxes will be $50; orchestra and dress circle, $5; balcony, $3; family circle, $1.50, and general admission, 5c.

Mr. Pond says Mr. Stanley is in excellent health, and that he is quite strong enough to make his voice heard in the largest hall. Mr. Stanley has written that he expects the trip across the ocean will completely restore him to health. Mrs. Stanley writes that she hopes her husband will be able to rest in this country when he is not engaged in lecturing. The invitations to receptions in Europe which he received were much in the nature of commands, which he did not think it advisable to disobey.

A Peaceful Death.
DEADWOOD, S. D., Oct. 21.—S. R. Thomas, familiarly known as "Doc," an old miner and prospector of the Black Hills, died in Bears Gulch recently. He was found sitting in his cabin, paper in hand, spectacles on and legs crossed, as if still reading.

... Buried.
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—The funeral of the late Gordon E. Cole occurred at this city yesterday. The remains arrived on the noon train, accompanied by Mrs. Cole, who went to New York last week to take charge of the body on its arrival from England. The Shattuck military, Fairbault militia, G. A. R. and the city council of this city composed a part of the procession.

Birchall's Fate Assured.
OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 21.—There is no probability that the verdict in the Birchall case will be disturbed by the state department. Judge McMahon in his review of the evidence has referred in very strong terms to several passages in the testimony which bear very heavily against the accused man, while he says nothing that would indicate his belief that the verdict was unjust.

Jackson to Star with Corbett.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Peter Jackson will arrive in this country again Nov. 6 for a tour of the states under the management of Parson Davies. Jackson's reception in Australia at every point was enthusiastic.

Protestant Episcopal Council.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—The national missionary council of the Protestant Episcopal church opened last night. The principal address was delivered by Bishop Abdiel Leonard of Nevada. The council proper opened its sessions at 10 o'clock this morning in Trinity church with divine exercises. According to the annual reports the contributions for missionary purposes were larger during last year than usual.

Muscel Shoals Canal Completed.

FLORENCE, Ala., Oct. 21.—The engineer in charge has announced that the Muscel Shoals canal is now open for navigation. The whole Tennessee valley will celebrate the event in a suitable manner. Chattanooga will send a boatload of iron to St. Louis, and will bring through a boatload of foreign goods from New Orleans. The opening will take place some time in October.

A Pioneer Ill.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 21.—Gen. Henry Hartman Sibley, the distinguished Northwestern pioneer, is not expected to live many days. He is suffering from dropsy. The general is over 80 years old.

Can't Agree.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12.—For four hours a conference between the representatives of the two Cleveland baseball clubs was in progress last night, but the consolidation question was not settled.

Gastronomic Putney.

MILWAUKEE Sentinel: Henry Watermelon has been nominated by the democrats of Brown county for clerk of the courts. Is this to catch the colored vote?

A LOUNGER'S FEUILLETON.

She wore my violet tonight
Planned to her corsage, fleecy white.
Ah, how I envied her, radiant, now—
Her laughing eyes, upon her brow
A jeweled diadem.

Poor fellow! You spoke my message fair:
Whispered, while nestling there,
The words I dared not tell;
You told her, with your perfumed breath,
That I was hers alone till death:
You did your office well.

While on her breast you thrived, her song
Spellbound captured in your throng
As it swelled her snowy throat,
What value can my despair afford?
She was an actress I adored.

And her manager burned my note!

Let Mr. Sawyer kick too.

Superior Leader: The shipments of new wheat from the Sawyer systems up to Oct. 15, were 400,750 bushels while up to the same date last year their shipments were 2,750,000 bushels. The Great Northern's shipments have increased largely over those of last, but the increase falls far short of making up the decrease on those of the Sawyer elevators.

The Way Made Clear.

One of the most serious obstacles to success in this world is a man planted right in the middle of the road to his goal. How to restore and to maintain a regular habit of body and digestion is too often a source of needless, and, unhappily, of vain inquiry. It is not necessary to inveigh against drastic purgatives. They who have used them continuously know the consequence. A remedy which unites the action of a regulating machine for the bowels with that of a tonic both for the stomach, the liver and the stomach, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, sanctioned by the best medical authority, and receiving daily the endorsement of our fellow countrymen. With this effectual, though gentle, laxative at hand, it is possible to defy those changes of temperature productive of constipation, as well as constitutional attacks of biliousness, which beset even people naturally healthy. Malaria, dyspepsia, rheumatism and kidney troubles are remedied and prevented by the Bitters.

Blood Will Tell.

There is no question about it—blood will tell—especially if it be an impure blood. Blisters, eruptions, pimples and boils are all symptoms of impure blood, due to the improper action of the liver. When this important organ fails to properly perform its function of purifying and cleansing of the blood, impurities are carried to all parts of the system, and the symptoms above referred to are merely evidences of the struggle of nature to throw off the poisonous germs. Unless her warning be heeded in time, serious results are certain to follow, culminating in liver or kidney disorders, or even in consumption. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will prevent and cure these diseases by restoring the liver to a healthy condition.

LIGHT HOUSE OFFICIALS.

Chairman of the Light House Board Visits Duluth.

INSPECTING LIGHT SERVICE OF LAKES.

An English Tribute to the Builders of American Lake Steel Craft.

Hon. Henry Stockbridge, Jr., his father and Mr. C. H. Kemp, secretary of the Carriers association of vessel owners, were prominent people who passed through the city Saturday afternoon en route to Escanaba. Mr. Stockbridge is member of congress from Baltimore, and chairman of the sub-committee on light-houses for seaboard and inland waterways. The party came in on the steamer Idaho, after having stopped for a short time at the Saul.

"We are on a tour of inspection of the light-house facilities of the great lakes," said the congressman to a Herald reporter. "In general," he continued, "I find the harbors to be fairly well protected, but in some instances I noted places where radical changes will be necessary. One of these is at St. Mary's river, where, to secure a safer passage for marine craft, several changes must be made. Duluth has fared well at the hands of the lighthouse board. The canal seems to be well protected, but there has been an effort made by Superior to have range lights placed in the bay."

"Duluth has a wonderful harbor, and with the completion of the channels a system of lights will probably be placed here. From Duluth we go to Escanaba, and will look over the ports of Lake Michigan."

THE BEST IN THE WORLD.

Lake Steel Freight Steamers Have not Their Peer Anywhere.

Cap. John Milbank a surveyor for the Liverpool Lloyds, has been in Cleveland the past week, surveying the damage to the steamer Mariska. Capt. Milbank examined every corner of the Mariska, and of her he said:

"The water bottoms of your steel steamers on the lakes are different from any I have ever seen—and better, too. In all my experience of forty years I never saw anything to equal the Mariska in construction. Wonderful! Wonderful!" repeated Capt. Milbank half a dozen times. "I never saw the like. Her water bottom is superior to any I ever saw and I am told that it is similar to the bottom of all your lake steamers. The never was a steamer built on the Clyde that equals her in construction. Now, I am not saying this because I am out here on the lakes. As a proof that I am in earnest, let me add that I have instructed my people across the water to get all the risks they can on steamers constructed like the Mariska."

"Do you know what would have been the result had a Clyde-built steamer been on the rock that the Mariska was? She would have been up there yet. Her entire cargo would have been taken out, and if she had been loaded with anything that would be spoiled by contact with water the most of her cargo would have been ruined. She would have been in drydock over a month and most of her water bottom would have been torn out. I think if European builders were acquainted with this style of water bottom they would adopt it. It's wonderful to me to think of a boat tearing a hole in her bottom as the Mariska did, and not damaging her cargo. If she had been loaded with silk it would have been the same."

The Axis of the Continent.

Boston is sometimes called the "hub of the universe," and has considerable claim, in intellectual way. The Rocky mountains are alluded to as the "backbone of the continent"—and they are certainly rugged and knobby enough to constitute a formidable and reliable vertebral column. No wonder Uncle Sam is so independent with such a backbone. If these are appropriate appellations, then we may rightly call the Mississippi valley the axis of North America. In its borders are the bulk of the people—it is the food storehouse of the whole country—and the remainder of the country revolves about it, dependent upon it for food, for the great working force, for the political power. To reach any portion of this valley above St. Louis, "The Burlington" is the natural, the best, the quickest route for the traveler, every city in the section being on or near its lines. For tickets, time table, rates and information, call on any agent of "The Burlington," or connecting lines, or write to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

NEW DULUTH!

Situated at the Head of Navigation on St. Louis Bay, Head of Lake Superior.

THE TERMINAL POINT OF INLAND WATER NAVIGATION

On the Great Lake Between the East and the West.

Destined to be the largest manufacturing city in the Northwest and the Eastern intersection and terminal of the trans-Pacific railroads and there tapping the Northwest, West and Southwest area of agricultural developments, hence the future railroad center of the Great Northwest.

NEW DULUTH TOWNSITE owns the largest number of desirable acres of any new manufacturing center on the north shore of Lake Superior. The level and gradual shelving situation of NEW DULUTH between the bay and the hills, for home sites and home comforts, admit of a development of active settlements unequalled in the Northwest.

The bay frontage of NEW DULUTH exceeds any other townsite in the Northwest. Five miles of water frontage at the head of inland water navigation of the United States, with its population of 65,000,000, is a present and future guarantee of its position and growth, and its financial and commercial strength.

NEW DULUTH is the nearest point to the great water power of the St. Louis River, which NEW DULUTH manufacturers will cause to be developed and is the only point where the minimum cost of it can be utilized by the manufacturer. NEW DULUTH is organized upon a paid up capital of $1,000,000, and today can claim a larger number of manufacturing interests being established than any other point at the head of the lakes.

NOT ON ONE SIDE.

It is a current remark that has been going the rounds in this campaign, as it did in the last, that about all the higher education of this country is to be found on the free trade side. It is a comforting habit of democratic stump speakers to picture the college-bred brains and science and genius of the country all on their side of the tariff question, and only the greedy plutocrats and their hirelings and fat-witted dupes on the other side. Now without conceding the special qualifications of college-bred brains or the special disinterestedness of salaried professors in judging of the practical application of the protective system states, we would remark with Artemus Ward that the statement is perhaps "important if true." But it is not true.

If there is any college foundation which has been held up as a shining seat of free-trade doctrine and hot-bed of budding Cobdens, it is Harvard. Here, if anywhere, the "brains and science and genius" of the place might fairly be assumed to be soaked indelibly in free-trade dye. So stump speakers prated, so the story spread. One day, however, when it was screeched out with peculiar shrillness by that odd son of Harvard who is now bunting his head against the head of Henry Cabot Lodge in the Sixth Massachusetts district, the cry was shamed in silence by the most remarkable mass meeting of college men that was ever held in the old Bay state. Tremont Temple was packed and overflowing. The police on duty had never seen such a press. On the stage were the men of chief mark in the state, her leading senators, representatives, ex-governors, all Harvard men, with a host of all ages from the whitest-haired alumnus to the youngest freshman massed about them. No one who saw that show or heard the speaking of that night went away with the idea that all the "brains and science and genius of Harvard" were had been up to the free trade juggernaut.

No party, no policy, no dogma has the right to lay claim on Harvard. She stands for free thought and widening knowledge, not for Cobdenism or any other ism. She sends out yearly young protectionists as well as young free traders, and the poll of her classes shows that she rears even more of the first than the second. And whatever their feelings, the rubs of experience, with practical condition are likely to be "confidential" to upset their notions. The higher education racket is worn out in the East and the one-sided dodge does not fool the marines. But we notice that it is still palmed off on the grangers and it was actually tried in this city a week or two ago by the impartial News.

Judge Gresham of Illinois is now most prominently mentioned as the probable successor of the late Justice Miller on the supreme court bench. No better selection could be made. As a man he stands above reproach, and as a lawyer he is by common consent in the foremost rank. His decisions from the bench of the federal court for the northern district of Illinois have been almost uniformly sustained by the supreme court, and no judge in the country commands more fully the respect and regard of the bar in his court. As a jurist and an American he would be a worthy successor of the great justice whose place is now to be filled.

One hundred and fifty thousand more barrels of flour than were shipped during the whole of last year have already gone out from Duluth, and thousands more are on the way. The St. Paul & Duluth road is the only line now which has enough cars at command to handle the shipments East, and a steady stream of flour is running over it. This will be the banner flour year of Duluth beyond a doubt.

The republicans of Minneapolis turned out in mass on Saturday night to welcome Judge Thurston, distinguished above all the party leaders of the West in the last national campaign. He made a really great speech and called out a great response of enthusiastic applause. He sees in the West the dominant political power of the nation hereafter. His prediction, "Against the combined protests of the democrats, the republicans of the Fifth congress placed six new stars in the azure of the nation's flag. The West is going to elect the next president whether New York consents or not. At the national capital there will be two caucuses, a democratic and a republican, and the republican will win. For the first time in the history of the nation the West will control, and she will control hereafter." Who can doubt it? Let us see if the West will now turn on the party which raised it to power, and read it in the very hour of her triumph.

Grown if you want to; there is no tariff on growing anyway, but where are you hurt? Is it your back that is paining you? Doesn't your American made coat fit you? Oh, you are carrying that big new tax, and it makes your shoulders ache. Are you sure it is your shoulders? Isn't it your mind? Are you really carrying anything except the load the stump speakers have slumped on your head? Take a little tonic for your head. Note what a leading dealer of Minneapolis, M. L. Rothchild, of the Palace Clothing company says: "We have made no advance in price over a year ago. On the contrary, on several leading lines our prices this year are lower than ever before. I will mention one notable example: We are selling this year for $10 each wool suits, made from cloth from the looms at Beaver Dam, Wis., and Jamestown, N. Y. A year ago we couldn't have touched them for $12.50 each. We are now handling domestic goods in preference to foreign goods, and find that they give better satisfaction. We bought the foreign goods before because it was the custom to do so. Now we can buy a better quality of domestic goods for less money. This is the way our prices are running and we anticipate a still greater reduction rather than an increase. Our trade this month is fully 75 per cent ahead of what it was a year ago, and up to today we have sold more goods in October than we sold for the entire month of October in 1889. The same special sales that we made a year ago we shall make this fall. There is no difference whatever." Don't you feel better already? Yes, we think we hear a crack in that gown of yours. That's a good sign. Oh, you'll be all right by election day!

SEEN AND HEARD.

"Duluth is the lieman's paradise," remarked a member of the wire strapping fraternity last evening. "Setting poles for telegraph and telephone companies is no fun at all. But when it comes to putting up wires, give me Duluth to almost any other place. You see there are very few trees in the way here, and especially on streets where wires are thickest, tree planting has never been attempted. We liemen have an awful job occasionally when it becomes necessary to trim some favorite shade tree, and you might as well attempt to invent a machine for perpetual motion as to get the owner of trees to allow a single twig to be cut. But it has to be done, either by persuasion, money or force. The latter is not a pleasant expedient but we have to resort to it sometimes. In rainy weather shade trees become a nuisance, and it is not an uncommon thing for wet-swinging liemen to render a wire utterly useless. So far I have always been honest in tree trimming, but I have known liemen who would maliciously cut beautiful trees in such manner as to eventually kill them. Of course such work is always done on the sly and in such manner that it cannot be detected till long afterward. I recall a time while at work for the Western Union in central New York where a half mile of maples, fifty or sixty feet high, were cut down in one night and the poles erected and wires strung before morning. The proprietor owned property on both sides of the road, and wouldn't let a pole be set on his land. The company offered him $24 a tree, but he wouldn't sell. The case was in courts the last I heard of it."

It was in a Superior street store. Dramatists, two ladies, one young and charming the other middle-aged. The latter had in her hand a book of "The Divinity" school of the Chicago university where she is now at work on the catalogue for the Duluth library and she says that in the way of books the Duluth library is far ahead of the circulating libraries of other cities. Usually public libraries have at least fifty per cent of books of fiction, but in the Duluth library there is only about twenty percent of fiction. The remainder of the 3400 books now on hand are standard books of history, biography and science. Last Saturday when the library was first opened, the latest call was for books of religious nature, showing that the tastes of Duluth readers have been properly trained in the way of Sunday reading. Yesterday the greatest inquiry was for biographical and historical works and the latest call was for fiction with Miss Barr's works in the lead. When it comes to "culinary" Duluth as in other things will not be downed.

A well-known young man about town had a bitter experience last Sunday evening, which has resulted in a severe cold. He had been over to West Superior during the day and evening, and had succeeded in securing himself behind a large amount of the stuff which lubricates as well as exalts. He came over on the last Short line train, which leaves West Superior at 10:15. On the way over he fell asleep, and the brakeman neglected to awaken him, and as a consequence he was switched back in the yards near the Short line bridge. When the brakeman went to lock the doors of the cars he found the sleeper, and the latter found himself obliged to walk up town. It was late—very late—when he reached home, and yesterday he was not drinking.

PERRY RECITAL.

It was a matter of great regret that the piano on which Mr. Perry was to play last night at the Presbyterian church could not be moved into the church proper, for the vestry is poorly ventilated and is very unfavorable for all music, especially vocal work, besides being extremely close and uncomfortable. Notwithstanding these handicaps the recital was enjoyable and successful in every way.

Both Mr. Perry and Mrs. Hayman doing very artistic work. Mr. Perry's remarks were, as usual, in the best of taste, and contained many beautiful and helpful thoughts for the general listener as well as the piano student. If space permitted it would be a pleasant task to follow his descriptions in detail, but it is only possible to speak of them in a general way.

The Chopin B flat minor sonata, which he characterized as the grandest of all, was intended to represent in his four movements the battle in which the Polish hero figures, his triumphant return and meeting the funeral procession of his love and the wall of the night wind at the grave. Its technical difficulties were grandly surmounted, the first of the funeral march being immensely impressive.

The Wagner group was well chosen, especially at this time, when the musical world is so much interested in the work of the master and feeling such effects of his mighty genius. Speaking briefly, Brunnhilde, one of the goddesses composing the Walkure, is condemned to sleep within a circle of magic fire until awakened by the kiss of some man brave enough to penetrate through such danger. Mr. Perry was hardly as firm and sure as usual in this, making several technical slips though one could readily imagine the success of licking flames. The "Tristan and Isolde Liebestod" was much better, the climax being very strong, and the spinning song from the "Flying Dutchman" was as dainty and clear an example of finger-work as one could wish. The weird and chilling story of the "Erl King" was beautifully described and played, the different skips and runs being accomplished with security and great distinctness.

Mr. Perry's lovely musical version of the familiar story of the "Lorelei" was charmingly played, and to comply with an imperative encore, he gave the ever-welcome Chopin "Berceuse," that most beautiful of all cradle songs. Numbers 10 and 11, the "Nocturne" and "Polonaise of Dewey" were very strongly contrasted, and the octave work in the latter, which by the way destroyed the use of Mr. Perry's arm for two years, was simply marvellous and one almost trembled lest he should find himself disabled again.

Mrs. Hayman's singing showed her to be a thorough artist, possessed of a beautiful voice, than which it is hard to praise more highly. The Haydn aria she rendered with a breadth and simplicity that was delightful. For encore she gave Helen Hood's cute little song "Disappointment." In her group of songs she adapted her tone to the sentiment and did especially fine work in the "Thou'rt Like a Flower." For an encore she gave a delightful cradle song, playing her own accompaniment.

To sum the whole entertainment, one must say that it was artistic treat and the Cecilian society may be assured of the hearty gratitude of the music loving people of Duluth.

What is Proposed to be Done Toward Raising Our Own Early Vegetables.

Judge Stearns addressed the Chamber of commerce this morning on a subject that elicited great applause. "There is no question," said the judge, "but the cost of living in Duluth is higher than in other Minnesota cities. And this is caused by the high prices we must pay for our vegetables and fruits. There is no reason for this. I have been reading in The Forum an article on hot houses. Vegetables can be raised this way on an extent large enough to supply Duluth with all its green groceries as early as we can get them from away. Any kind of vegetables can be raised at any season. A certain land company of Duluth is so taken with this scheme that it will give ten acres of land to any person or company willing to make the experiment."

The Chamber was heartily in sympathy with Judge Stearns' remarks, and the matter was referred to a special committee, President Baldwin as chairman, and the subject was made a special order of business for the next session. The session opened by the secretary reading a communication from the traffic manager of the Northern Pacific road, stating that the railway could not give the Chamber an excursion to Winnipeg at present, as traffic was such that cars could not be spared. Several answers were read, coming from St. Paul, Minneapolis and Fairbault, favoring joint action for state space at the World's fair.

The department of the interior, in response to the chamber's communication regarding the right-of-way for the Duluth & Winnipeg road, stated that the matter was being put through with all possible haste. The Duluth & Winnipeg terminal way and building committee asked for further time in which to make its report.

J. B. Douglas, T. B. Hewar, M. H. Bowman, T. W. Merritt, Paul Chandler and D. B. Scott were admitted to membership and a special meeting will be held on the excursion train tomorrow morning to give those desiring to go on the excursion—only members being allowed to take part—to join the chamber by paying the dues.

OF MATTERS POLITICAL.

How the Candidates Feel Over the Situation.

ASSURANCE RENDERED DOUBLY SURE.

A Republican Mass Meeting This Evening; Notes of General Political Affairs.

Now that there are three candidates for state senator in the field, surety of the election of F. B. Daugherty is rendered doubly sure. Said a prominent republican yesterday: "Mr. Maginnis is a good man and he showed sound sense when he allowed himself to be fired from the alliance ticket. He can not get more than the straight democratic vote and that is not enough for his election. Joe Mannheim is a chronic office seeker, yet he never held an office that he did not get into through the kitchen door. F. B. Daugherty is a man who has the confidence of the people. In private life, he is a gentleman whom one would be glad to meet and his career in office has always been above reproach. It is a fact worth noting that although he has a great many men under his employ he has never had a strike on his hands. This fact alone ought to go a great ways with the laboring people and insure his election."

How different has been the course of some of the alliance leaders. They pose as the friends of the laboring man and claim to have their good at heart. Yet some of those same men in days past have been known to visit laboring men and attempt to induce them not only to strike, but to resort to violence to accomplish their ends. These are the men who are demanding a return to the "old time purity in politics" as they call it.

The position of Rev. Kristopher Jansen of Minneapolis presents a sort of anomaly. He is coming to Duluth as a member of the state Unitarian conference, yet he will fill up his spare time in preaching politics to the Scandinavians. He will address an alliance meeting in the West End tomorrow evening, speaking in the Scandinavian.

A republican Scandinavian meeting will be held at Normanna hall in the West End this evening. Speeches will be delivered by H. C. Kenna, F. B. Daugherty and Olaf Edilson, the latter in Norwegian. There will also be addresses by other local speakers, and altogether it will be a most interesting meeting.

The French republicans have secured Ingalls hall for a mass-meeting of the French people tomorrow evening. There will be good speeches in both English and French by local speakers.

Amos Shepard, Geo. N. LaVaque, C. C. Tear and Paul Sharvy went to Tower yesterday afternoon. They will not return until Thursday.

The Zenith City Colored club at its meeting last evening decided to do the right thing and endorsed the entire state and county republican ticket. The report of the committee on resolutions endorsed the national and state administrations and pledged support to the republican candidates now before the voters of St. Louis county. The club now numbers about sixty members, and the membership will be increased to over 100 before the next meeting. A committee was appointed to confer with the state central committee with a view to securing F. D. Parker for a speech in Duluth some time next week. Mr. Parker is one of the ablest colored speakers in the state, and is well informed on political matters.

John Tischer has withdrawn as a candidate for county commissioner and C. Polier has been put on the ticket to fill the vacancy. Jay W. Anderson has been nominated by the democrats for county commissioner from the Third district and H. P. Wieland will run independently in the same district.

The question as to whether the candidates for county commissioner for the Third district shall be placed on the regular county ticket or on a separate city ballot involves what some term a fine point. The district is made up of the Second and Third wards of Duluth and consequently is falsely regarded as city office. Section 15 of the election laws, says that the county ticket shall include the names of all candidates whose names do not appear on the state ticket, who are voted for throughout the entire county. The city clerk and city attorney hold that there is no necessity of a separate ballot.

S. M. Owens, the alliance candidate for governor, will speak in Duluth on the evening of Oct. 31st at Temple opera. He is said to be a very entertaining speaker.

Senator Whiteman and Mr. Wilbur will address the democrats of Duluth on the evening of Oct. 25. Senator Morton Wilkinson will not come to Duluth as was previously intended.

Excursions for Home-seekers and Others. On Sept. 23 and Oct. 14 the Great Northern line, Eastern Minnesota railway, will sell tickets at the one-way fare for the round trip to 525 stations on its own line in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana and Iowa. Also to points in Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Indian Territory, Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho, Utah, Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Texas and Arkansas. For routes and particulars call on C. J. O'Donnell, city ticket agent, 428 West Superior street, Spalding hotel, or Great Northern depot, corner Sixth avenue west and Michigan street.

THE NORRIE'S STOCKPILES.

Big Work of the Banner Mine of the Lake Region.

ASHLAND, Oct. 21.—where are about 55,000 tons of ore on the Norrie's stockpiles, and hardly one-tenth of that amount in stock at all the other Gogebic mines together. The Norrie has the same old difficulty in getting enough cars, so that the stockpiles are growing a little every week. However, considering that the Norrie has already sent out over 725,000 tons this year, and that the mine had 250,000 tons in stock when the season opened, the showing is not at all discreditable.

At the Colby work is being pushed forward on six new working shafts, and the partisans of Bessemer's big ore producer assert positively that they will have one mine two miles in length next year that will send out more ore than the Norrie or any other Lake Superior mine. And they are not far wrong. Recent discoveries on the Colby property are little short of phenomenal.

Abandoned Probably Dead.

VIRGINIA, Ill., Oct. 21.—A letter received here from Fresno, Cal., tells of the finding of the headless body of a man near the railroad tracks, just south of Fresno. The dead man is believed to be Miller P. Hagenman, who absconded from this town three weeks ago, $20,000 short in his accounts.

The Relatives Armed.

QUINCY, Ill., Oct. 21.—The coroner's inquest over the victims of Saturday's tragedy, Dr. Price and Lillie Booth, resulted in a verdict in accordance with the facts. Excitement was caused in the police court when everybody was searched and it was found that a number of the relatives of Price and Miss Booth were armed. Their weapons were taken from them.

Duck Hunters Drowned.

THE PRESS.

Hallock News: He [Morriam] has shown himself deserving of the trust that was placed in him, and the people of Kittson county will show their appreciation of his services by giving him a good solid majority at the coming election.

Winona Republican: The enactment of the McKinley law arouses no applause in Great Britain. The silence is significant when the warm expression of enthusiastic approval which greeted the passage of the Mills bill by the democratic house in 1888 is recalled.

Mankato Free Press: The question is, where is the democratic party today in Minnesota? It has been swallowed up by the alliance, and there won't be a greasy spot of it left after election.

Long Prairie Leader: Vote for A. J. Whiteman for congress and you will vote for a representative who, in the next congress, will not sell himself body and soul to the Eastern capitalist.

Voters of St. Louis County.
In the interest of clean politics and honor and purity in public affairs, and after over thirty years continuous service in the republican ranks, I am now an independent candidate for clerk of the district court. I have neither time nor money to make personal canvasses of the county to solicit votes. I have stood before the shot and shell of the country's enemies, and bear on my body the evidence of that service in the shape of scars of wounds received, suffering more than death that the nation might live. If you believe that the disabled veteran soldier should be preferred for places of honor and profit than give me your votes. Whatever your decision, I shall not complain, but if defeated, will only think that the utterances so often expressed in party conventions and party platforms, local state and national, were only a string of glittering generalities.

Very respectfully,
G. H. HOLDEN.

A RAILROAD HOLOCAUST.

Trains Meet Each Other in a Tunnel.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY CATASTROPHE

The Usual List of Maimed and Burned; Reports of a Terrible Collision.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 22.—A disastrous collision occurred this morning on the Cincinnati Southern railway in a tunnel just south of Slosson Valley station.

No. 5 leaves Cincinnati at 8 p. m., another leaves Cincinnati an hour earlier. Both these were held at Somerset, Ky., two hours on account of a freight wreck south of that place last night. When the track was clear the Cincinnati train started from Somerset first, and met and passed a north-bound train. Then at a safe distance behind it the fatal No. 5 started out.

Freight No. 22, north-bound, was sidetracked at Slosson Valley, when the first Cincinnati train passed south, the crew of the freight appear to have overlooked the fact that No. 5 was to follow. They started northward and entered the tunnel, which is one-sixth of a mile long. In the most hopeless place that trainmen ever met death, the engines of the two trains dashed into each other, and the cars following jammed into a mass. Then came the added horror of conflagration. Only the bare results have been telegraphed to the officials of the road here. These are that fireman Gridd and Welch, brakeman John E. Montgomery, express messenger Edward Kuffner and a mail agent were killed. Engineer Taylor of the passenger train, and Pilot of the freight train were badly burned. The baggage master was injured. No passengers were killed.

A transfer will be made until the tunnel can be cleared. There were two mail agents on the train, J. T. Gayle and C. F. Deegan, which one of them is killed is not yet known. Ed Kuffner the messenger of the United States Express company, who was killed, was a married man living at Bond Hill near this city.

RAILROAD HORROR.

Alabama Adds Another to the Rapidly Increasing List.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 22.—A west-bound passenger train on the Kansas City, Memphis & Birmingham railroad, which left here at 9 o'clock last night, went out leaving the sleeper and conductor. Some six miles out the engineer began backing into Birmingham. At Thomas Furnace the backing train collided with an outgoing freight. Several passengers in the rear coach were killed and a number wounded.

The wounded are: Mrs. W. F. Wagner and two children, of Greenville, S. C., badly scalded; J. O. Franklin, Nashville, Tenn., dying; George W. Davis, Shell Mound, Tenn., leg broken; other injuries: J. H. Finnet, New Orleans, back hurt; J. A. Taylor, Magnolia, Ark., head injured; W. B. Flanagan, Memphis, W. C. Burton, Cordova, Ala., scalded; J. A. and J. M. Beard, Nauvoo, Ala., internally hurt; E. P. Rose, Lima, Ala., arm broken; Rev. H. G. Smith, Jasper, ribs broken and dangerously hurt; Dr. Sanford, Hot Springs, Ark., slightly injured; A. L. Hill, Birmingham; Hon. H. M. Long, Cordova, Ala.; J. D. Towles, and Walter Towles, Towles, Ala., slightly injured.

Four of five dead are reported to be under the wreck but the names are not yet ascertained. The night was blustering and rainy.

It is now learned that two persons were killed. Their names are S. D. Franklin, drummer of Nashville and John Killian, fireman.

Another One.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 22.—A serious wreck of two passenger trains is reported at the crossing of the Union Pacific and Rock Island just west of Armourdale in this city. The engineer is reported killed and a number of passengers seriously injured.

The Rock Island engine was completely wrecked and the engineer buried under the debris. The fireman jumped and probably saved his life but received severe bruises. The damage is estimated at $50,000.

The following are injured: Pat Cullen, Rock Island engineer, lives in Topeka and has a wife and two children, he will die; John Cuff, Rock Island fireman, fractured jaw and internal injuries; Edward Jackson (colored) of Edwardsville, Kas., both legs broken below knees; S. H. Grayson, Pullman conductor, left ankle sprained and bruised; J. T. Kinney, Chicago, bruised about the back; J. A. Lapshin, Lincoln, Neb., right knee cut; John Driscoll, Omaha, Kas., left leg broken; C. Janerie, Springfield, Ill., special agent of the census, back sprained and bruised.

The injured were taken to the Sisters hospital.

WORSE THAN EVER.

Not Much of a Chance for Any Amicable Settlement.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Today all appearances indicate that chances for an amicable settlement of the baseball trouble are smaller than ever. The independent feeling which existed yesterday between members of various conference committees has been strengthened, and is now a determination to stand by those already outlined by each company. It is admitted by many that the present state of affairs is due to the action of the players in forcing their way into the conference committee of the Players' league.

The question asked by all this morning at the meeting, was whether the National league could confer with the players Ward, Hanlon and Irwin. The conference committee of the National league have said they would not. During the morning the various committees held private conferences, the result suit of which could not be ascertained.

INCREASE EXPRESS RATES.

The Different Companies Stiffen Up Rates but Claim it is a "Return."

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—A meeting of the principal officers of the different express companies took place Monday afternoon in this city and it was decided to increase the tariff on freight, the increase to go into effect Nov. 1. Yesterday the Chicago public that rates are to be advanced to and from all seaboard points and that a meeting of the superintendents of the tariff departments of all the express companies will take place in Chicago, Thursday, Oct. 30, to make arrangements for the coming advance, which will be made on the basis of the rate between New York and Chicago.

This rate is now quoted at $2 per 100 pounds, and by the coming arrangement it is understood it will be increased to $2.50. This will, according to report, be the maximum increase between all points west of Buffalo and Pittsburgh. General Superintendent Hancock said today that the so-called advance in rates was really no advance at all. Rates, he said, were lowered some time ago in a hope of an increase in business, but the increase did the old rates has been made.

A PENNSYLVANIA MYSTERY.

The Physicians baffled by a Strange Case of Alleged Suicide.

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 22.—Mrs. Caroline Settle of New Holland, a small village twelve miles from here, received a box by express from Mount Vernon, Ohio, Sunday on which, above the address, was written the word "suicide." When the lid was removed, Mrs. Settle was horrified to find that it contained the body of her daughter Helen. The woman summoned physicians and asked that a post-mortem examination be held. As the doctors were assisting in removing the body from the box they noticed that the evidences of death were not there. No rigidity was apparent, not a sign of decomposition. The girl was placed in bed and a closer examination made. The hands were found to be warm and a slight flush appeared on the cheeks. Restoratives were applied, but to no avail. These conditions were the same throughout the night and all of yesterday. The physicians are puzzled and wonder how it is possible for a vestige of life to remain after the confinement in the box. The authorities have been notified and are doing their utmost to solve the mystery.

Against the Trust.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Judge Pratt, in the Kings county supreme court today gave a decision in the sugar trust case. On Monday arguments were heard on a motion of the counsel for Duncan Cameron, for the continuance of the temporary injunction against the sugar trust, and also for the appointment of a receiver. The counsel wants the sugar refineries to file an account, a sworn statement of liabilities and assets. On the other side it was asked what Cameron should file a larger bond of indemnity, the present bond being $250.

Judge Pratt decided upon the latter question only. The other points will be decided next week. He directs that the bond be increased from $250 to $2500 and that an approved undertaking of cash be given.

Ironton.

First division; a very large sale is predicted there. The first division of Ironton will be put on the market tomorrow morning—Thursday at 8 o'clock—at the office of C. E. Lovett & Co., in the Ferguson building. They have decided to give priority of choice to purchasers in the order in which they stand or first come first served.

It was learned by a Herald reporter that the company is to grade Grand avenue without cost to the purchasers of lots on that avenue, and that the work will be done as fast as men and teams can do it. This, of course, will materially enhance the value of the property and save street assessments to purchasers.

There is no doubt about the future of Ironton, and every one who is familiar with the history of West Duluth and its wonderful growth, can appreciate the situation. Ironton has two land companies, both working for industries and the great Ironton Steel works is only the beginning and will be followed by factories of all kinds in the near future. The fact that Grand and Commonwealth avenues both extend through this division and that none of the lots are more than two blocks from either avenue makes it the choicest property that can ever be offered at Ironton. The terms are one third down and balance in one and two years.

GRIFFITHS MARSHALL GRAIN CO. GOES.

Lien Law Declared Constitutional; A. O. U. W. Northwestern League; Telegraph News.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 22.—[Special to The Herald.]—The Griffiths Marshall Grain company, Minneapolis and Duluth grain dealers, are reported to be in a bad way financially.

It was reported late yesterday afternoon that the company had made an assignment to A. J. Sawyer. George H. Dodge, the manager of the company in Minneapolis, says he is not prepared to make a statement as yet. He could not do so with justice to himself, as affairs were in such a condition that he did not know the course he would take in the matter. This much he would say, however, that there had been no assignment nor would there be, and that no others outside of his own company were in any way concerned.

The Griffiths Marshall Grain Commission company failed several years ago, with liabilities of $200,000 or more. The company effected a settlement on the basis of forty cents on the dollar. Afterward it was learned that the assets did not warrant a 40 per cent settlement, for they were not more than 20 per cent of the liabilities. The company resumed business, and early in the present year Mr. Dodge bought out the interests of James Marshall, Charles S. Hulbert and other members. He has been doing a straight buy-and-sell grain business since, and not a commission or consignment business.

He was somewhat handicapped, so it is said, by the troubles of the old concern, and it is claimed he paid a number of the old claims in order to get them out of the way, although he was not legally required to do so. Mr. Dodge has made no assignment. He is closing up his business. His action to sustain his credit is spoken of very highly. He was not at his office this morning, and a statement from him could not be procured. A. J. Sawyer & Co. have taken all the wheat consigned to him, and are disposing of it as rapidly as possible. He will close his office soon.

Tired of School.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Oct. 22.—Two sons of ex-Mayor Henry Davis, a wealthy lumberman, boys of 11 and 9 years, ran away from home yesterday because they were tired of going to school. They hired out to a man in the suburbs and last night secured a boat, stocked it for a long voyage, and started it down the Chippewa river, shooting the dangerous rapids below town and narrowly escaping death. Meantime the county side was being secured for their searching parties sent out by their terrified mother. They were finally brought ashore at Portersville and sent home on the cars today.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Oct. 22.—United Workmen from Chippewa Falls, Menomonie, Ashland and various points in northern Wisconsin poured into town today and were received by the local lodges with bands at the depot. This afternoon a convention will be held to organize for northern Wisconsin.

The Lien Law Constitutional.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 22.—[Special to The Herald.]—Judges Lochren and Young gave their decision yesterday afternoon in regard to the constitutionality of the lien law as disputed by Judge Daniel Fish. The decision was that the law is constitutional inasmuch as the cases in issue are concerned. The matter was taken up in the district court was but a preliminary step in the matter, and it will go to the supreme court at once for a final decision in the matter.

License in Yankton.

YANKTON, S. S., Oct. 22.—On the strength of bench decisions in Iowa and Kansas declaring inoperative the prohibitory laws in force previous to the supreme court decision regarding the sale of liquor in original packages, dealers in unbroken packages will at once recommence the sale of the same in Yankton. It is probable the city council will pass the ordinance licensing such establishments.

THE TORIES JUBILANT.

Gladstonians Probably Bitten by Retreat of the Irish Leaders.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—It is ten chances to one that the Gladstonians will be defeated at the election in progress at Eccles today. Up to a week ago they were confident of winning the seat on the Irish issue. But the sudden flight of Dillon and O'Brien has changed the aspect.

Eccles is essentially a mining constituency and the sturdy horny-handed colliers hate cowards. They regard the flight of the two Irish leaders as a retreat in the face of the enemy at a critical period, and the Gladstonians orators have not been able to convince them that O'Brien and Dillon did right by running instead of remaining, and by their imprisonment, add additional ammunition to the present campaign against the atrocities and diabolism of the Balfour policy. The eight hour question, which two weeks ago was paramount in the local campaign, has been entirely lost sight of.

The Fenian Brotherhood Unanimously Abolishes Its Secret Oath.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The biennial convention of the Fenian brotherhood was brought to a close last night. The session had lasted three days. By far the most important action was the unanimous endorsement of a recommendation abolishing the secret oath of the organization. Hereafter all the transactions of the Brotherhood will be open, and the public will be free to attend all meetings.

The following council was elected: George Smith, chairman; Capt. Driscoll, John Dowling, Francis Rea, B. O'Hare, Thomas Sampson, E. Whalen, James Barrett and Roderick J. Ryan. John Murphy was re-elected treasurer.

Speaker Reed at Peoria.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 22.—Speaker Reed passed through the city this morning en route to Minneapolis. The professor had just returned from an inspection of the Mallman mine and new iron properties around Ely and Tower. "I have been up to the Vermilion and Mesabi ranges, gathering material for my annual report, which will be issued in January," answered Professor Winchell to the query put by a Herald reporter. "With this report," he continued, "a map will be given, showing all the recent developments in the mineral regions of Minnesota. It will also show the general extent, the locations and formations of the ranges in northern Minnesota. The map will show and in the report will attempt to prove, that the ore formations about Gun Flint lake and the extreme northeastern Minnesota and Port Arthur regions are but continuations of the range.

"The ore of the Gun Flint lake district is of the non-titanic magnetic type. In the north Minnesota region we have deposits that are identical with those of the Gogebic and Marquette ranges on the south shore. The Mesabi range bears reciprocal relations to the Gogebic range, and at the Mallman mine is found the Gogebic rocks. Whether the range will prove to yield such great quantities of ore as the Gogebic it is impossible to say, but there is every indication that such will be the case. There is a grand showing of ore at the Mallman. And I refer to the Mallman only because its development is at present in a more advanced state than that of any other Mesabi mining property, East or West. Indications point to a magnificent piece of property, and the improvements go to show that a large body of ore has been found. There are many other properties on the same range that promise just as well.

"I also visited those of the deposits of the Ely and Tower districts that are more recently discovered and opened, and I am confident that they will prove to be of great value."

How One Division is to be Given to Purchase the Land.

The Ironton Land company tells of its plans for putting the Second division on the market as follows:

"Our sale will open at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, at 214 Chamber of Commerce. During the day up to 3 p. m. all persons wishing to buy can in person or by agent deposit in a box his or her application on a printed slip provided for that purpose. Then on Friday morning commencing at 9 o'clock the names will be called according to the number, commencing with No. 1 who will have first choice, No. 2 next and so on until all have selected or all lots offered are taken. Any person not present when his number is called will be placed at the foot of the list. If present and yet make no selection and payment of earnest money when called, his application will be rejected at this sale.

"Our terms of sale are liberal. On Grand and Commonwealth avenues they will be one-third down; one-third in one year and one-third in two years, or one-third down, one-sixth in six months and balance in three years.

"Other property, one-third down, one-third in one year and one-third in two years, or one-third down, one-sixth in six months and one-half in three years, or one-fourth down, one-fourth in six months and one-half in three years.

"Interest on all deferred payments at 8 per cent, purchaser to have his choice of above terms.

"Parties making selections of Grand or Commonwealth avenue lots, as their numbers are called, can at that time select other lots which are on sale, not on said avenues, if they see fit. Receipts given by the company for earnest money will give purchaser thirty days to close or forfeit his payment, as he may elect. If on or before Nov. 1, 1890, any property purchased is found to be in a ravine, seriously affecting its value, the deal will be cancelled and earnest money refunded or applied upon new purchase, at purchaser's option. Grand avenue is to be graded and bridged by the Ironton Land company to take the place of the county road, which will be vacated.

MATERIAL FOR HIS ANNUAL REPORT.

Which Will Contain Also a Valuable and Much Needed Map of the Ranges.

Prof. N. H. Winchell, state geologist, passed through the city this morning en route to Minneapolis. The professor had just returned from an inspection of the Mallman mine and new iron properties around Ely and Tower.

"I have been up to the Vermilion and Mesabi ranges, gathering material for my annual report, which will be issued in January," answered Professor Winchell to the query put by a Herald reporter. "With this report," he continued, "a map will be given, showing all the recent developments in the mineral regions of Minnesota. "I also visited those of the deposits of the Ely and Tower districts that are more recently discovered and opened, and I must say that, though I felt myself fully acquainted with the district, I was astonished at their magnitude and value. The future of that country is great. Much ore has been discovered, but the future will bring to light bodies of iron as extensive as those already being worked.

The iron fields of northern Minnesota," continued the state geologist, warning to his subject, are the greatest on the globe. I believe them larger and better than those of the Marquette or Gogebic ranges, for here we have so many ranges, all tremendous, in fact the whole northern part of a great state, above Duluth, appears to be masses of iron ore of unknown depth and richness."

ON A TRIP.

A Hundred or More Duluthians Take a Day off at Grand Rapids and La Prairie.

The long-looked-for Chamber of Commerce excursion to the end of track on the Duluth & Winnipeg railway took place today. A brand new train of the Duluth & Winnipeg road was in waiting at the station, and at 8 o'clock it pulled out with a large party filling the two fine coaches. Those who went were expecting a splendid time, and the weather and indications were certainly all in their favor.

CHURCHES AND SECRET ORDERS.

Universalists, Unitarians and Seventh Day Baptists, Masons and Odd Fellows in Session.

Tomorrow begins the fourth annual session of the Minnesota Unitarian conference which is to be held at Duluth, and it will call together a number of noted men of the Unitarian church.

Exercises are opened by a sermon at 8 p. m. by Rev. H. M. Simmons of Minneapolis. On Friday at 2 p. m. the regular program begins and is carried out as follows: Devotional, half hour; business; discussion on "Method in Church Life," of which the following are papers: "Teaching the Fundamentals of Religion," by Rev. C. F. Niles, West Superior; "Making Effective the Unusual Power of the Parish," by Rev. Eliza T. Wilkes, Luverne; "Guiding the Social Activities," by Rev. W. F. Greenman, Winona; "Managing Church Finances," by Rev. J. R. Ellinger, Chicago. This will be followed by a supper and sociable, under the auspices of the ladies of the parish. At 8 o'clock there will be a meeting in the O. J. room, at which the principal address will be by Rev. Minot J. Savage of Boston, to be followed by five minute addresses by Rev. S. M. Crothers, Rev. Kristopher Janson, Rev. T. B. Forbush. On Saturday the convention will open at 9 o'clock with devotion, followed at 9:30 by a discussion on "Our Missionary Outlook and Opportunity," as follows: Among the Norwegians, by Rev. Kristopher Janson, St. Paul; among the Swedes, by Rev. Axel Lundberg, St. Paul; in Minnesota, by Rev. S. M. Crothers, St. Paul; in Wisconsin, by Rev. J. H. Crocker, Madison; in the Northwest, by Rev. T. B. Forbush and J. R. Ellinger, Chicago, and in the wide world, by Rev. Grindall Reynolds, Boston.

On Sunday there will be preaching services as follows: 10:45 a. m.—First church, by Rev. Grindall Reynolds, Boston; at 11 a. m.—City hall, West Duluth, by Rev. Eliza T. Wilkes, Luverne; at 11 a. m.—West Superior, at hall, by Rev. J. H. Crocker, Madison, and at 8 p. m. a platform meeting on the Liberal church; with discussions as follows: What is its reason for being, by Rev. H. Simmons; what does it seek to accomplish, by Rev. J. H. Crocker; what does it demand of its members, by Rev. Eliza T. Wilkes; what does it give to the world, by Rev. Grindall Reynolds.

The W. C. T. U. met yesterday afternoon with a good attendance. Members from the unions of Lakeside and Endicott were present, some of whom were delegates to the state convention. There was also one delegate from the Y. W. C. T. U. of Duluth. Each gave a very interesting report of what she brought home from the convention, and all seemed to have been encouraged by the past year's progress and inspired with greater zeal for the next. Details of work for the future were arranged, and it much is not accomplished it will not be for lack of enthusiasm or earnest, systematic effort on the part of the ladies.

A Grand Missionary Rally. Yesterday afternoon the missionary meeting which was held in the Congregational church, a number of ladies representing the different churches of Duluth, met and arranged for a missionary rally from Superior, West Superior, Oneota, Endicott—all the towns round about—to be held here. It will probably be a two-day's meeting beginning Friday, Nov. 14.

THE UNIVERSALISTS.

Several Societies of That Church Now in Session.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 22.—A church congress of the Universalists of the United States opened this morning in the First Universalist church. The congress has not been called for ecclesiastical but for the discussion of important questions relating to religion, morals and education. At this morning's session a paper on the "Christ and Creation" was read by Rev. J. C. Adams, one on "Christianity in the First and the Nineteenth Centuries," by Rev. Augustus Chapin, and one on the "Relation of Conscience and Immortality," by the Rev. Sophie Gibbs.

The twenty-first annual convention of the Woman's Centenary association of the Universalist church, and the annual convention of the Young People's Christian union of the same church is also in session in this city.

Unitarians in Chicago. CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The convention of Unitarians of the West, opened last evening in Unity church, the sermon being preached by the Rev. M. J. Savage of Boston. Today's session is being devoted to an effort to form an advisory missionary board which practically means an attempt to reconcile the Western Unitarian association and the Western Unitarian conference.

Western Odd Fellows. PUEBLO, Col., Oct. 22.—The twenty-third annual session of the grand lodge of American Odd Fellows, the seventeenth annual session of the Grand Encampment and the second annual session of the Patriarchs Militant, opened here yesterday with an address by Mayor Jenkell. This was followed by a secret session of the grand lodge. Last night the new Odd Fellows hall was dedicated with imposing ceremonies. The secret sessions of the grand lodge were resumed this morning.

A Masonic Order. MONTPELIER, Vt., Oct. 22.—A special celebration in honor of the birth of the Prophet Moosil-en-Habi opened this morning under the auspices of Mount Sinai Temple of the Mystic Shrine of the Masonic fraternity. This is the order of Masonry founded by the late John T. Raymond, the eminent comedian. Prominent Sons of the Desert and Zikers are present, and this afternoon the camel-tenders and other faithful officers of the order will traverse the burning sands and conduct a large number of weary pilgrims to the waving palms and cool shadows of the mystic temple.

Denominational Convention. CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Nearly 300 Seventh-Day Baptists assembled this morning in Oakwood boulevard church. At this afternoon's session a report will be presented that the denomination commenced with the formation of a church of seven members at Newport, R. I., on Christmas day of 1871. Today it is organized in nearly every state in the Union. They differ from the regular Baptists in keeping the seventh day holy instead of the first.

IT IS A FIRETRAP.

The White House Looked Upon as a Tinder Box by the Firemen.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Considerable anxiety has been caused of late by the possible danger of fire to the White House from the placing of electric light wires throughout the building. The recent renovations and repairs have disarranged more than ever the tinder-like condition of the entire structure. There is not a joist or timber comprising a vital point in the structure which is not half rotten and decayed and highly inflammable. The space between the ceilings of the rooms and the floors above are filled with half decayed timbers and a stratum of fine dust, which would act like a train of powder. Between the ceilings of the upper floor and the roof of the house is a space three feet high, something like an attic, where the joists and timbers are exposed, and being very difficult of access a fire could get a start here sufficient to make the destruction of the building a certainty.

Workmen have about completed the placing in position of the wires which will furnish electric lights to the mansion. Each wire has been insulated with rubber. Not a naked wire will be strung, and extraordinary precaution has been exercised that no wire should cross another; but even then a fire is not out of the range of possibilities where an electric wire comes in proximity to inflammable matter. A fire-alarm box was recently placed just inside the main door at the entrance, where there is a man stationed night and day. There are also six automatic fire-alarm boxes placed at different places throughout the building.

Chief Parrish has taken the foreman of each engine company all over the house to acquaint him with the means of exit. The nearest fire engine can arrive upon the scene within a minute and a half, and four steamers can have as many streams of water on the building within seven minutes. The hook and ladder company has orders to hoist its ladders to the second story of the building at the northwest corner, which would be the point where the inmates would appear at the windows in case egress were cut off by the stairway.

Secretary Winslow Kicks.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Secretary Winslow, in relation to World's fair matters, states that of $1,500,000 appropriated, $400,000 must be used in the construction of the government building, leaving $1,100,000 for other expenses. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1891, there is appropriated $200,000 for the expenses of the commission. The government board has estimated that it will need $50,000, leaving $150,000 for the use of the commission. Most of this has been already used, and he reluctantly approves the salaries established by the commission.

Leahy in Limbo.

ASHLAND, Wis., Oct. 22.—Grave charges have been preferred by the Indians on the Lac du Flambeau reservation, against M. A. Leahy, agent in charge of the Lac du Flambeau agency. The chiefs claim that Leahy is guilty of substituting names of Indians entitled to allotment of lands in place of those reported by the Indians and they therefore ask that all lands be restored to the rightful owners.

ST. CLOUD, Oct. 20.—At the alliance senatorial convention yesterday J. L. Robbins of Sauk Center, received the nomination by acclamation. On an informal ballot previously taken Charley Gilman received seventeen of the thirty-nine votes cast.

The Axis of the Continent.

Boston is sometimes called the "hub of the universe," and has considerable claim, in an intellectual way. The Rocky mountains are alluded to as the "backbone of the continent"—and they are certainly rugged and knobby enough to constitute a formidable and reliable vertebral column. (No wonder Uncle Sam is so independent with such a backbone.) If these are appropriate appellations, then we may rightly call the Mississippi valley the axis of North America. In its borders are the bulk of the people—it is the food storehouse of the whole country—and the remainder of the country revolves about it, dependent upon it for food, for the great working force, for the political power. To reach any portion of this valley above St. Louis, "The Burlington" is the natural, the best, the quickest route for the traveler, every city in the section being on or near its lines. For tickets, time table, rates and information, call on any agent of "The Burlington," or connecting lines, or write to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

A very notable address has just been made to the Spanish government by the chamber of commerce of Cuba, pressing the call for the entire reconstruction of Spanish revenue legislation for Cuba, and demanding as a measure vital to colonial interests, the most favorable reciprocal legislation in accord with the United States. It is clearly recognized that the greatest market for Cuban goods is offered by the nation whose ports lie "at the very door of Cuba." It unhesitatingly affirms that the United States are today the regulators of the economical market, just as England is of the money market.

The lawmakers of the United States, it further says, know perfectly well that the people whom they represent have an abundance of the necessities of life. They know that by imposing heavy duties upon the manufactured goods of Europe they favor the development of their own industries, compel the well-to-do classes to pay its indirect taxes, and that they have no cause to fear European reprisals, because such reprisals would have to apply to cereals, meat protection, etc., which are the very articles of those nations absolutely required. The United States care but little for reciprocity with Europe, for they know that Europe has need of them; and they will grant it or refuse it as may suit their own interests; they care a great deal, however, for reciprocity with the nations of America, and are seeking to establish it. They want goods of low grade for their refineries; also coffee, hides and timber, and they think they can get them by reciprocity. This is so, and the republican move for reciprocity, pressed by James G. Blaine will open the foreign market most certainly available to us, which home legislation, without regard to foreign, carried even to the free trade point, would still leave barred.

FOR MARKET GARDENS.

A home subject of importance and interest to everybody was brought by Judge Stearns before the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. The demand for market garden truck here is growing every day. It is difficult even now for dealers to keep pace with the call for fresh vegetables and those that are to be had go off at big prices. Anybody who will go in the market garden business here intelligently and with sufficient means will be assured of a ready market for all he can raise and exceptional profit. Duluth is not the center of a farming district, but the farms in the vicinity yield excellent crops of one kind or another, and for potatoes in particular, the yield about here and on the northern railroad lines is unsurpassed anywhere. The potatoes recently shipped from La Prairie to Baltimore to the order of President Baker of the North Star Construction company were reported to be the finest ever seen in that city, and fancy prices can unquestionably be got for such a crop.

Along the river line, the lake shore and inland, there are admirable plots of land for market gardening, and the show ready made of fruits and vegetables by individual raisers for home use chiefly is often remarkably fine, and shows what could be done by expert artificial forcing. For years after Winnipeg was a city, it was supposed without trial that the season was too short or the climate too severe for successful gardening, but this notion has been completely exploded by the remarkable gardens which are now yielding richly in the suburbs of the city. There is no kind of vegetable commonly known to our Northern market, which the gardeners of Winnipeg are not now raising at a profit, and at a very small expense comparatively for forcing under glass, tomatoes, melons and other products of the warm temperate zone are ripened early and luxuriantly. What Winnipeg is doing, Duluth can certainly do and in picked localities the soil and exposure are much better for the lighter vegetables and fruits. We are pleased to see that the Chamber of Commerce is about to press this matter by active effort, and the city will certainly applaud and appreciate all the good work it does in this direction.

"The democrats cannot expect any comfort from Minnesota at least for a long time to come." So says a frank Minneapolis democrat in response to a private inquiry from a member of the democratic congressional committee. Every day as the object and effect of the new tariff legislation are becoming more clearly understood, republican prospects are growing brighter and the interest of Minnesota in the certain industrial developments of the state under its protection is more vividly realized. The campaign of abuse is now being exploded on every republican stump.

A careless reader who writes to another newspaper, complains that The Herald did not keep its promise of publishing the whole tariff. The Herald made no such promise, for the sufficient reason that it cannot afford to give every column in its issue to such a publication. It did print what it promised, "the changes of the tariff on articles of domestic use," and if any were omitted it was because the technical descriptions could not be concisely and exactly stated for the ordinary public information. It has not the faintest desire to suppress or garble the truth, and will at any time furnish any particular information as to duties that is called for.

Nobody pretends that the main body of republican legislation in congress has not been approved by the main body of republicans. Fair elections and majority rule for which the republican party has been contending and now stands for are the very cornerstones of any genuine government by the people, the only conditions under which this republic or any republic can endure in honor or in essence. No republican who is a republican has any grudge to speak of against his party representatives except for their action on the tariff. Is it not fair, is it not decent, is it not republican to reserve this grudge until it can be seen by actual trial whether the party's representatives have shrewdly and wisely legislated or not? Who will be the republican to condemn republicans, who have done what they thought was for the best interests of their country, without a trial. If they are mistaken in their anticipations, they will be the first to recognize and repair their mistake, for, in spite of all the abuse that has been slung at them, who can fairly doubt that the main body of them at least was honestly anxious to do their best for their constituents and their country. Stand for fair play. Give the new tariff a trial. And remember that the tariff is now bound to have this trial whether you do justice to your representatives or not.

SEEN AND HEARD.

The board of managers of the Metropolitan Art museum of New York has always been a target against which Life has shot its arrows in vain, for the board absolutely refused to open the museum on Sundays. In its last issue Life says: "This extract from a Duluth daily paper may send a shiver down the iron-clad spine of the Metropolitan museum, but it is well to be informed of some of the sin that surrounds us." It then quotes an extract from a Duluth paper on the Sunday closing question, and says: "What will most surprise our own dear trustees is that the Duluth sinners are not only dead to all shame in the matter but feel hurt at being accused of even wishing to close their building on Sunday. How people do differ! While the Duluth library is filled with eager readers, gratifying a not unseemly thirst for knowledge and culture, the New York museum will be barred and bolted against such readers."

It gives a newspaper man a pleasant sensation to see the children of his pen, even such ephemeral children as special newspaper articles quoted, whether credited or not. It does him particular good to see them used to his own rival papers. A few weeks ago The Herald published an interview with O. W. Saunders on the practical side of the government's fool expedition to look up stolen timber in the Rausk lake country. It gave a good many interesting facts and so was clipped and used in a Washington, D. C. paper. From there it was telegraphed back to Minnesota and finally, a week ago, made its way into a Duluth daily as a Washington dispatch. A Duluth letter on lines to The New York Sun, which appeared in The Herald two weeks ago credited to The Sun, was clipped from this paper in The Port Arthur Sentinel and was clipped from that paper, and today formed the leading editorial of The Duluth News.

But perhaps the most unaccountable instance of this kind of work came to my knowledge a few weeks ago. I noticed in the Vermillion Journal a long interview with a noted Milwaukee chemist and mineralogist expert credited to the Two Hatches Iron Port. I clipped it and filed it away for reference, but noticed later that it had strangely familiar earmarks. On careful reading I found the whole article to be one I had written and printed in The Herald three years ago after an interview with Professor Eschweiler of Milwaukee. Now where and how did the Iron Port get hold of that? And why did it steal it, as it must have done?

This kind of thing happens, however, almost daily in the life of newspaper men. No credit is given and no credit is expected. The writer on a daily paper has no individuality—it is swallowed in the great maw of his journal, and matter that they have worked hard to get they see without a thought of the justice of it used by another newspaper as their own sharpest competitors. I claim that newspaper men far from being "cheeky" are the most modest, mild mannered and self-sacrificing individuals that can be found in the daily walks of life.

The socialists of Chicago are very bitterly criticizing Mrs. Leslie for making the statement that anarchists of the Haymarket type should be shot down like dogs. They, of course, go into the theme and make an argument of the equality of all, the even distribution of wealth, etc., etc., etc. Mrs. Woodman, a woman of socialistic tendencies, says that Mrs. Leslie shows herself to be utterly heartless when she makes such a statement, but it is a remarkable fact that there are any number of people who hold these "heartless" views. Mrs. Leslie shows an antipathy to untold foreigners and to this preference Mrs. Woodman objects, although titled foreigners usually possess the virtue of physical cleanliness, no matter what their morals may be, in this respect differing from the anarchists.

THEIR INNERMOST THOUGHTS.

A book agent: Book agents as a general thing steer clear of such a place as a public library. You might think that because we can sell books there we'd go there first, but a good many subscription books are not allowed sale in public libraries until the interest has worn off. W. H. Burke, of the infant newspaper: There are too many newspapers in Duluth.

STATE PRESS.

Becker County Blade: It is rather unfortunate for the success of the calamity orator of the democratic party that at the very time when he is exploring the depression and misery of the people that the farmer is getting better prices for everything he has to sell than he has for some years, and that there is a prevalent hopefulness of better times ahead for the country at large.

Little Falls Transcript: The democratic and Farmers alliance combined couldn't defeat Comstock two years ago and now that they are divided, each having candidates in the field, claims that he will be beaten are certainly very ridiculous.

Mankato Free Press: Wilson says, and truly, that the country is growing more prosperous and better every year, and in his speech pointed to the fact that the farmer buys his reaper now for one-half what he formerly paid. And this under republican administration. There seems no good reason for changing the administration when things are moving on so satisfactorily.

Minneapolis Tribune: Candidate Owen has made himself very popular during his brief campaign—with the democratic bosses. "He talks like a democrat," is the way he is reported in The St. Paul Globe. Considering the business in which he is at present engaged, how could he talk otherwise? Republican alliance men are rapidly tumbling to Mr. Owen's little game.

TEMPLE OPERA HOUSE

Wednesday Eve. Oct. 22

The Eminent Journalist and Publisher,

PRETTY MRS. LESLIE.

She Comes to Duluth Today to Give Her Lecture.

CHATS ON THE LECTURE AND HERSELF.

Her First Experience on the Platform;
How She Keeps Well;
Joaquin Miller's Poem.

"Now," said the lady, as she sat in her hotel parlor this afternoon, "I hope The Herald isn't going to print any illustration of me—any cut as we newspaper people call them—for I feel as if I want to cut every newspaper that has put in my pictures, from New York to St. Paul."

A number of people were attracted to the Union depot by Mrs. Leslie's coming. As she alighted heads bent forward and eyes were turned in curiosity to see the one whose name is known all over the country as a "wonderful woman." Mrs. Leslie is of medium height, her well fitting black traveling dress, outlining a figure slightly more matronly than her pictures speak of. Her face is soft in outline, showing a sympathetic, yet executive, nature, and physiognomists would say that her low, broad forehead, from which the auburn hair waves back, gave evidence of unusual mental powers.

She arrived in town this afternoon, and somehow or other—pleasantly and apropos of nothing, as it were—explained a few of the original sources of that quantity now generally known in American circles as "The Four Hundred," though alluded to in broader terms as "The Upper Ten Thousand" abroad. She began back with that prize polygamist, King Henry the Eighth, who was the first English king to have any time to devote to society; and from him and his contemporaries, down to the present venerable Prince of Wales, Mrs. Leslie traced out the higher lights of society at home and abroad. She skimmed over the historical lives of her chroniclers with the happy license of a woman who knows that such things only harrow the souls of men, and in her talk this afternoon, with her Herald visitor she did not harrow her listener by a single date.

If her words are to be believed, as a lecturer she was made, not born. Circumstances happened around which helped to beguile her to the platform, but it required many wiles of beguilement.

"I remember," said she, "my first appearance before a public audience, and I guess I am getting the reputation of telling this story everywhere. It was a charity affair, gotten up on behalf of the St. Andrews society coffee stands, where the newboys get meals at a cent apiece. I was asked to recite. I was put near the end of the program, and as others gave their selections one by one I felt my courage leak out. My turn came. I was led on the platform. For a moment I felt all right; then all of a sudden I felt my knees giving way. I crawled over to the piano and leaned against it. The audience thought I was striking a pose. As I supported myself there I felt my breath coming back to me, but I had forgotten all about the poem, even the name. I wanted to run away, but my knees were too weak. Eventually, as my voice returned I decided to confide my troubles to the audience. They thought it was a pure joke and applauded. I told them I could not let go the piano and they simply roared. Finally my lost memory came back, my knees braced up and I delivered my piece without a break."

"As to my lecture? Well I had intended to come West, to write a series of syndicate letters. My intentions got into the papers and the advertising they got thereby came the offer that I should combine lecturing with writing. The moment I decided to speak in public I set about forming my lecture and wrote it out in a way that delighted my most critical soul."

"Thearle, my manager, came to New York and I read it to him full of confidence. At the close I asked him what he thought of it."

"'Admirable!' he exclaimed 'as an essay, but absolutely useless as a lecture!'"

"Oh, it was a blow at my vanity, but I just began all over again and rewrote it three times before he was quite satisfied."

"As I told you, it is more gossip than statistical with lots of stories about the Prince of Wales, for instance, and our own leaders, so to speak. There are, too, lots of anecdotes and fashion notes and—er—"

"Any scandals?"

"M—m—m. Well, you know there's always a little bit of scandal in society. And then I'm going to wind up with a poem that Joaquin Miller has written for me, and, though it is not about society, I think it will take very well."

And then she began to explain about that poem—which is short by the way—and has never been published. It is a pretty little piece describing the discovery of America by Columbus and wonderfully told, too, by the poet of the Sierras. In its verses are related the struggle between the discoverer and his men, their constant prayer for him to return, his unbending resolution to keep on. Then in the conclusion comes his victory, his conquest, the gleam of land beyond. His last lines run:

Then, pale and worn, he kept his deck
And peered through darkness
All that night, of all dark nights;
And then, a splendor—a light! a light! a light!
It grew, a starlit flag unfurled,
It grew to be time's burst of dawn.
He gained a world—he gazed that world
His grandest lesson—oh and on!

Mrs. Leslie is a charming conversationalist. She can chat with you most entertainingly on any topic you choose. "To my careful, systematic habits of life," she continued, in the conversation, "I attribute my ability to carry on the work which has come to my hand to do. Without this systematic mode of life I never could have accomplished what I have. I am very temperate in my habits, I drink neither tea nor coffee, and I rarely drink wine. The first thing when I arise I take a cold bath, then the flesh brush, then dumb bell exercises, which I have never given up since I began it when I was a little girl. Then I eat my breakfast—not a breakfast beginning with an orange and ending with a pancake—but a good solid breakfast with a piece of meat—my best meal of the day. Then I am ready for work. I never had a back ache in my life, I never had the headache nor the toothache. I take plenty of sleep and take care of myself. "You ask me what I think of woman's work in the world. Well, I think that woman is to constantly grow in influence in almost all lines of the world's work. Now, in the newspaper field the women are doing fine work. I think women make the best interviewers. They seem to know how to ask questions more happily than men, and there is more tact and vivacity about them. I tell you the women are going to crowd you men more and more."

"And your new work; do you like it?"
"Oh, I am fascinated with it. And then the people have been so kind to me, and the papers, too."

CANADIAN WHEAT.

Mr. Kerr says the Canadian Pacific will move 12,000,000 bushels.

Robert Kerr, general freight and passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific, was down from Winnipeg yesterday. He estimates that his company will move about 12,000,000 bushels of wheat from the country west of Winnipeg. Last year the company moved 7,000,000 bushels.

The country, he says, is slowly being peopled by a desirable class of farmers, who come principally from across the water. Thousands have already located along the line, but there is such a great stretch of country to be inhabited that it will take many years to have it peopled as the company would like. The farming country extends west from Winnipeg to the foot of the Rockies, a distance of 1000 miles, and about 400 miles north from the boundary. A large foreign immigration is expected by the company early in the spring.

The Best Man in the World.

Well, if not positively the best, one of the wisest is he who checks disease at the start in his own system. In preserving or restoring the heaven-granted gift of health, he deserves profound consideration. His example is worthy to be imitated. The complaints which afflict us are largely attributable to a want of tone in the stomach, either inherent or inflicted by ourselves upon that much abused repository of the food that should nourish us. What is its requirement so good, if we rely upon experience and testimony, as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Unmedicated stimulants won't do. Regulation, as well as invigoration of the digestive viscera, is not to be effected by these. Through the agency of the stomachic named, strength of the entire system is retrenched—dyspepsia and biliousness overcome. Malarial, kidney, bladder and rheumatic complaints are eradicated by this salutary reformer of ill health.

A BEAUTIFUL SHIP.

The Magnificent New Monarch of the Beatty Line.

FOR THE FINEST RUNNING TO DULUTH.

Destined to be the Popular Passenger Ship of the Upper Lakes.

The magnificent new steamer Monarch, of the Sarnia line, the companion to the United Empire arrived in Duluth this morning on her maiden trip. The appointments are complete in every respect and her machinery of the latest improved design.

Her dimensions are 260 feet length over all, by 36 feet beam, and her carrying capacity is 1500 tons with 15 feet draft. The engine, which was built by Kerr Bros. of Walkerville, Ont., is triple expansion, the cylinders being 21, 33 and 54 inches in diameter, with a 42-inch stroke. On her first trip, which was enjoyed by about thirty passengers, she made an average speed of thirteen miles an hour. She was built, however, for a speed of fourteen miles and that rate can easily be attained after the machinery gets down to business. This will make her the fastest passenger boat running into Duluth harbor.

The smoking room and washroom for the gentlemen as well as the offices for the captain and purser are on the main deck.

The cabin is finished in white and gold, and will be lighted by electricity. There are sixty-two staterooms and a bathroom. Doors between each alternate stateroom can be thrown open, making it pleasant for family parties. Each stateroom has a double lower and single upper berth, giving accommodations for nearly 200 passengers.

In the center of the cabin is the pantry and steam table, the kitchen being on the main deck below. Forward of the pantry is the dining room, there being twelve tables with room for ten people at each. The ice box is a model one and is large enough to hold several tons of viands. There are five separate holds, the hoisting machinery being operated by pony engines.

The officers of the Monarch are as follows: E. Robertson, captain; P. Telfer, first mate; J. Morrell, second mate; S. A. Jenkin, purser; George Morrison, steward and James H. Brown, chief engineer. Captain Robertson is very well known in Duluth, having been for years the genial and capable master of the United Empire, which owing in great part to his past exertions, has been the favorite passenger ship out of Duluth. It is a high but entirely deserved compliment to Captain Robertson that he has been put in charge of this new and elegant ship. The same care and happy choice in selecting other officials that has been evinced in the naming of the Empire, and is a little further shown, and the Monarch has a list of officers as fine as silk.

A comparison can but be drawn between this ship and her companion, the Empire. They are much alike in appearance, painted alike and built on much the same substantial and beautiful lines. The stack of the Monarch is a trifle smaller than that of the Empire, and is a little further astern. The low steel sustaining arch visible amidships on the upper deck of the Empire is in the Monarch clear out of the way below decks thus entirely obliterating one objectionable feature. The Monarch will get away some time tonight with a part of a cargo of merchandise, finishing up with wheat at Port Arthur.

EXCITEMENT PREDICTED.

Inquiries by the Hundred for Lots in the New Addition.

Real estate men are showing much excitement over the sales of New Duluth and Ironton lots. Both offices are constantly the scenes of numerous inquiries and the published lists of prices and the new maps are being sent out by the hundreds.

Everything points to a repetition of the real excitement of 1887, and agents are laying their plans accordingly. It is said that several Duluth brokers have received large orders to buy from out-of-town parties. The Ironton price list is now in the hands of the printers.

OF MATTERS POLITICAL.

Yesterday's Light Registration;
But One More Day.

CANDIDATES CENTER OF ATTRACTION.

An Alliance Meeting Addressed by a Preacher; the State Campaign; Democratic Work.

Although the registration in nearly all of the precincts was light yesterday, the total in most of wards is quite satisfactory. The law requires that judges of election shall leave the poll lists with the city clerk before 10 o'clock a. m. on the day following the day of registration. The judges of the Fourth precinct of the Third ward up to noon had failed to comply with this requirement, and consequently the registration for the first day only is used in the following totals for the different precincts:

First ward, First precinct, 190; Second precinct, 270; Third precinct, 44; total, 504.
Second ward, 301.
Third ward, First precinct, 327; Second precinct, 356; Third precinct, 357; Fourth precinct, 244; total, 1314.
Fourth ward, First precinct, 325; Second precinct, 492; Third precinct, 439; Fourth precinct, 250; total, 1706.
Fifth ward, First precinct, 336; Second precinct, 304; Third precinct, 352; total, 1012.
Sixth ward, First precinct, 246; Second precinct, 324; total, 570.
This makes the total registration for the two days 5007 exclusive of the second day's registration in the precinct named. This is certainly a gratifying state of affairs and with one more day the total ought to reach nearly 8000.

A great many voters seem to be under the impression that if they voted at the election two years ago and have not moved their place of residence since then that their names are now on the poll lists. This is a misapprehension. Those who voted at the last spring elections will have their names transferred to the new poll lists, but to make assurance doubly sure every voter should call at the places of registration and see that his name has been enrolled. There is but one more day for registration and the date is Tuesday, Oct. 28.

The legislative contest will be one of the hottest ever seen in this county. For the senate, F. B. Daugherty has by far the best chance, and under the existing circumstances will have but little trouble in securing his election by a good plurality. H. C. Kendall's reputation as a vote-getter is too well known to need comment, and his election is conceded by a majority of the democrats. O. D. Kinney, the representative of the range, will get a solid vote from that part of the district, and with the republican vote of Duluth and West Duluth, can feel reasonably sure an election. The chances for the election of J. D. Boyd, the remaining republican candidate, appears to many to be better than those of any other candidate. There are probably certain republican votes which Mr. Kendall will not get and others which will not go to Mr. Kinney, but it is figured that Mr. Boyd will secure both factions, and this, with the solid West Duluth vote will insure his election beyond a peradventure.

The republican meeting which was to have been held at Normanna hall last evening was postponed until some evening next week. The speakers were on hand, but owing to the fact that the meeting had not been properly advertised the audience was not very large.

C. P. Maginnis, H. F. Greene, T. T. Hudson, R. C. Brophy and other democratic candidates left yesterday afternoon for the range, where they will attempt to offset the good work done by the republican candidates during the past few days.

Rev. Kristopher Jansen of Minneapolis, addressed a large audience of Scandinavians, in Swedish, at Olson's hall last evening. The speech was like other alliance speeches, full of praise for the self-constituted saviors of our country and no end of abuse for the leaders of the republican and democratic parties and their doctrines, but it pleased his hearers immensely. He will deliver another address this evening, and on Friday will return to religion and deliver a sermon at the meeting at the opera house in the evening.

A Democratic Circular.

A prominent politician from St. Paul who is in Duluth today talks as follows on the situation: "They are having a rattling campaign in the Third congressional district. It is a case of Hall eat Hall. D. S. Hall being the republican candidate and O. M. Hall standing for the democrats. The democrats are basing their plan of campaign upon the McKinley bill. They are running down the bill on arguments replete with sophistries, and are giving out a mixture of the wildest, weirdest equivocations and prevarications that ever was concocted to catch votes.

"The latest democrat move in the Hall district has been the issuance of a circular, one side of the sheet printed in Swedish, the other in Norwegian. The subject matter is the McKinley bill, the following being the substance:

"The McKinley bill is an unrighteous measure, unjust to all but the rich; taxing the people for the necessities of life, while luxuries go free from restraint."

"The circular then gives a list of articles affected by the new tariff, among them being tin plate buttons and the like. In fact, the whole document is a falsification of the true state of affairs and well calculated to deceive those who are not posted on the economic questions of the day. It winds up by saying:

"We, the people (the democratic committee, it should read) at several meetings assembled, advised and directed our representative in congress to work for the best interests of the people by voting against the McKinley bill. Did our congressman, D. S. Hall, do this? No! Then let us keep him at home, where he belongs and send O. M. Hall, who has the best interests of the people at heart, to take his place, where he may, in a measure, help the people to reclaim their lost rights."

"All of which is very good—coming from a democrat. This self same circular is being gotten up in this Fifth district."

A Literary Campaign.

St. Paul, Oct. 22.—"We are conducting a literary campaign this year. We see no necessity for running it on boodle basis. The people of this state are intelligent. It is much better to appeal to their intelligence than to their greed. The democratic organs charge this committee with the use of a great amount of money to win votes. It is a false charge. In my opinion the democratic campaign managers are fully as liberal as their competitors in using money to bolster up their weak points in this campaign. People who live in glass houses, etc."

It was Joel P. Heatwole who uttered this little speech this morning. A reporter had just called his attention to an article in a democratic organ, renewing the charge of boodlism against the republicans. Joel added: "As I have told you two or three times before, this committee has had mighty hard work to raise money enough to conduct the square-toed fight that is being made. I wish we had more. I could find plenty of use for it, and will guarantee that no attempt will be made to purchase votes with it."

It is evident that if any money is being used illegally in the campaign Joel is not cognizant of it. The methods pursued by the committee, under Joel's direction, have been expensive, nevertheless. A large force of clerks have been constantly employed since republican headquarters were opened. Tons of printed matter have been distributed. No state campaign in the past has exceeded the present one in the distribution of campaign literature. It is probable that all this is due to the fact that the republicans are on the defensive because of the new tariff law. The chief aim of the republican leaders now is, as they claim, to educate the masses up to the position the party has assumed upon this question. The greater part of the literature will attract attention. Every point is given a plausible explanation. A great deal of the tariff literature sent out by the republican state central committee came from Washington. It was principally designed for use in the congressional campaign. Capt. Snider and the other Minnesota congressmen are also distributing a good deal of this kind of literature from the congressional headquarters. The democrats are doing very little in this direction. The committee has very few employees at headquarters. Little of any campaign matter is being sent out. The alliance people are doing something in this line, but the republicans are sending out tons where the combined opposition is distributing pounds. Chairman Heatwole is of the opinion that the republican cause will be greatly benefited by the course the committee has been pursuing in this direction.

Excursions for Home-seekers and Others.

O'Donnell, city ticket agent, 428 West Superior street, Spalding hotel, or Great Northern depot, corner Sixth avenue west and Michigan street.

The Way Made Clear.

One of the most serious obstacles to success in the way of man is planted right in the middle of the road to health. How to restore and to maintain a regular habit of body and digestion is too often a source of needless, and, unhappily, of vain inquiry. It is not necessary to inveigh against drastic purgatives. They who have used them continuously know the consequence. A remedy which unites the action of a regulating machine for the bowels with that of a tonic both for the organs, the liver and the stomach, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, sanctioned by the best medical authority, and receiving daily the indorsement of our fellow countrymen. With this effectual, though gentle, laxative at hand, it is possible to defy those changes of temperature productive of constipation, as well as constitutional attacks of biliousness, which beset even people naturally healthy. Malaria, dyspepsia, rheumatism and kidney troubles are remedied and prevented by the Bitters.

Saturday brought a storm-in of Fall Top Coats. The weather was just the sort. The Overcoats were as proper, and a carload of Fall Top Coats alone were sold. IN A PATERNAL STATE.

Excellent Developments of Socialism in Germany.

ISN'T THE EMPEROR'S SCHEME GOOD?

Good Houses for German Workmen at Low Rentals; an Idea of the Emperor.

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—The Prussian minister of commerce has before him a plan, which has already been approved by the Emperor, for starting a workmen's colony at Lichtenberg, a suburb of Berlin, which already possesses railway connections with the center of the metropolis.

It is proposed to erect there 4000 model houses, and to place them at the disposal of poor people at a monthly rental of $5. The houses are valued at 4000 marks, and the cheap rental stands in lieu of payments by installment on the property, so that the tenant or his family enters into ownership of the home after twenty years' occupation without extra payment.

The houses have a seven-metre frontage and a depth of nine metres, with gardens in front and big yards at the back, together with cellars and wash-houses. The entrance floor contains a parlor, diningroom and kitchen; the second floor three large sleeping apartments, and over that an extensive garden. Scientific drainage and the newest inventions for ventilation will be applied to these dwellings of the poor.

The state bought the land on which the colony is to be established at a third of its ordinary value, and the entire building arrangements will be carried out under the supervision of government officers. Only the best materials are to be used, and the objectionable summer houses which so detract from similar constructions is to be avoided.

This is an important step in the execution of the paternal policy of socialism, recently begun by the Emperor, and the friends of the government hope that the socialist members of the diet, as well as the Catholic center, will back them up in their benevolent scheme, and thereby set an example to the other great commercial towns of Germany.

Talked too Freely.

VIENNA, Oct. 23.—It is reported that Mr. J. Black, the newly appointed consul of the United States at Pesth, while journeying to that city to assume the duties of his office, commented publicly upon Austrian affairs in a manner which has offended the Emperor. It is further said that the government has withheld its exequatur from Mr. Black and will perhaps refuse to issue it at all.

The Gladstonians Getting There.
ENGLAND, Oct. 23.—Mr. Gladstone is greatly elated by the return of a letter from Eccles and to every one who speaks to him on the subject, he expresses his delight at the great victory which his party has won.

THREE WAR VESSELS.

A Ram, a Fast Torpedo Cruiser and a Still Faster Torpedo Boat.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The three vessels, for whose construction Secretary Tracy has just invited bids, will perhaps be in commission sooner than the three big battleships for which the contracts have been given out. The largest of the new group, the harbor defense ram, has but 2050 tons displacement, and the other two only 750 and 112 tons respectively. Their construction ought not to take very long.

The fast torpedo cruiser must develop the high speed of twenty-three knots on 750 tons displacement. Comparing this vessel with the Vesuvius, whose contract was for horse-power, the latter, with not far from the same displacement, had an average of 21.6 knots on her trial at Delia was breakwater. Yet it is less than two years since the Vesuvius was considered a wonder for speed. This fact shows the extraordinary rate at which naval development goes on.

As to the new torpedo boat of 112 tons, which is required to reach 24 knots an hour, with rejection should she fall as low as twenty-three, the gain in this respect over the Cushing is obvious. The guarantee for the Cushing was only 22 knots. Upon her trial trip she made only about 22½ knots.

Back From Looking Over Fences.

C. C. Fair, Geo. N. LaVaque, J. D. Boyd and D. J. Sinclair returned today from their canvass on the range. They report themselves as well satisfied with the outlook in that part of the county. Amos Shepard and Sharvy will not return until tomorrow.

MRS. MARK HOPKINS

Would Sell Her Interest in the Big Pacific Road.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—In railroad circles considerable quiet talk is being indulged in, and the talkers claim to know that an appraisal is to be made at an early date of the Southern Pacific company property at the instance of Messrs. Stillman & Hubbard of New York, representing Mrs. Hopkins Searles. This extremely wealthy lady wants to sell out say railroad men here, and put her money in securities with coupons attached to them.

Senator Stanford's most intimate friends are after him to dispose of his interest in the railroad company and put his cash into some business where there will be little or no worry.

A COWARD.

He Escapes His Troubles by Death and Leaves His Wife to do Battle Alone.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—J. R. Creighton, of the banking firm of J. R. Creighton & Co., was found dead in his office, 72 Broadway, this morning by the janitor of the building. The body was cold and rigid when found, death had evidently occurred some hours before. The dead man lay on a sofa with a revolver, with an empty shell in one chamber, at his side. On the office table lay several sealed letters addressed to his wife, Mrs. Sarah Creighton, and his partner, H. H. Brigham.

An open letter was addressed "To whom it may concern," and read as follows: "I have fought a hard business battle, have made a square fight but have lost. My brain has given way and now my body must go. Please break the news gently to my wife."
George Crosby, Mr. Creighton's cashier, soon arrived and was completely overcome on learning what had occurred. He said: "I left him at the office yesterday afternoon happy and I have never seen anything in his conduct to indicate that he was low spirited. So far as I know his accounts were all right. He has had no financial difficulty, I believe."

OHIO'S DILEMMA.

The Contest Against Good Government in Cincinnati Waged Hard.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 23.—In the house this morning the bill providing a non-partisan board of improvements for Cincinnati, to be appointed by the mayor, was read a second time, and the house refused by a vote of 10 to 33 to suspend the rules for a third reading in order that the bill might be placed on passage.

The opponents of Governor Campbell endeavored to secure the adoption of a resolution calling upon the governor for any evidence in his possession as to the dishonesty of members of the board of improvements, but the resolution failed, and the house at 12 o'clock adjourned to 10 a. m. tomorrow. Mr. Hyatt states that the vote on the suspension of rules does not indicate that the same number of democrats in the house will vote for the passage of the new partisan bill. What they want is to either defeat or pass the bill and get away tomorrow. In the senate a resolution was offered to appoint a committee of three to investigate the charge that the clerk of the senate had purposely detained the non-partisan bill after it passed the senate, thus delaying the work of the legislature.

The resolution went over under rule. The opponents of the bill failed to leave the committee on municipal corporations from further consideration of the senate bill for the abolishment of the decennial board of equalization at Cincinnati. The motion failed by a party vote and the republicans offered a protest to be spread upon the journal against the action of the majority in hanging up legislation in the committee. The senate adjourns to 10 a. m. tomorrow. The only result accomplished today was consideration of local measures.

They Wore Low-Necked Dresses.

ELIZABETH, Oct. 23.—The Rev. Father Gessner of St. Patrick's church here has begun a crusade against low-necked dresses. On last Friday night he ordered some female members of his congregation to leave a social given by the Father Mathew Dramatic corps in aid of the church, because they appeared in the to him, objectionable attire. He won't tolerate it at any affair given by the societies connected with the church.

THEY WILL VOTE THE BENNETT LAW.

Agent Leahy's Defense; Northwestern Passenger Rates Still a Bone of Contention.

ASHLAND, Wis., Oct. 23.—[Special to The Herald.]—Rev. Nelsenius, pastor of the local Swedish Lutheran church has created a sensation by saying that since his recent declaration through a local paper of his intention to support Hoard and the Bennett law, repeated efforts have been made by his brother ministers and by democratic campaign committees to cajole or coerce him into a retraction.

He declares that all over the state Swedish and Norwegian Lutherans will be solid in support of Hoard and the Bennett law. The Scandinavian Lutheran vote will be an important factor in the election, as it is estimated at 8000 to 10,000.

Agent Leahy Explains.

ASHLAND, Wis., Oct. 23.—[Special to The Herald.]—Indian Agent Leahy of the La Pointe reservation meets the formal charge of the chiefs that he sent to Washington a fraudulent allotment in severalty list with the declaration that the list he sent in was prepared by Dan Sullivan, the government farmer on the Flambeau reservation and approved by a council including the objecting chiefs. The complaint of the chiefs and a new allotment list have been forwarded to Washington and an investigation will follow.

Mr. Leahy says forcibly, that whiskey sellers and other disreputable characters constantly found on the border of the reservations are responsible for the attack.

The investigation will take so much time, he says, that the Indians will be unable to do anything on their allotment. The winter and much suffering among the women and children will result, with perhaps a repetition of last winter's scenes when dozens died from exposure.

Their Knotty Question.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—The Northwestern division of the Western Passenger association here today to determine upon second-class rates between Chicago and St. Paul. Previous to the recent abolishment of second-class rates between the points named, the Soo line was allowed a differential of $1 on this class to the East. It, together with the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, now demands a differential on first-class tickets, equal to the difference in price between first and second-class rates, or about $2.50.

A Big Timber Sale.

ASHLAND, Wis., Oct. 23.—The dead and down pine on the Lac Count Cretches, the Lac Du Flambeau and the Bad river Indian reservations will be sold Nov. 10. This timber amounts to about 50,000,000 feet, and is worth to the Indians about $150 per 1000. The proceeds are to be applied to the relief of the needy Indians on the reservations.

HAS NO EFFECT.

Duluth Not Affected by a Wisconsin Decision on Peter Dean's Will.

The decision of the circuit court declaring the will of the late Peter Dean null and void will probably affect only the property in Superior and not that in Duluth given to the village of Duluth by the last will and testament of the decedent.

This list includes the following property: Lots 98 and 10, block 40; lots 85, 95 and 103, block 44; lot 159, block 45; lots 41, 43, 45, 47, 49, 51, 53, 55, 57 and 59, block 26; North Albert Posey tract, and lots 69, 71, and 73, St. Louis avenue, Upper Duluth.

For a portion of this property the abstracts showed that the title was perfectly good. On some of the property, however, tax certificates were held by Dennis Dean, a brother of the deceased, and upon the recommendation of R. P. Edson, who was city attorney at that time these tax certificates were redeemed by the city, the records show that $337.50 were paid for taxes of 1884-85 and $182.64 for taxes of 1886.

The greater part of this property is located on Rice Point adjoining Garfield avenue, a portion of which has been condemned for railroad purposes. The remainder of the property is on Park Point.

GOLDWIN SMITH.

Talks on the Tariff Act in a Sensible Way, Not Directed Against Canada.

TORONTO, Oct. 23.—Goldwin Smith, in discussing the McKinley act says: The agitation caused in Great Britain and other countries of Europe by this time ought to have convinced the Canadians that it is not particularly leveled against Canada, and that therefore there is no warrant or excuse for unfriendly demonstrations against a neighboring community with which her majesty is at peace.

The objects, he says, of the framers of the McKinley act, like that of the Canadian government, which anticipated the passing of the McKinley act by a declaration of tariff war is simply to secure votes.

Let Europe and Canada wait for the results of the fall elections to congress which are now at hand. The result of these elections will show, so far as protection is the corruption will allow free voting, what is the real tendency of American opinion. There is strong reason to believe that even among the republicans in congress, who gave a party vote in favor of the bill, there are many who thought it a false move.

CARTRIDGES GO.

The Fulminate Department of the Union Cartridge Company Goes Up.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 23.—One of the fulminate departments of the Union Metallic Cartridge company was blown up with terrible force at 9 a. m. today, causing great consternation among the 600 employees in the vicinity. George Baker and his son Fred W., were employed in the department at the time. A moment before the explosion, the son became frightened and left the place.

The father was blown to atoms, his body being scattered in every direction. Deceased was over 50 years old and was considered a very careful man. The explosion shattered a large quantity of glass in the main building on the opposite side of the street.

The explosion caused much excitement about the city, especially among those having relatives employed there. The cause of the accident cannot be determined.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The committee on fine arts of the World's Columbian exposition met this morning. The object of the meeting was to make preliminary arrangements for securing an exhibit of fine art from the treasures and salons of Europe and the Orient. A letter was read from the executive committee, that owing to the financial condition of the organization it would be unwise to incur any expense until after the meeting of the national commission. A motion was adopted to refer the election of a fine art manager to a committee.

OPENING BIG SALES.

About $100,000 Worth of Iron ore is Sold Today.

SCHEME FOR THE NEW DULUTH SALE.

A Few Realty Notes of Interest; Today's Big Recorded Transactions List.

The first big real estate sale of the active season took place this morning at the offices of C. E. Lovett & Co., when the first division of Iron ore was put on the market. Several realty men and investors passed the lonely hours of the night in a vigil just outside the chamber door, or rather of the company's office in the Farguson building, and when the rooms were opened this morning there was a wild hustle for place. In the first hour $40,000 worth of dirt was sold and Mr. Lovett stated this afternoon that the sales by night would be close up toward $100,000. Tomorrow morning the second division of Iron ore will be put on the market, the sale to be conducted on the drawing of chances plan, giving every one an equal show, without that tiresome watch all night long in the hall. During today several hundred names have been put in the box of those anxious for a chance to purchase tomorrow. Late this afternoon these names will all be shaken up—lottery fashion—and taken out, the first one having first chance at the plot, second name drawn the second chance, and so on. It is probable that there will be a very large sale of this division when the lists are thrown open at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning to selectors.

The New Duluth sale will be conducted on the "first come, first served" plan, and judging from the interest displayed by realty men the hall leading to the company's quarters will be the scene of an encampment during the night before the sale. Some of the choicest lots of the new town will be put on for sale, and only two lots on Commonwealth or Grand avenues, the business streets, will be sold to any one person or agent. There is no limit to be placed on the number of residence lots a single purchaser can buy. The company has made a rule which will please real estate men. No buyer, outside the realty guild, will be allowed any commission on his purchase, and in fact no real estate dealer buying for himself will be allowed the commission.

The Iron ore plot marketed this morning contained forty acres, and is part of the famous Webb tract.

Iron ore people expect to take in $250,000 from the sales of its two divisions, the second of which goes on the market tomorrow.

Ten families have just moved from the city to Lakeside, and the opening of the water and sewer systems will draw many people to settle in the eastern suburbs.

There promises to be a great activity in West Duluth this winter. Negotiations are pending for the location of other large consumers of iron products, which desire to be located near the steel works at Iron ore. The Iron ore people say there will be an active need for the occupancy of every foot of the First and Second divisions of Iron ore within the next twenty-four months, and it will be the policy of the company to pursue such a course as will result in facilitating such development and improvement. The company is considering now whether it will not put the money that is taken from the sale of lots into improvements.

WELL DONE.

The Legal Mills Grind Slowly But They Get There Just the Same.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—No official act of President Harrison has given such general satisfaction to commercial and political circles, as his remission a few days ago, of the fine of $3000 imposed by the circuit court upon Arthur Street, who pleaded guilty to a violation of the interstate commerce law in granting secret rebates to Counselman & Co., on east-bound grain shipments.

Street, as the assistant-general freight agent of the Michigan Central, was compelled to make the rebates by his superior officers. When indicted he was given to understand that if he would allow himself to take the entire blame, thus exonerating other officials, the Michigan Central would take care of his defense and also see to it that he was well taken care of in the future. Street fell into the trap.

The Michigan Central actually avoided employing counsel for his defense, the trial absorbed all his means and the anxiety and worry cost his wife her reason. The verdict of the court found him penniless, a fine of $3000 hanging over his head and the back of the corporation turned upon him. Railroad and board of trade men, however, took care of his immediate interests, and President Harrison has completed the good work by remitting the heavy fine.

When used persistently, Salvation Oil never fails to cure rheumatism and neuralgia. Price, twenty-five cents.

A QUESTION OF STATES' RIGHTS.

The now noted Roy swamp land case of the Duluth land district, which is soon to be put for hearing before the government courts, brings up an interesting constitutional question. At the risk of stating what has already been read, we will give the subject matter of the controversy. On certain swamp lands north of Duluth the state issued patents, as under the swamp land law it had a right to do. Afterward it was discovered that the lands had previously been pre-empted under the United States laws. The land is of great prospective value because of its mineral. The state insists upon the validity of the original patents under the swamp land act, while the United States, on the other hand, maintains the rights of the original settler and claims the survey notes classifying it as swamp are false. The eleventh amendment to the constitution of the United States says: "The judicial power of the United States shall not extend to any suit in law or equity commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another state, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign state." The effect of the amendment has been substantially to prevent any state from being sued in the Federal court. It requires a somewhat liberal interpretation of language to sustain the claim that this amendment prohibits the United States from maintaining a suit against a state, but no state has up to the present been sued in a Federal court.

The government has in this case instructed that suit be commenced in the interest of the Federal government in the Federal court to invalidate the grant of the lands by Minnesota. The issue raised will be that no such suit can be maintained in the Federal court. This application for a non-suit will be made on the ground that a state cannot be sued.

In discussing this matter, The St. Paul Dispatch says that the language of the eleventh amendment is somewhat involved, although it is framed with a great deal of care. Its design was to prohibit jurisdiction being given to the United States courts in certain cases. But certainly, whatever the framers of that amendment might have had in mind, they did not indicate that they were providing for the possibility that the Federal government might at some time or other possibly bring suit against a given state.

According to what is supposed to be the democratic principle of constitutional construction, the Federal government is not excluded from suing the state. But, apart from that, there is another question which is largely one of public morals, as to whether, assuming that the United States has a strict legal right under the constitution to sue a state in its own courts, it ought to do so.

SCHOOL AND TARIFF.

Though no doubt included oftentimes in a summary mental grouping of the advantages of the protective system, it is not often that the educational privileges afforded by it are brought to the front as they are by John Matlocks, one of the strongest democrats of Illinois, who left the Iroquois club five years ago when that organization adopted certain free trade resolutions and declared in favor of the nomination of Col. W. R. Morrison for the United States senate.

Too little is said, as he thinks, of the benefits of protection to the cause of education. The wealth of the manufacturing centers has multiplied schools of every grade and endowed colleges whose training and uplifting influence has made itself felt from end to end of the country. Parents have been enabled to dispense with the services of children who have gained a mental equipment and training far in advance of the generation from which they sprung. Everywhere the results of this elevation may be seen, in the farthest outlying districts no less than in the educational centers. The thinking and reading portions of the people are largely composed of the children of uneducated immigrants.

In his own section they are in most cases the sons of Irish and French mechanics and laborers, all of whom read the daily papers and are conversant with all the political questions of the times. You find no leaning towards anarchy or socialism among them," he said, "and upon all matters affecting the welfare of the people you will discover that they are committed to the support of the party which through its policy affords the most ample remedy now feared from the emigration of paupers to our shores." Of such stock was Phil Sheridan, to take one from many, whose schooling was dependent upon the wool shearing of a little country patch in Ohio. By protection children are permitted to qualify themselves for advancement instead of working with their fathers in the mills and mines and forges. Never has it been claimed that under any system of free trade extant in the Old World or in the Canadas, Mexico, or South America, have such educational facilities been afforded as are given here in our protected Union. The margin resulting from tariff which free traders trace to the pockets of the manufacturers might much more fairly be traced, as Mr. Matlocks urges, to the common school systems of the country, from which the nation draws so much of its strength and hope.

It is a funny campaign still that the democrats are conducting. In Massachusetts the democratic candidate for governor is declaring on the stump that his state "raises no issue as between protection and free trade and makes no war on a proper, just and moderate tariff." Roswell P. Flower, chairman of the democratic congress committee, was one of the strongest protestants in the debate on the McKinley bill against the abolition of the protective duty on binding twine. Roger Q. Mills, leader of the democratic minority in the last house, is stumping about with the argument that "we must have absolute free trade." In our own state protection is denounced in the party platform as "un-American and immoral." On what leg is the opposition standing anyway? Some are still putting up the old rotten pretence that a tariff for revenue only is not free trade. Every sane man knows that if it is not ideal free trade, it is as far toward the ideal as England or any other free trade apostle can get today in view of the necessity of some money to run the national business with. When the democracy knows where it is, it can then tackle the task of showing where it is going.

A New York paper says that Miss Irene Hoyt has the finest collection of corner lots owned by any one person in the United States. "For years she has made it a business to buy a corner lot in every town she visited, and in some towns she has several." Evidently Miss Hoyt has a level head. Should she come to Duluth, deeds for corner lots in Ironton, New Duluth, West Duluth and the city would soon ornament her side pockets, that is if she has side pockets, and it is probable that being so sensible a woman as to invest in corner lots, she is also so sensible as to have get-at-able pockets. Let investors look out that there is no corner on corner lots.

SEEN AND HEARD.

"Six months ago I had no more idea of going on the platform than I had of tying, knots," Mrs. Frank Leslie said to me last night as we sat in her parlor at The Spalding after the lecture. "My present managers made me an offer, and I told them to make a tentative meeting and find out if the Western people wanted me. I had forgotten all about the matter, when, two months after receiving the offer from them, I got word that they had sounded public sentiment, and found that I was wanted. They enclosed an offer, and not exactly liking the idea I wrote them, that if they would double the remuneration named I would accept; thinking they would not think of such a thing."

"Imagine my surprise when I received a telegram taking up my offer. So I made arrangements to give a series of twenty lectures. They were in your three largest Minnesota cities, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth. I find the life very fascinating and an enjoying myself much. I am in doubt as to the likes of the Western people and think that a lecture on an American subject might be received more heartily. My manager wished to drive me out of Duluth on the night train, but I said no! I am going to see Duluth, the city of which I have heard so much."

A SUMMER RESORT LECTURE.

"I am Mrs. Frank Leslie," said an overdressed, large and impressive woman, as she stood behind the footlights at Temple Opera last evening and made her bow. She added that it was customary, so she believed, that a lecturer be introduced, but she suffered no intermediary to come between her and her Western friends. The graceful bow was made to a large and cultured audience, an audience that deserved something better than the mental dishwater served to it with a decided accent of the English kind, and sustained to the polite or fashionable society over which they were supposed to rule. Mrs. Leslie's lecture was a gossip review of the scandalous, fashionable old chronicles, told with a decided accent of the English kind, and sustained to the polite or fashionable society over which they were supposed to rule. Mrs. Leslie's lecture was a gossip review of the scandalous, fashionable old chronicles, told with a decided accent of the English kind, and sustained to the polite or fashionable society over which they were supposed to rule.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY.

Capt. Robertson of the Monarch: We feel proud of our boilers and engines. The boilers are of steel one and one-quarter inches thick while the engines are 2000-horse power, the largest on the lakes. We shall fit both the Monarch and the Empire with electric light throughout this winter.

J. H. Logie: I want to go to California this winter, but real estate keeps along so brisk that I don't like to leave it.
John T. Condon: The morning News says I have leased the new Grand Opera house in Superior. It is simply not so. Mrs. Frank Leslie: I thank The Herald for the kind remarks and interview it gave me yesterday. I like Western journalism, and the newspaper men have had nothing but kind words to say of me.

AT GRABENSTATTER'S.

On Saturday when night comes down,
And goldenly the clock is glowing
High in the tower above the town,
And homeward tread folk are going,
I very rarely fail to stop
To get a shave and hear the chatter
In the sub-cellular barber shop
Kept by loquacious Grabenstatter.
The chairs are full, and more than half
A dozen rough-chinned men are waiting.
Some pass the time with jest and laugh,
One solemn youth is contemplating
The pictures in the little barbers' gazette.
Another's talking with a drummer,
Others impatient, fume and fret,
And wildly glare at each newcomer.

"Next!" I hear called as one retires,
I take my place beneath the razor.
The barber soaps me and inquires:
"Shall I shave up or down your face, sir?"
Then down and up my cheeks he goes,
My lips he quite too freely fingers,
His sweaty palm above my nose
In quite too smothering closeness lingers.

At last the lather is put by,
My face is soaked in foam and water,
My hair is thick with grease and dye,
My moustache's redolent of ointment,
And as I stroll up street I harbor
A perturbed anxiety
To meet Herr Grabenstatter's barber.

A prominent physician and old army surgeon in eastern Iowa, was called away from home for a few days, during his absence one of the children contracted a severe cold and his wife bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for it. They were so much pleased with the remedy that they afterwards used several bottles at various times. He said, from his experience with it, he regards it as the most reliable preparation use for colds and that it came the nearest being a specific any medicine he had ever seen. For sale by druggists.

The surest way to a man's good will is through his pocket book. Give him a tip on a good thing and he becomes your friend. We got a fast hold on the public's good will by saving them dollars. We went to their hearts through their pocket books. The high-price clothiers wonder how we've grown so rapidly and blossom forth so brightly. Our business tree is nurtured by the fountain of reliability. Every limb bears buds of economy. The continued brisk business (a small profit on many sales) makes our business profitable and saves the clothing buyers many dollars.

Ask to see our $10 Fall Top Coat. A considerable quantity of them. You'll be content with the overcoat and the price.

We believe we've got the majority in Black Cheviot suit buyers. Our qualities are right. They're always selling. $15 and $16 is enough for a reliable Cheviot Suit that you can tie to for wear and color. More making right along and everybody's size. NEW DULUTH!

Situated at the Head of Navigation on St. Louis Bay, Head of Lake Superior.

THE TERMINAL POINT OF INLAND WATER NAVIGATION

On the Great Lake Between the East and the West.

Destined to be the largest manufacturing city in the Northwest and the Eastern intersection and terminal of the trans-Pacific railroads and there tapping the Northwest, West and Southwest area of agricultural developments, hence the future railroad center of the Great Northwest.

NEW DULUTH TOWNSITE owns the largest number of desirable acres of any new manufacturing center on the north shore of Lake Superior. The level and gradual shelving situation of NEW DULUTH between the bay and the hills, for home sites and home comforts, admit of a development of active settlements unequalled in the Northwest. The bay frontage of NEW DULUTH exceeds any other townsite in the Northwest. Five miles of water frontage at the head of inland water navigation of the United States, with its population of 65,000,000, is a present and future guarantee of its position and growth, and its financial and commercial strength. NEW DULUTH is the nearest point to the great water power of the St. Louis River, which NEW DULUTH manufacturers will cause to be developed and is the only point where the minimum of cost of it can be utilized by the manufacturer. NEW DULUTH is organized upon a paid up capital of $1,000,000, and today can claim a larger number of manufacturing interests being established than any other point at the head of the lakes.

NEW DULUTH

Is Near and in Close Relation to the Enormous Wheat and Wood Belt of the Northwest.

Fifteen hundred miles, extending to the Saskatchewan valley, while the magnificent and enduring wealth of the iron range North, East and West insures it rapid and permanent growth in the manufacture of wheat and iron products. The public will soon have notice of the plans and purposes of the NEW DULUTH LAND COMPANY and every facility will be offered to have the policy of this company meet the wishes and interests of the public who can appreciate the certainty of future development and wealth and their desire for co-operative aid.

HAS THE CONSISTORY.

Duluth Masons Receive the Thirty-second Degree.

THE MOST NORTHERLY IN THE COUNTRY.

And the Only Case Where a Single State Has Three Consistories.

There are but three states in the Union, as far as known here, that have the Masonic Consistory, Scottish Rite, these being Michigan, New York and Minnesota. Now the supreme council of inspectors general, thirty-third degree, of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry for the Southern jurisdiction, has granted a charter for Duluth, this making the third in the state, the only state in the Union thus honored.

The news has been received by Duluth Masons with the greatest joy, for it is a famous recognition of this city as well as the state, and is given Duluth because of the strength of the Masonic order here, the growth and future prospects of the city and incidentally because of an earnest plea made by the local Masons. It is the highest compliment that could be paid, and the recognition of standing among the Masons of the world.

Duluth already has the Lodge of Perfection, the chapter of Rose Croix and the Council of Kadosh, which carry the initiation up to the thirtieth degree, while the Consistory will work the thirty-first and thirty-second. All its proceedings are conducted with great pomp and dignity. The peculiar form of government of the Scottish Rite gives the principal officer the powers of an autocrat in Masonic matters, and the best known men in the world consider themselves honored by their connection with the rite.

IS IT A DAILY?

That is, Is the News a Daily of the Legal Twelve Months Standing.

City Attorney Allen returned this morning from St. Paul where he went to represent the city in the Tribune-News injunction suit which was argued before the supreme court yesterday. The Tribune company was represented by Mr. Davis of Draper & Davis. The News had no representative.

The argument was essentially the same as in the lower court, where the city attorney holding that a newspaper published on every six days of the week being to all intents and purposes a daily paper, while Mr. Davis held that in order to be a daily paper a newspaper must be published either on every day of the week or the six week days. A decision will probably be reached within two weeks.

A BENEFIT DANCE

That Should be Largely Attended to Aid the Band.

Walker's band will give a benefit dance some evening next week, and all public-spirited citizens should aid them in their attempt to raise sufficient money, not only to keep the band together, but to assist in sustaining the reputation it has already attained as one of the best bands in the state.

Some of the recent engagements of the band have proven rather unsatisfactory and this method has been devised to meet current expenses. It is also proposed to purchase new uniforms this winter.

EARLY RESIDENTS.

Several Bodies Found by Sewer Excavators at the East End.

Contractor O'Connell, who is constructing a sewer in Jefferson street, between Fourteenth and Eighteenth avenues east, made an unexpected discovery yesterday afternoon. A short distance east of Fourteenth avenue the workmen came upon three boxes only about two feet under the ground. They were badly decayed and it did not require much exertion to discover that the boxes contained coffins.

Two evidently contained the bodies of adults, and the third a child. They had evidently been buried for a great many years and there was nothing in the coffins to mark the identity of the occupants. They will be reinterred at the poor farm at the expense of the city.

Will Go Out of Business.

The Griffiths-Marshall grain commission firm has decided to go out of business in Duluth, and this is one of the causes that has led to the report that the firm is financially embarrassed. J. N. McKinley, who has had charge of the local business, has nothing to say about the matter. He will remain in Duluth and run a business of his own.

Rev. M. J. Savage.

Rev. Minot J. Savage, the great Unitarian divine lecturer, arrived in the city this morning. He will deliver an address at Temple opera tomorrow evening, under the auspices of the Unitarian society of this city.

Flour Mill for Sale.

The Superior Roller mill with valuable dock front and yard room for sale on easy terms. This is one of the best chances for investment at the head of lake. Title perfect.

For further particulars apply to McNair & Co., Duluth and Superior.

Poisoned the Confectionery.

BREXLEY, Oct. 23.—A retired farmer named Mast today gave his children some sweetmeats in which he had previously placed a quantity of poison. He then partook of the poisoned confectionery himself. After suffering great agony, the murderer and three of the children were relieved by death from their sufferings. Two other of the children are in a dying condition, and the physicians say there is no possible chance of saving them. No reason is known for the crime.

Clerks Attention!

All members of the Clerks union are urgently requested to attend the meeting tonight at 311 West Superior street. GEO. M. EBY, President.

OF SPORTS.

Duluth Fighter Sheehy in Town Today: Profile of The Turf; To Beat The Record.

Joe Sheehy, the pug, who has been well known as a newspaper fighter in all this section, which has been inflicted by more fake fighters than any other section, is in the city. He says that Killen made the plainest kind of a back down at Minneapolis. "Several times since then I have offered to fight him for fun or marbles in his own place of business, but he is a cur and refused each time. His backers have, however, forced him into another meeting, which will take place before the 25th inst. The terms of this last match are such that Killen has got to fight." Sheehy expects to open a saloon at the head of the lakes.

Profits from the Turf.

New York, Oct. 23.—The big racing stables of New York have finished their work for this year. August Belmont heads the list with a winning of $167,000. Nearly half of that amount was won by Potomac. John A. Morris is next, with $158,000, while Senator Hearst is third, with $110,000. Green Morris is fourth, with $85,000, and Congressman Scott is just below him, with $69,000. The Dwyer Brothers, in spite of the crippled condition of their stable, have earned the snug sum of $65,000, while D. D. Withers is credited with $94,000. Sally McClelland won $58,000 for her owner, Byron McClelland. J. B. Haggin ends the year with $51,700 profit. Of this sum over $30,000 was Salvatore's winnings. Burlington is responsible for a big portion of the Hough Brothers' $37,700, while Bashford Manor farm owes nearly all its $15,970 to Gascon.

To Beat the Record.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 23.—On Tuesday a purse of $200 will be given for the stallion Red Wilkes, the owner of the stallion Red Wilkes, for the double team of stallions, Charley Wilkes and J. R. Shedd, to start to beat the best double team record (2:30) for stallions. There is no doubt of the ability of Shedd and Charley Wilkes to pull a sulky over the Mystic track in much better time than 2:30. These two sons of Red Wilkes can beat 2:30 and will make a great double hitch. Jack Bowen will drive the pair, and any one that can mark a horse any faster than he can may rely on being able to drive.

The Standard stake is an institution that makes record trotting quite as interesting as a race, and as a fast class is also to be given, some great sport can be expected.

Sporting Notes.

A tournament may be organized late in November either at cushion caroms or billiards. Among the experts who will play will be Schaefer, Ives, Slosson, Carter, Daly and perhaps Foran.

John Teemer is to locate at Seattle.

John L. Sullivan was 32 years old Saturday.

The 500 yards amateur swimming championship of Scotland is now held by Harry Adams of Glasgow.

Pat Allen, the St. Louis heavyweight, and Jack Davis are to fight at Omaha next month for $1000 a side.

W. D. Courtney, a colored resident of London, won the amateur billiard championship of Great Britain recently.

Charles Davis, who was recently whipped by John Wallace, wants to fight Jim Scully of Woonsocket for a stake or purse.

The fight between Tom Cleary and Joe Ellingsworth, which was to have taken place Oct. 26, has been declared off.

Frank Maggiori and Eugene Carter, the crack Western billiardists, are matched to play at Denver within a month for $500 a side. They will play 1500 points, 500 a night.

Don't hawk, hawk, blow, spit and disgust everybody with your offensive breath, but use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and end it. Fifty cents, by druggists.

OF AFFAIRS POLITICAL

The Republican and Alliance Speakers in Duluth.

JANSEN AND HIS ALLIANCE SPEECH.

The "Cross" Mark Against the Head of the Ticket Alone Counts; Notes.

Among the political rallies scheduled by the state republican committee for this section in the near future are one tomorrow evening at Cloquet, H. Stockenstrom speaker, and one in this city Saturday evening at which H. Stockenstrom and J. E. Osborn will be speakers. The committee's list of meetings for this month is now complete.

One of the most energetic and influential speakers who has taken the stump for the republican party this fall is Herman Stockenstrom, assistant secretary of state. All of his speeches are in the Swedish language, and standing so prominently among those of his own nation his powerful arguments and eloquent words cannot fail to have the desired effect. Mr. Stockenstrom speaks at Northern Pacific Junction this evening and at Cloquet Friday evening. He will also be heard in other places later in the campaign.

On Friday, Oct. 31, S. M. Owen, alliance candidate for governor, will speak in Duluth. The evening before he talks in Brainerd.

Capt. Smallwood returned this morning from Two Harbors, where he addressed an enthusiastic republican audience last evening. He says that the republicans will have everything their own way in that neighborhood, and that of the 400 votes the republican party will secure at least 300.

F. J. Voss is back from his trip on the range. He pronounces himself as well pleased with the outlook in that part of the county, and says that he will receive a larger vote than he did two years ago. The leaders of the republican party however, have a different view of the matter. Mr. Sinclair and other candidates have been doing plenty of hard work on the range this week with most gratifying results, and in the eyes of the most conservative there is no longer any doubt about the election of the entire county ticket.

Rev. Kristopher Jansen delivered another of his peculiar political sermons to a large crowd of Scandinavians at the West End last evening. The address was in the Swedish tongue, and the pandemonium which reigned at the close of the arraignment of the old party leaders and their measures showed that he was thoroughly in rapport with his hearers.

F. B. Daugherty's prospects are brightening every day. Said a well known democratic leader this morning. "I am a democrat at heart, but I shall vote for Daugherty. His chances for election are all."

Speaking of the law in regard to the X mark after the names of candidates the Minneapolis Journal says: "It cuts no figure after the first name." Such is the official decision of City Attorney Russell. In other words, if a man places a "cross" after the name of Governor Merriam he votes the straight republican ticket. If, however, he votes for the retention in the executive chair of the present gubernatorial candidate and places his cross (X) after the name of Gideon S. Ives he votes for those two men alone. The city attorney was in City Clerk Haney's office this morning, and so decided. He claimed that there was no partiality in his decision, and his findings in this much-mooted matter were indorsed by the many partisan politicians irrespective of political creed who crowded the city clerk's office. In fact Mr. Russell's utterances on this point were reiterated by the city clerk, for Mr. Haney said to a Journal man "that he did not see how else the registration laws could be interpreted."

Minneapolis registration up to Tuesday night was about 30,000 names; this is between three and four times more than Duluth, and hardly what Minneapolis had expected.

Since the results of Tuesday's St. Cloud convention have been known it is generally understood that C. A. Gilman is an independent candidate for senator. In an interview today Mr. Gilman stated that it was not known that a convention was to be held until shortly before it convened, hence his defeat at the meeting.

Merriam and Davis. A grand rally was held at Granite Falls last night, Governor Merriam and Senator Davis were present and spoke to a large sized audience. The town hall was packed and about 200 people surrounded the windows and doors. A number of people were present from Montevideo and adjacent towns.

Lind at Canby. Congressman John Lind spoke at Canby last night on the new tariff law and other important measures passed by the last session of congress.

College Society Meets. INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 23.—The forty-second annual national convention of Phi Gamma Delta began its sessions here yesterday. Prominent men from all parts of the United States are attending the meeting. The annual reports of the officers show that the fraternity has strongest in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana.

THE TRIP.

Yesterday's Pleasant Excursion Up Country and Something of the Festivities and Speeches.

The Duluth & Winnipeg excursion party which returned at 8 o'clock last night was composed of the following: President M. R. Baldwin, Secretary S. A. Thompson of the chamber of commerce; Alderman Ash, Davis, Kennedy and Perry; City Officers Bunnell, George T. Hughes, Fuller, Shanley, Page Morris, J. W. Miller, McQuade, Cooley, Budden; County Commissioners Wieland, Butchart and Jefferson; Vice-President Manager of the Duluth & Winnipeg, Emil Schmidt, J. E. Ennis, S. M. Chandler, Frank O. Love, T. B. Hoover, P. W. Meritt, T. B. Hizar, W. O. Tillotson, G. A. Leland, O. L. Roen, A. C. Bateheler, R. C. Mitchell, Wm. H. Jones, Fred A. Lewis, J. J. Early, J. J. McNeill, H. Anneke, L. P. Totman, W. G. Joerns, Geo. A. French, H. F. Totman, C. G. Miller, Herman Beier, N. J. Miller, A. J. Miller, A. C. Terryberry, W. H. Stultz, Frank E. Wyman, Hanson Mettall, A. J. Prantz, C. E. Richardson, N. A. Gearhart, John Frazer, R. S. Lerch, Chas. R. Haines, A. H. Holgate, W. A. Holgate, J. B. Douglas, W. C. Sherwood, Wm. McRae, E. H. Oswald.

On arrival at Grand Rapids about noon there was a substantial dinner and considerable speechmaking. G. S. Canfield opened the ball with a welcoming talk. Judge Page Morris responded. He thought the people of Grand Rapids were mistaken in what they pleased to call a wilderness, as he understood they had about 14,000 town lots, plenty of good strong men to build up a city, and work the farms; in all he was "pleased to find it was a piece of God's country." Judge Stearns congratulated the young men present that they were in a vigorous young Western village and away from the effete East. By helping to build up Western places men are made broader minded, more generous and get more out of life.

O. S. Stillson, a real estate dealer of Grand Rapids and a recent comer from Spokane Falls, "probably the greatest boom city in the world," said Grand Rapids had more in sight to support a population of 100,000 than Spokane had for 30,000 people.

Secretary Thompson assailed indulgence in a few startling statistics. "The county of Itasca is as large as the states of Rhode Island and Connecticut combined. North of the state and that there lies a territory of 20,000 square miles, larger than all New England, that has not a railroad within twenty miles. With all its pine, hardwood, water power for factories, its iron mines and other resources, the prospects were that this territory would become an empire in itself. Duluth has no jealousies, and I say that another Minneapolis shall spring up on the Mississippi in the northern part of the state and that place shall be Grand Rapids."

The party then made the trip to the lower government dam at Pokegama lake, four miles above, and started back for Duluth, stopping on the way at La Prairie.

SOME OF THE MINES.

Examinations of Properties
Near Hunter's Island.

IRON MINES ON THE P. A., D. & W. ROAD.

Explorations of Mr. Paulson and Others; Silver Islet and the Beaver.

The many Duluthians who are interested in the work of the miner and prospector in the country along the line of the Port Arthur, Duluth & Western road, as well as in Mr. Paulson's career, will read the following review from the Port Arthur Herald, with interest:

Richard R. Paulson returned this week from a two months' trip along the Bessemer iron range, contiguous to the Port Arthur, Duluth & Western railway, now under active construction to the Minnesota boundary, eighty-four miles from Port Arthur, forty miles of the road already having been completed this season.

Mr. Paulson also examined the vertical deposits on Hunter's island. The most favorably known deposit of merchantable ore lies one and a half miles across the boundary, in Minnesota, and consists of 100 acres of land belonging to the Milwaukee Iron company. Commencing at the brooklet to the north the ore lies nearly horizontal, with a dip of only five degrees. A trench about two feet deep has been dug along the iron about 500 feet, and pits sunk passing through seven feet of ore, the top two feet of which is certainly average 67 per cent of metallic iron, and the entire horizontal deposit produces large quantities of good shipping ore.

Two miles west from this property the Chicago Iron company own a valuable location, and which they favorably tested last winter with a diamond drill. This range has been traced from these deposits in a northeasterly direction to the Canadian Pacific railroad at Kaninistiquia, a distance of nearly eighty miles, and on its course are located the Child, well, Segwick and Paulson properties. The ore is distinctly different in appearance from that of the Vermilion and Hunter's island ranges, and comes within the class of steel producing ores, and is black in color, while the ranges immediately north carry the red and grey hematites. The entire range juts against the gneiss, or so called granite overtop, and which they favorably tested. At the Caldwell and Segwick tracts, north of Gun Flint lake, several test pits have been put down, and prove conclusively the presence of ore in large quantities. This also applies to the thirty odd miles of deposits belonging to Mr. Paulson, north of North, Arrow and Whitefish lakes, where the most prominent exposures of ore in place are found on T. X., 36X, 38X and numerous locations north of Round lake. The "Wigwags," R257-257, in which the Sibbels of Detroit are interested with Mr. Paulson, have the largest body of ore in sight of any location on the range, and the assays average over 60 per cent. Peewabic mountain, still further to the northeast, has a good showing on its north and south face, but has not yet been thoroughly explored.

Harry Sibbel and Professor Wm. E. Curtiss of Detroit, have been out at Edward's island, part of the old Silver Islet property, inspecting the new find of copper and silver. They refuse to give any information as to what they think of the find.

There is a carload of Beaver mine concentrates at Murillo awaiting shipment, valued at $15,000. Part of a carload of ore is also there and will be shipped as soon as the balance of the load is brought down from the mine. The company are talking of pulling down the stamp mill in the spring and building one of more than double capacity.

The Marks syndicate is talking of sending in a diamond drill to the Anticokan mine for the purpose of testing for 300 or 400 feet their iron properties. A second survey party has left here to go in on the line of the Rainy river railway near this point for the purpose of completing the survey before navigation closes.

LOGGERS LOOKING GLUM.
Chippewa lumbermen on the anxious seat; dreary outlook up there.

EAM CLARE, Wis., Oct. 23.—The sawing season in the Chippewa valley is about over, and the mill men all anticipate suspension of operations in the near future. The Knapp, Stout & Co. company has shut down its steam and water mills at Menomonie for the season, though its shingle mill will be operated until Nov. 1. This is an indication of the general intention to wind up the season early.

It was currently reported that Indian Agent Leahy had notified the loggers who had operated on the Flambeau reservation that they could proceed with logging this year. It is now denied. In all probability the denial is correct, and it is the general impression that it will take considerable time before the interior department will make known its decision. A good deal of pressure will be brought to bear, as it is a really serious matter to the loggers who placed a large amount of money in the necessary improvements before they could begin work. They would be glad to get out what they have expended there. The Flambeau is about the richest reservation in the La Pointe agency.

Brutally Murdered.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Michael Brazzel, an aged and respected resident of the suburban town of Des Plaines, was brutally murdered last night by three tramps. He went into his barn when three men who had been concealed in the building sprang upon him. One of them struck him on the head with a coupling pin. The other men ripped open his pockets and took everything of value. Members of Brazzel's family say that it was usual for him to carry large sums of money with him, having no faith in banks. They think the sum secured was about $500 to $600.

Costly Case Already.
INDEPENDENCE, Ia., Oct. 23.—M. E. Billings, the Waverly attorney, convicted a year ago in the Black Hawk county court of the murder of W. S. Kingsley and sentenced to the penitentiary for life, was brought before Judge Ney yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus. Judge Ney admitted him to bail in the sum of $5,000, and he was released on his own recognition. It is almost certain that the case will be dismissed when called up in Judge Lenahan's court. The prosecution of this celebrated case has cost Brewer county $18,000.

THEY WED.
A Number of Society People of National Repute joined in the Bonds of Matrimony.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Two millionaire families were united today when Miss Albertina Huck became the bride of Marshall Field Jr., the only son of Chicago's greatest merchant. The ceremony was performed at noon at the Field mansion on Prairie avenue. Most Rev. Archbishop Fagan officiated, and the entire choir of the Catholic cathedral rendered the Lohengrin wedding chorus and other selections. The chief organist of the cathedral, Professor Bressler presided at the organ which Mr. Field recently had built in the music hall of the mansion. Few guests were present only the relatives and a most intimate friends having been invited.

Florence Field the little sister of the groom, and Master Eddie Leam the youthful son of Norman B. Ream, attended the bride and scattered her path with roses. Miss Ethel Field was the bridesmaid and Miss Mary Huck a sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor. Arthur Tree did the honors as best man, and John Holland as usher.

The bride was attired in a robe of white satin with courtly train, half open bodice and De Medicis collar. She also wore a full veil of tulle and carried a bouquet of white myrtle blossoms. After the ceremony the wedding breakfast was served by a New York caterer who had brought with him his entire service. At 5 o'clock this evening the bridal couple will leave for New York en route for a year's visit to Europe.

The bridal tross came from Worth and Felix of Paris. Ferdinand of Vienna, and Ducie of Berlin. It arrived here about two weeks ago, invoiced at $30,000, to which $10,000 was added for customs.

The bride is but a few days past her 17th year. Her eldest sister was married not long ago to a noble Hungarian family, and is now known as the Baroness von Kunowski.

Wedded in St. Paul.
A wedding of great prominence took place yesterday afternoon at the Church of St. John the Evangelist, St. Paul. The contracting parties were Miss Nellie Farnsworth Auerbach, daughter of Maurice Auerbach, the well-known merchant, and Dr. Jacob Henry Stewart, son of the late Dr. J. H. Stewart. The church was beautified by floral decorations. After the ceremony a largely attended reception was held at the residence of the bride's father, on Summit avenue.

North-McGill.
The marriage of Miss Anna North to Charles Herbert McGill, son of ex-Governor McGill, occurred yesterday afternoon in the Congregational church at St. Anthony Park. The bride's gown was white tulle, en train, handsomely embroidered by one of her friends, tulle veil and orange blossoms. She was attended by Miss McGill, the best man being W. W. Price of St. Paul. A large reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, No. 955 Bayless avenue, last evening.

Too Bad.
CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Another pretty romance is spoiled by the announcement of L. Z. Leiter, the millionaire and capitalist, that there is not a word of truth in the cable statement of the engagement of his daughter to Sir Charles Hall, boom companion of the Prince of Wales. Miss Leiter has been the rage of London society during the past season, and has been shown numerous attentions by the Princess of Wales.

A SHOE TOWN BURNS

East Pepperell, Mass., Has a $300,000 Fire Today.

SEVERAL HUNDRED OUT OF WORK.

A Large Part of the Town is Destroyed and Many People Are Homeless.

EAST PEPPERELL, MASS., Oct. 24.—The entire business portion of this town has been burned, and the loss will reach $300,000.

A big fire was discovered this morning at 2 o'clock in the shoe factory of Leighton Bros. and soon after the flames were first outlined against the sky, the whole building was ablaze. A high wind was blowing and the flames spread rapidly and almost before the people in the neighborhood were aware of their danger, the fire was threatening their very lives.

It spread from the shoe factory to a row of wooden bearing houses. Here it attacked successfully, the shoe factory, the old apparatus of the locality being insufficient. Nashua was called upon and responded with some of her trucks and men. Before the flames could be attacked successfully, the shoe factory had been burned to the ground, also three residences, seven stores and a block of boarding houses.

The loss is estimated at $300,000. Early after daylight the flames were overcome. Several hundred persons are out of employment by the fire and the town is in distress.

KING OF BUFFALO.

People of Carlsbad Make Life Miserable For a Buffaloman.

CARLSBAD, Oct. 24.—The curious mistake of an ignorant officer has brought the sojourn here of an American, James I. King of Buffalo, N. Y., to a hurried conclusion. It appears some ignorant officers transformed the signature of a citizen of the republic into "James I. King of Buffalo," and in this shape it was printed in the papers. The effect on the more ignorant of Carlsbad was astonishing. The pseudo monarch was at once set upon at his hotel by such shoals of tradesmen, promoters of stock companies and schemes that the unfortunate American was compelled to leave the town and leave by the first available train.

Those of his persecutors literate enough to know that kings do not flourish in America set him down as a veritable Buffalo Bill.

HUNTING CATTLE.

Western Cattle Have a Picnic in an Eastern Town.

SILVER CREEK, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Men employed by the Lake Shore road have been scouring the country for the Western cattle which escaped from the wrecked train Sunday, and on their return drove them through here to the depot to load them. A few of them were very ugly, breaking away and attacking several people on the streets. Mrs. Herman Ichfield was chased and knocked down by one, also was M. Radigan, who was knocked down a 20-foot embankment.

Charles F. Shumaker went gunning for them with a Remington rifle and killed two.

Much damage was done to the lawns and shrubbery by the frightened animals, and a large amount of injury was done to the vineyard of James Mulgrew about two miles out of town.

Involving Her Capital Eight.

PIERRE, S. D., Oct. 24.—Argument upon the writ of certiorari, recently issued by the supreme court, setting aside the proceedings of the Hughes county commissioners in establishing polling precincts throughout the lately opened Sioux reservation, are in progress today. The question being whether the writ shall be made final and perpetual. The best legal talent in Huron and Pierre appear in the case, which is an important one, as it involves the disfranchisement of a number of voters and is a phase of the state capital fight.

Wheat's Successor.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—It is said that Joseph E. Ralph, at present doorman of the house of representatives, stands the best show for the position of congressional postmaster recently vacated under unfortunate circumstances by Capt. Wheat. Ralph is prominently identified with the Amalgamated Association of Iron & Steel Workers, and his appointment as postmaster was mainly intended as recognition of his work in trade union circles during the last Presidential campaign.

The Body Identified.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Norman Wolcott and not C. Wilwert is the name of the man who was slugged, robbed and then placed on the Santa Fe tracks at Twelfth street Tuesday night. The police here at last determined his death was not due to accident. The chief of police received a dispatch yesterday from Trenton, N. J., asking for a description of the dead man. It was sent, and the answer came: "It is the body of my brother, Norman Wolcott. Hold body 11 will reach Chicago tomorrow."

Election Officers.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 24.—Today's session of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was devoted to the election of first and second grand engineers. The vote is large and it will be probably twenty-four hours before the result is known. Old officers will probably be re-elected.

Acres near Iron ton, $300 per acre.

SUGAR MANUFACTORY.

Sioux City to Have the First in the State.

SIoux CITY, Oct. 24.—A meeting was held at South Sioux City last evening for the purpose of securing pledges from farmers to raise sugar beets. H. T. Oxnard, the Grand Island sugar manufacturer, has made a proposition to put in a plant at South Sioux City to cost $500,000 for a bonus of $150,000 and a guarantee that 2000 acres of beets would be raised in the vicinity next year. There was no trouble in getting pledges for the required number of acres.

Today a committee will start for Grand Island prepared to put up a guarantee for the bonds.

THE COURTS.

A Suit Where Mistaken Kindness Hurts a Plaintiff's Cause; United States Court Adjourns.

In the case of Matthew Delmore vs. The Northern Pacific Railroad company, the jury today returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $4,000.99. The plaintiff was badly injured in a railroad accident and as his injuries are apt to prove permanent, the jury was entirely in sympathy with him.

If a verdict is for an amount exceeding $5000 the case can be appealed, and the jury, to prevent an appeal, rendered the unusual verdict of $4,000.99.

The court then adjourned.

Suspects Arrested.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Six men are in custody on suspicion of having been the murderers of Michael Bruzell at Des Plaines, Wednesday night. Three of them have proven apparent alibis. James Farrell, Thomas Costello and Thomas Fowler were arrested yesterday on a freight train. John Murphy, Frank Burns and Thomas Syc are the other three. They were picked up near Des Plaines yesterday, and brought to Chicago.

Freight Troubles.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The Tribune this morning says: "A serious conflict between the Union Pacific and its eastern connections is about to be inaugurated. The Union Pacific has been demanding a larger division of rates on freight traffic from its eastern connection than it accepts from the Chicago & North-western. The eastern roads could not afford to concede to the demands of the Union Pacific because it would prevent them from competing for traffic west of the Missouri river and from Union Pacific points with the Chicago & North-western."

War in British Africa.

ZANZIBAR, Oct. 24.—Sultan of Zanzibar has refused to surrender to British authority or to afford redress for the recent massacre and he is actively preparing for hostilities. Hundreds of natives from the surrounding tribes are adhering to his standard. Fighting is inevitable.

Western Indians Threaten.

OTTAWA, Oct. 24.—The Indians at this point on the Great river district, British Columbia, are threatening to exterminate the whites who have gone into that country unless they are compensated for the minerals taken from that district. The latest advice states that Indians have gone on the war path and trouble is feared. A detachment of mounted police will be sent to quell any uprising.

That Insurmountable "If."

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The Chronicle decries that had Mr. Gladstone's speech been delivered this morning, the conservative would have won Eccles. His policy on this question is simply fatuous. He has himself open to be dashed by the same force they can only see their opportunity.

Scandal Criticized.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The Paris correspondent of The Times complains of the departure from history in Sarah Bernhardt's new play and says: "The death of Cleopatra is not dramatic. The serpent scene is disgusting rather than striking. The play is a wretched play gives chances, but it is not a play."

A Pacific Coast Line.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 24.—Messrs. Stanford, Stanford & Crocker, representing the Southern Pacific Railway company, have assigned an agreement presented to a committee of citizens from San Francisco to Los Angeles, to complete a coast line between San Francisco and Los Angeles, closing the gap in the line between Santa Margarita and Ellwood, Cal.

More Peters Suits.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 24.—Attachments process begun today by the Bank of LaCrosse, against Richard G. Peters, to recover $5000 on a note executed June 19, 1890, by the Robinson-Salt-Lumber company and guaranteed by Richard and Peters.

The Suit Begun.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 24.—The Commercial company has commenced suit against the North American company to recover $100,000, the value of 1,800 sealions recently discharged by the revenue cutter Rush, and which were claimed by both companies.

Struck by a Locomotive.

FREDONIA, Wis., Oct. 24.—The Rev. Frederick Frank, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran church of this place, and his family, were driving across the track of the Milwaukee and Northern last evening, in a deep cut on a curve between Fredonia station and Saukville, when a southbound express struck the family, killing the horse instantly and seriously injuring the occupants.

IT MUST BE CHANGED.

The Tax Levy Illegal in at Least Two Counts.

THE CHANGES WILL REDUCE THE TAX.

The Park Fund, the Library Fund and the Revenue Fund Each Lose a Tenth.

The tax levy for the county as published in yesterday afternoon's Herald is apt to cause considerable trouble. The levy, it will be remembered set aside 1.1 mills for the park fund and .6 mills for the library fund.

Section 13 of the act authorizing the levying of taxes for park purposes reads as follows: "The board shall annually on or before Oct. 1 in each year transmit to the auditor of St. Louis county an estimate in writing, of the amount of money necessary for the payment of interest on all bonds issued by said board, and for the government, maintenance and improvement of said parks and parkways during the succeeding year, which amount shall not exceed the sum raised by a tax of one mill upon each dollar of valuation of taxable property of said city."

From the above it can readily be seen that the board exceeded the limit placed by the legislature by one-tenth of a mill. The library board's levy is limited to five-tenths of a mill, and in this case the limit has been exceeded by one-tenth of a mill. Hence it can be seen that every taxpayer can pay his taxes under protest and thus upset the entire levy.

RAILWAY AFFAIRS.

The Western Passenger Association; Minneapolis & St. Louis Kicks.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—It is asserted by rival roads in the Western Passenger association that the Burlington has been stocking the market at Kansas City with the return portion of harvest excursion tickets. Some of the roads have notified Mr. Finley that unless the markets were cleared of all unauthorized tickets they would meet promptly whatever rates were being made over the Burlington or other roads by outside parties.

It is claimed that large quantities of tickets have been supplied by Chicago scalpers to scalpers at Kansas City and Denver. The portions of these tickets from Chicago to Kansas City have not been used, the coupons west from Kansas City being furnished to scalpers. Mr. Finley is investigating the charges.

The Tipperary Row.

TIPPERARY, Oct. 24.—Summonses have been served upon Mr. Harrison, member of the house of commons for the middle division of Tipperary; Michael O'Brien Dalton, the latter of whom is one of the defendants in the conspiracy case on trial here, and upon a number of other persons, on the charge of assaulting the police at the time of the opening of the preliminary hearing will be held before an ordinary court of petty sessions. The act of the crown in transferring the case from the magistrates' court, from which the summonses were originally issued, to the assizes has caused renewed excitement in Tipperary.

European International Case.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The hearing in the proceedings brought by the Swiss government to secure the extradition of Castioni the Swiss radical who was arrested in London on the charge of having shot and killed Councillor Rossi at Bellinzona, Switzerland during the morning session of the magistrates' court, from which the summonses were originally issued, to the assizes has caused renewed excitement in Tipperary.

A Noted Counterfeiter.

OKLAHOMA CITY, I. T., Oct. 24.—Ed. Stephen, a noted counterfeiter, was arrested four miles west of this place yesterday, and is now in jail. Thirty-seven spurious dollars were found on his person and a number of moulds in his house.

Reed at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Speaker Reed arrived from Waterloo, Iowa, this morning at an early hour. A committee from the Union league was in waiting to receive him. He was escorted to the club rooms of that organization where breakfast was served, and, later, was taken on a drive around the city. Between 4 and 6 o'clock a reception will be tendered him by the members of the club and their ladies. After this is over there will be a banquet, at which the guests will be limited to the officers of the club and a few city officials. This evening he will speak to a political gathering in Battery D.

COLLISION IN MONTANA.

Passenger and Work Trains Meet at Full Speed.

BUTTE, MONT., Oct. 24.—The helper, under charge of Engineer Thomas Lynch, was returning east last evening twelve miles west of this city, when rounding a curve, it met an outgoing passenger train. The engines collided with frightful force, completely demolishing both, but beyond being jarred none of the passengers were injured. Both engines and one fireman escaped, but John F. Mitchell, fireman of the passenger, who was stoking at the time was instantly killed. Henry Sargent, brakeman on the passenger train, had his ankle jammed against an iron rod, but no other casualties occurred. Engineer Lynch claimed that he met the passenger engine unexpectedly and that his watch was eight minutes slow.

PAYS INDIANS.

The Favored Wards of Minnesota Are all Getting Nearly $11 Each From Government.

M. A. Leahy, United States Indian agent for this district, passed through town this afternoon en route to pay the Bois Forte and Grand Portage Indians their share of the money advanced by the government in anticipation of monies derived from the sale of pine lands.

Agent Leahy was found by a Herald reporter at the St. Louis, and asked the object of his visit. "I am on my way to the Bois Forte and Portage reservations," Mr. Leahy explained, "to pay the Indians part of the 5 per cent interest due them on pine land sales and advanced to them by the government."

"There are at the Bois Forte reservation," continued Mr. Leahy, "720 Indians. The sum to be paid them amounts to about $8000, or $10.35 to each Indian. The Grand Portage band is smaller some 300 all told. We will pay each of them also $10.35. I also go for another purpose. I will make a mortality report, ascertaining the number of births and deaths; also appointing guardians for orphans. My party consisting of W. D. Leahy, R. T. Rodman and myself goes to the Tower this afternoon and from there will make our way to the reservations. We will return via Duluth."

Indian Agent Shuler is among the Indians of the various reserves, distributing the annual payment which was authorized by congress in January, 1889. The total amount distributed is $30,000. This payment is to be made every year for fifty years, and one-half of the entire amount is paid to the tribes in the vicinity of Grand Rapids. Each Indian receives $10.48.

IN OHIO.

The Internecine Row in the Cincinnati Public Bodies.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 24.—The house this morning entered upon the consideration of the non-partisan bill for a board of improvements at Cincinnati to be appointed by the mayor. In order to facilitate expression the house went into committee of the whole and the discussion was opened.

The democrats opposed to Campbell and the bill made lengthy arguments against the measure, the principal point of which was opposition to abolishment of present board of improvements without giving members charged with dishonesty an opportunity to be heard. On the other hand, the supporters of Governor Campbell insisted he was in the line of restoring home rule to the people of Cincinnati and that he was acting in accord with his duty as a federal system by suggesting in his message that the mayor be given the appointing power as he had been chosen by the people. Principal speeches were made by democrats, the anti-Campbell members urging the point that it is not democratic to practically turn over the government in Cincinnati to the republicans. Finally the committee of the whole reported bill to house, and it was read for the third time. Malton, democrat, offered an amendment providing members of the board of improvements shall receive recognition and dividing the city of Cincinnati into five districts to be presided over by engineers appointed for the purpose.

AN EASTERN CYCLONE.

The Atlantic Coast Visited by a North-easter.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The storm last night was part of the cyclonic disturbance which has hung over the Gulf states during the last two days. This morning stories of damage along the coast began to come in, but it is feared that the worst will not be known until tomorrow. Along New Jersey coast wires are reported down, and several vessels ashore, while others have been driven from their course. Very high tides are reported, and several small boats were capsized off Long Branch, but the occupants were rescued.

The marine wires between this city and Sandy Hook parted about midnight, and today the members of the maritime exchange had to depend upon a single wire from the quarantine station at Staten Island.

Smuggled Goods Recovered.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 24.—The custom house officials today seized diamonds, rubies, and other jewels to the value of $13,000 which they claimed had been smuggled by two merchants from Caylon, on the steamer Gaelic a few days ago.

Italian Elections.

ROME, Oct. 24.—The elections for members of the chamber of deputies will be held on Nov. 23. The new parliament has been summoned to meet on Dec. 10.

BELONG TO DULUTHIANS.

Citizens of Duluth a Factor in the Mineral District.

THEIR INTERESTS VERY EXTENSIVE.

Great Bodies of Land Near Rainy Lake, to Say Nothing of the Mines.

The incorporation of the Rainy Lake Mining & Improvement company, briefly mentioned in The Herald last night, brings out some additional facts as to the remarkable quantity of rich mineral land, iron, silver, gold and mica owned just across the boundary by Duluth people. One article is much too short to convey an adequate impression of the quantity of this land running from the Nipigon river, on the most northerly point of Lake Superior, to the Lake of the Woods, that is held under ownership in this city, but the quantity along that little section of the long distance watered by the Rainy river, is sufficient to give an idea of the whole.

The Rainy Lake Mining & Development company has been formed several months, but has kept its incorporation as secret as possible. It has bought over 2400 acres of valuable mineral lands lying just to the north of Rainy Lake and between Sand river on the west and Riviere la Seine on the east. Explorer Louis L. Franklin, who is one of the members of the company, selected the entire amount and entered it for the company.

The officers of the new company are as follows: President, L. S. Franklin; vice-president, Andrew Thompson; secretary, J. H. Nordby; treasurer, C. W. Erickson. These, with Wm. Erickson, Benjamin Fennstad and John L. Kowling, constitute the first board of directors.

So great has been the rush for mineral lands in this section all however carried on with the utmost secrecy, so that the outside world would not get the fever, that a large share of the company's examined lands were secured by it only after an exciting chase, and as one of the directors said last night, "by the skin of our teeth." It was a stern chase and a long chase to the nearest government officer, but the company got there first.

"Our land," said a member of the company, "has a distinct vein of silver of very considerable richness, in rock much like that of the Thunder bay silver district, and it has also, on another purchase, a valuable deposit of iron. We are not far from the falls of the Sturgeon river, and have navigable water to and through Rainy lake and river. We have already been offered $75,000 for our property, but shall improve it ourselves."

The land owned by this company is not far from several thousand acres of lands owned by the Macfarlanes and Hunters of Duluth, in which valuable veins of silver have been traced and where deposits of mica, which will probably prove to be good when the mines get low enough to avoid a smoky texture. Then just east of these properties are nearly 6000 acres of iron land in the vicinity of Hunter's island belonging to Richardson, Day & Co. of Duluth.

Then Robert Forbes and others interested with him are constantly putting all the cash they can reach into investments in silver lands in the same neighborhood, and now have several thousand acres of land which Mr. Forbes says he "believes to be worth at least half a million dollars." The Duluth ownership of working mines and prospects of silver and lead lying between Black Bay and Whitefish lake, has already been referred to in The Herald.

Thomas Marks Returns.
Thomas Marks, president of Duluth & Port Arthur road, came back from Tower and Ely this morning. Mr. Marks went up to the Vermilion country in the interests of his road. He was very much interested in the vast evidences of wealth that he saw on every hand, and thinks that the future of the Port Arthur and north shore district will be equal to that of Tower and Ely. Since visiting this section, Mr. Marks is more than ever impressed with the importance of completing rail communication between Duluth and Port Arthur.

Sold a Location.
McEachern & Dickinson, who own so much valuable lead property on Black Bay, have today sold, so says Capt. McEachern, one of their locations, about a mile back of the shore of Lake Superior for $10,000 to Mr. Foster of New York, who has been in the city some time.

Black Bay Red Marble.
A Duluth syndicate is now negotiating with Capt. Duncan McEachern for the purchase of his marble location on the Canadian Pacific railway, a couple of miles back of the lake shore at Black Bay. The captain has stripped the vein and states that it is over a mile long and as "wide as Superior street." He has put down a few holes a short distance and has brought to Duluth a number of specimens, several of which he has just polished and was showing his friends here today. The marble is a beautiful Jasper red, veined somewhat, and takes a polish that is exquisite. It is said by experts to be fully the equal of the Vermont marble. "If that vein of marble was in the United States," said he this morning, "it would be worth $200,000. Why isn't it worth as much just across the line? But it isn't, or at least a man can't sell for as much as he could here."

The West End Silver Mine.
PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 24.—The suit by Shaw and others to cancel the sale of the West End mine to Drake and others, of St. Paul was settled today on a basis satisfactory to all parties. Col. Shaw has returned to Toronto, and mining work will progress forthwith. Oliver Daunis, the silver king of Port Arthur, received today $30,000 in cash, being his share of the sale of the West End mine. This makes nearly a quarter of a million dollars that he has realized from the sale of silver mines in this district, and he has any number left.

NEW YORK SUMMONS HIM.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Superintendent of the Census Porter is expected to sail from Liverpool for home today. He has recovered from the attack of nervous prostration with which he was suffering when he sailed. He had intended staying abroad a couple of weeks longer, but has been advised to return in consequence of the serious allegations that have been made concerning the under-employment of this city.

BAD MISTAKE.

Valuable Stallion Accidentally Killed; Jack McAuliffe to go to England; Minor Sporting Matters.

PUEBLO, Col., Oct. 24.—The stallion Superior, owned by Dubois Brothers, horse breeders of Pueblo, was accidentally killed here last night. He was being loaded on a car for transportation to Denver, and while winking on the platform, the engineer misunderstood a signal and started the train. The horse was thrown under the wheels and mangled.

The owner said last night he would not have taken $75,000 for the animal. He was four years old and had a record of 2:15.

McAuliffe Goes Abroad.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The sudden death last week of actress Katie Hart has entirely changed Jack McAuliffe's plans. Philip Dwyer, the famous turfman, will sail for Europe next month, and McAuliffe will accompany him. The proposed match had nearly been consummated, but the champion says that he will not enter the ring again for a long time. It is McAuliffe's intention to remain in England several months, and during that time, if some of the London Clubs, preferably the Pelican, will put up a good-sized purse, he may conclude to meet Jim Carney, the English champion, with whom he fought a draw.

World's Record Beaten.

CAMBRIDGE CITY, Ind., Oct. 24.—Nelson yesterday trotted the fastest half mile on record, barring neither stallion, mare or gelding. The first quarter was made in 32 1/4 seconds, and the second in 30 1/4, making the half in 1:03.

Notes of Sports.

While the Latonia meeting was in progress, a Cincinnati sport, rejoicing in the cognomen of Billy Smith, made a winning investment with a $2 bill, and before the meeting ended had increased his capital to near $10,000, all from his original $2 start.

"Snapper" Garrison will hereafter race his horses in his own name. His colors are black body, yellow sleeves and cap.

A PRIEST FINED

And Compelled to Apologize to Ladies He Had Slandered.

MONTREAL, Quebec, Oct. 24.—Father Sergin, of Ste. Catherine, Quebec, recently forbade his parishioners sending their children to a private school kept by the Misses Boucher. They immediately took action for damages, claiming $30,000.

Upon the matter coming under the notice of the administrator of the parish he caused an investigation, found no grounds for the cure's charges and directed Father Sergin to apologize publicly and privately to the Misses Boucher and pay $400 and costs.

DROWNED HERSELF.

Probably Committed Suicide When Temporarily Insane.

SLEEPY EYE, Oct. 24.—A Mrs. Sangholtz, wife of a German Lutheran minister, was found dead in a slough about two miles from town. She came to this country to be married about four weeks ago. On Friday night of last week she left the house and had not been seen until found yesterday. It is supposed that she had gone crazy, and walked directly into the water and drowned herself. She was only 20 years old.

SIMPLY ACKNOWLEDGE IT.

So Says Report About Mrs. Stanton's Appointment.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Beyond a formal acknowledgement of receipt, it is not believed that President Harrison will make any reply to the petition addressed to him by the Wagonworkers Political alliance urging the appointment of Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton to succeed the late Justice Miller as an associate justice of the United States supreme court.

The petition, which is couched in very strong language, is based on the general argument of the equality of women, and claims that of all women who have made themselves prominent in this country, Mrs. Stanton is the best fitted, both by education and experience to properly fulfill the duties attached to the responsible post of an associate justice.

Special Parties For Pacific Coast.

The Pullman family sleeping car excursions started last season by the Lake Superior, St. Paul & Union Pacific line (C. St. P. M. & O. and U. P. railways) are becoming popular, and many special parties of first-class people have been forwarded to Pacific coast points with great satisfaction and economy to themselves.

These cars leave St. Paul and Minneapolis every Thursday at 7:50 a. m. in charge of a Pullman porter, and are provided with mattresses, curtains, pillows, bed linen and every necessary, leaving nothing to be provided by the passengers, and ladies traveling alone or accompanied by children receive every attention.

Each berth in these cars accommodates two persons, and the price of berth from St. Paul or Minneapolis to Portland is $3. To San Francisco, $3.50.

Parties going to Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and points in Washington, Oregon and California should try this new line, making quicker time to Portland and San Francisco than any other, with no extra charge for fast service, and with as low rate as any all rail line.

Tickets and accommodations, in family sleeper, can be secured through any agent of this company, or of George M. Smith, general agent, 332 Hotel St. Louis block.

A COGENT COMPARISON.

The ablest and clearest argument for the increased duties laid by the new tariff was that made in the senate in the closing days of the session by Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island. No duty had been assessed with such hot blasts of abuse as the increase on tin plate, and Senator Aldrich's reply to this abuse is so cogent and just that it cannot fail of effect upon the minds of all who are willing to give the question the fair consideration it demands.

After pointing out the extent of the importation of tin and terne plate, amounting to three-quarters of the entire output of Britain, and the defects in our tariff legislation through which this advanced product has been admitted at a less rate of duty than the same iron and steel uncoated, he said:

"Tin plates are simply thin iron or steel sheets, cleaned in an acid bath and coated with tin. The coating process is very simple and consists in dipping the sheets alternately into palm or some other oil and then into the molten tin. If the tin-plate industry should be fully established in the United States, as it must be, it would give employment to at least 70,000 people.

We enter the competitive race for this product with no disadvantage except the want of experience. We can and do roll the iron and steel sheets; all the sources of supply of block tin are open to us, and it is a disgrace for which congress is alone responsible that we are dependent upon foreigners for our entire supply of this exceedingly useful article. In almost every other direction the development of our manufactures of iron and steel has been remarkable.

For instance, the production of pig iron in the United States increased from 3,700,000 tons, or 445 pounds per capita, in 1880 to nearly 10,000,000 tons, or 535 pounds per capita, in 1889. This surprising exhibit is but an indication of similar growth in every department of iron and steel production, with the exceptions I have named. As the metal schedule of the existing tariff act is, from a protective standpoint, with the exceptions I have referred to, most complete and satisfactory of any, this wonderful expansion affords an apt illustration of the beneficence of the protective system and furnishes an unanswerable argument in behalf of the continuance and enlargement of that policy. I deem it necessary, however, in view of the importance which this proposed change in rates has assumed in public estimation, that the objection urged against its imposition should be clearly set forth and definitely answered.

It is urged that the effect of the additional duty of 12 cents per pound will be to largely increase the cost of tin plate to the American consumers. To this I answer: That the price paid by the American consumer for a number of years has been greater than it would have been insured by a protective duty. Foreign manufacturers and importers have taken advantage of their complete control of the American market to maintain prices at a higher level than would otherwise have been possible. This is shown conclusively by comparing prices of tin plate for a series of twelve years with the prices of galvanized iron sheets, steel rails and cut nails for the same period. (A table here given shows that the price of charcoal tin plate in this country had only been reduced from $5.50 cents per pound in 1878 to $5.20 cents in 1889, and at Liverpool from 18s. 3d to 18s. in 1889, while galvanized iron sheets had been reduced from 6½ cents in 1878 to 4¼ in 1889 and steel rails from $2.25 in 1878 to $2.25 in 1889.)

It will be observed that the price of charcoal tin plate for the year 1889 in the United States was but 4½ per cent below the average for the whole period of twelve years, disclosing a significant constancy while the decline upon the other articles mentioned, where the American manufacturer was brought in competition with the foreign producer was very much greater. On galvanized iron sheets, which compete with tin plates for many uses, the average price for the same twelve years was 5.9 cents per pound, and the average price in 1889 was 4½ cents, the price in 1880 being 28.3 per cent less than the average for the whole period. Compare this with a reduction of but 4½ per cent on tin plates. The average price of steel rails for the same twelve years was $41.26 per ton, while the price in 1880 was $29.35 per ton, or a decline of 29.1 per cent. The price of cut nails, upon which the tariff rate was prohibitory for the whole period, was 2.63 cents per pound, while the price of 1889 was 2 cents a pound, or a reduction in that year as compared with the average for the whole term of 24.1 per cent.

For this comparison it will be seen that I have taken three articles in common use, upon which the duty during the whole period has been protective, and these show a decline in price of from 24 to 29 per cent as against a decline of 4½ per cent in the price of tin-plate. Further examination would show that the price of tin plate has been more successfully sustained than that of any other manufacture of iron or steel.

Then after demonstrating that our people are today and have been for years paying a higher price for the iron and steel they consume in the form of tin and terne plate than in any other form, he proceeds by a use of a carefully prepared tabular statement, which we reproduce in this issue of The Herald, to cut the stuffing out of the pretence that the larger duties on tin plate will augment appreciably the price to the retail purchaser, for use of any article of tinware. He does not believe that to these purchasers any increase will be made even at the outset, before American manufacture pulls down the price, as it has of every other iron and steel article. And, except possibly for some individual advances for campaign effect, we are satisfied that practical experience will justify his belief. Nobody will have the cause to shed a drop of sweat by reason of any additional cent on his dinner pail or coffee pot.

In an extended review of American naval progress, The New York Tribune says that there "have been three cruisers launched during the year—the Concord, Newark and Bennington. The armored cruiser Maine will be launched next month. The torpedo boat Cushing was purchased last March, while the Charleston, Vesuvius, Petrel and Baltimore may be said to have been added to the active list during the twelve months." But it is in vessels on the stocks that government shows its greatest activity. There are now seventeen vessels building, eight cruisers, five protected; one steel practice vessel, two steel gun vessels, one coast defence vessel, one battleship and four monitors. In addition to this, the naval bill appropriates for three coast-line-of-battle ships, $12,000,000; one protected cruiser, $2,750,000; one torpedo cruiser, $350,000; one torpedo boat, $125,000. These amounts do not include armament. The progress of the navy has left its imprint on American manufacture. It has created one industry at least that is destined in turn to create a mercantile ocean marine equal to that of the lakes. The evident intention of confining the procurement of ore to domestic mines will give the steel production a distinctly national aspect. The desire to have our flag flying over steel clad ships of war may be to some merely a patriotic sentiment, but it has given an incentive to the mines of Lake Superior, the foundries of the interior and the shipyards of the coasts.

OCTOBER.

[Audrey de Vere's "Autumnal Ode."]
"The love-songs of the blackbird now are done
Upon the o'ergrown, loose, red-berried covey.
The latest of late warblers sings as one
That trols at random when the forest is over.
You poplar-grove is troubled. Bright and bold
Babbled his gold leaves in the July breeze
As though above our heads a rained relief;
His mirth is o'er, subdued by old October.
He counts his lessening wealth, and sully solace
Tinkles his minute nolets of wan gold.

But hark—the wind increases,
The sunset forests, catching sudden fire,
Flash, swirl, and sing, a million-voiced chorus.
Roosting the West, rich clouds in glittering Recess
Overarch ethereal spaces and divine
Of heaven's clear layalae.
No dream is this! Beyond the radiance golden
God's sons I see. His armies bright and strong
The ensanguined martyrs here with psalms high-voiced.
The virgins there, a lily-lifting throng.
The splendors nearer draw. In choral blending
The Prophets' and the Apostles' chant I hear:
I see the Salem of the just descending
With gates of pearl and diamond bastion's sheer.
The walls are agate and chalcedony.
On jacinth street and jasper parapet,
The unwaning light is light of Deity.
Not beam of lessening moon or suns that set.
Let's fall no leaf; these lights can never range.

SEEN AND HEARD.

"I am glad to see so many fine buildings in Duluth," said an Easterner who is in the city looking for investments, "It speaks volumes for the permanency of the city's prosperity. When I go to your town and find the business blocks men and unimposing I at once conclude that the inhabitants of that town are not sure of the future; that they are afraid to put aside money into permanent structures. At the very moment I stepped from my train at the depot and looked upon the rows of beautiful brick and stone buildings, I said to myself: 'This is a city in which to invest, for a people that has so much faith in the future of the city as to put up such magnificent structures can not but possess the energy and pluck to make this a great city. And for this reason I have made some investments here, and intend to make more. I have as much faith in the future as though I had lived here all my life.'"

For over a week Michigan street has been obstructed by numberless piles of lumber which has been put along the thoroughfare with the probable intention of erecting building sidewalks. If any street in the city ever needed sidewalks Michigan street does; and the sooner they are built the better. The appearance of beginning work is well enough, but to needlessly discommode people as Duluth's improvement authorities are only too prone to do, is something Duluthians have already borne too long.

WHAT'S IN THEIR MINDS.

C. E. Lovett: I anticipate the best season of realty business for the coming six months that we have had in two years.

A. M. Miller, Jr.: Not one poor attraction will play at Temple Opera. The standard of the house will be brought up equal to the best.

J. W. Norton: New Duluth will begin with better prospects than any new town ever started in the Northwest. A lady, member of a well known Duluth society: Before Mrs. Leslie made arrangements for lecturing here our society considered the matter of placing her on its list of literary attractions but finally decided not to do it on account of the financial risk. Later when we saw the demand for tickets we regretted our lack of enterprise, but when we heard the lecture we were perfectly satisfied.

STATE EXCHANGES.

Little Falls Transcript: The republicans have an excellent ticket in the field this year, and the admirable record of the present administration affords no chance for the opposition to make charges against the republican nominees. Governor Merriam has been one of the best governors the state ever had. Brainerd Journal: The high tariff crowd say that A. J. Whiteman is wealthy, but they haven't the cheek to claim that he is the tool of monopoly. The man who serves monopoly interests, whether he be rich or poor, is the one who is dangerous to public interests.

Mankato Free Press: Has the average farmer stopped to consider his condition today as compared with one year ago? Has he reflected over the fact that everything he sells is worth in the market today from 25 to 110 per cent more than it was this day one year ago?

Fergus Falls Journal: The democrats should not be so careless about proclaiming aloud that their only affection for the alliance is an affection based on the expectation of defeating the republican party.

TARIFF AND CONGRESSIONAL.

Fergus Falls Journal: Mark D. Wilbur, a democratic speaker going through this district, claims that there is a duty of 10 cents on each pound of tea, and making other false statements. Tea is on the free list, with sugar and various other things which the campaign speakers claim are taxed.

Winona Republican: The United States use more tin plate in all the rest of the world combined. Just what it makes democrats so mad to encourage the manufacture of it from our own mines—which are rich—is hard to see. We have been paying $20,000,000 every year to Wales alone for tin plate which we will now make ourselves.

Mankato Free Press: If, as the democratic organs and orators claim, the McKinley bill is going to raise the prices on all classes of merchandise, will they be kind enough to explain how it is that merchants are advertising to sell at "old prices" and many articles lower than ever?

Long Prairie Leader: Mr. Whiteman is a man of strength as well as ability, and both are important requisites. More than this, he stands upon a platform which has the best welfare of the people of the Northwest for its strongest plank.

Grand Rapids Eagle: Since The Eagle joggled up the state committees about making no campaign appointments nearer than Duluth, we observe that dates have been made for N. E. Junction and Cloquet. Keep on coming, peer, gentle Joel, and when you fix a meeting as near us as Floodwood or Wah-naw-nie, we will take our campaign torches and march down—perhaps.

NEW DULUTH!

Situated at the Head of Navigation on St. Louis Bay, Head of Lake Superior.

THE TERMINAL POINT OF INLAND WATER NAVIGATION

On the Great Lake Between the East and the West.

Destined to be the largest manufacturing city in the Northwest and the Eastern intersection and terminal of the trans-Pacific railroads and there tapping the Northwest, West and Southwest area of agricultural developments, hence the future railroad center of the Great Northwest.

NEW DULUTH TOWNSITE owns the largest number of desirable acres of any new manufacturing center on the north shore of Lake Superior. The level and gradual shelving situation of NEW DULUTH between the bay and the hills, for home sites and home comforts, admit of a development of active settlements unequalled in the Northwest. The bay frontage of NEW DULUTH exceeds any other townsite in the Northwest. Five miles of water frontage at the head of inland water navigation of the United States, with its population of 65,000,000, is a present and future guarantee of its position and growth, and its financial and commercial strength. NEW DULUTH is the nearest point to the great water power of the St. Louis River, which NEW DULUTH manufacturers will cause to be developed and is the only point where the minimum of cost of it can be utilized by the manufacturer. NEW DULUTH is organized upon a paid up capital of $1,000,000, and today can claim a larger number of manufacturing interests being established than any other point at the head of the lakes.

NEW DULUTH

Is Near and in Close Relation to the Enormous Wheat and Wood Belt of the Northwest.

Fifteen hundred miles, extending to the Saskatchewan valley, while the magnificent and enduring wealth of the iron range North, East and West insures its rapid and permanent growth in the manufacture of wheat and iron products. The public will soon have notice of the plans and purposes of the NEW DULUTH LAND COMPANY and every facility will be offered to have the policy of this company meet the wishes and interests of the public who can appreciate the certainty of future development and wealth and their desire for co-operative aid.

A LAW THAT IS CRUEL

And Should be Changed at This Winter's Session.

A CHANCE FOR SOME PHILANTHROPIST

A Petty Criminal Who Has Been Closely Confined Six Months Without Trial.

A peculiar case, which has recently come under the notice of The Herald, presents a condition of affairs which should be remedied at the next session of the legislature. Some time last May a canoe on the St. Paul & Duluth was broken into, near Thomson, and a few articles stolen.

A tramp was arrested and after an examination before a justice of the peace, was held to the next session of the grand jury for Carlton county, the offense having been committed in that county.

In consequence the man has been confined in the jail at Duluth since the time of the examination, nearly six months ago, and will be obliged to remain there for some time yet.

When he was first incarcerated he was a man weighing 180 pounds. Now he does not weigh over 140 pounds and has recently been suffering from nervous prostration to such an extent that a physician has been called to attend him. This is no doubt due to confinement without necessary exercise, and the continual worry over his crime, for which he is convicted he would be apt to receive more than two years in the penitentiary. It would certainly be a charitable act if the legislature could provide some way whereby criminals arrested in this district could be indicted by the grand jury of St. Louis county of the first grand jury to set after the commission of the crime.

A MORNING BLAZE.

Lots of Smoke and Fuss But Little Loss After All.

A defective stove pipe caused a fire in the New Restaurant, 220 West Superior street, this morning, it being discovered about 3:30 o'clock. Great headway was made by the fire before the alarm was turned in, but even then the department successfully coped with the flames and saved much of the building and the adjoining structures. The employees of the restaurant, who were sleeping up stairs, escaped with much difficulty.

S. T. Armistead, the proprietor of the place, is absent in Iowa, and his loss cannot be ascertained. He has insurance with Myers & Whipple to the amount of $1000 on the furnishings and fixtures, the policies being written with the Northwestern and the California companies. The building is owned by F. S. Hodges of Boston, and is insured for $1000 with C. H. Graves & Co. in the Phoenix. The building is probably damaged to a third the amount of insurance.

Its entire loss would not have been regretted much by the owner, for Mr. Hodges and Judge White also of Boston and the owners of the hundred feet fronting on Superior street and Second avenue west, intend to put up next spring a building six stories high there and will tear out the present wood structures. It is not probable, therefore, that Mr. Hodges will rebuild.

One of the roads refused to do this, so that the Minneapolis & St. Louis is not likely to enter into the proposed agreement.

IRON TON'S SALE.

Nearly $30,000 Worth Sold to Noon in the Second Division of the New Flat.

The crowd at the sale of the Second division of Iron-ton, that took place this morning, was fully equal to that which assembled at the First division sale yesterday.

As with nearly every such sale the excitement among speculators was intense, and the lucky ones whose names were drawn first from the box yesterday were objects of envy for those who were not so fortunate as to be among the first twenty on the list. Up to noon the sale amounted to $45,000.

The Iron-ton company does not consider this sale as in the light of profit making, but only for the purpose of raising funds for several improvements and for expenses incidental to the erection of the steel plant.

Said E. L. Emery: "We are putting some choice property on the market, more to raise additional funds to make improvements than from any matter of profit making. As soon as the people find out for themselves just what extensive the new steel plant is, the Iron-ton company will have to hold back its property so as to keep it from all going too soon."

$1000 handles the bargain we offer in acres. Wm. McKee.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—At the regular monthly meeting of the Chicago & Indiana Belt Line Railway company there were present not only the directors but the presidents, vice presidents and general solicitors. It has been ascertained that a proposition to issue bonds for several millions of dollars was authorized only after a stormy debate.

The money is to be expended in the improvement, tent of tracks, terminals, etc., of both the Western Indiana and the belt line.

Don't think that the bargain we offer is not good or someone else would take it. It has not been offered at the extremely low price list this afternoon. First come first served.

THE GOVERNMENT FIRM.

Interior Department Holds to Its Position

AND DULUTH & WINNIPEG MUST WAIT

No Chance for More Building on This End This Year—But Next Season!

It is now stated that all the outcry raised by Duluth in its attempt to swerve the government from its obstructionist course in the matter of the Duluth & Winnipeg right-of-way question has been useless; that the department of the interior has decided to rigidly adhere to its stipulations regarding the Red Lake reservation, requiring maps of the whole line to be completed and filed before any reserve can be crossed, that the probability of grading any more this autumn is small, and that the fall grows very slight, as it has got so late.

This is a shameful attitude for the government to take, but all Duluth and the railway can do is to bear it and swear to get even some time in the future with the fellows who have caused the trouble. At any event the road will lay the rest of the steel that the line is ready for, and if the company does not actually grade any more this year it will do much work putting in culverts, building roads and cutting out right-of-way so that in the spring after the surveys have been completed, the maps filed and the Indians carefully moved or given lands in severity, the actual building can be pushed.

The Bethel Trip.

The Bethel Sunday school ride will start at 9 Saturday morning at the Bethel. Mr. Kendall's busses and wagons will take the scholars over the boulevard drive. Teachers and scholars are invited.

The Axis of the Continent. Boston is sometimes called the "hub of the universe," and has considerable claim, in an intellectual way. The Rocky mountains are alluded to as the "backbone of the continent"—and they are certainly rugged and knobby enough to constitute a formidable and reliable vertebral column. (No wonder Uncle Sam is so independent with such a backbone.) If these are appropriate appellations, then we may rightly call the Mississippi valley the axis of North America. In its borders are the bulk of the people—it is the food storehouse of the whole country—and the remainder of the country revolves about it, dependent upon it for food, for the great working force, for the political power. To reach any portion of this valley above St. Louis, "The Burlington" is the natural, the best, the quickest route for the traveler, every city in the section being on or near its lines. For tickets, time table, rates and information, call on any agent of "The Burlington," or connecting lines, or write to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

THE SUN

FOR 1891.

Some people agree with The Sun's opinions about men and things, and some people don't; but everybody likes to get hold of the newspaper which is never dull and never afraid to speak its mind.

Democrats know that for twenty years The Sun has fought in the front line for Democratic principles, never wavering or weakening in its loyalty to the true interests of the party it serves with fearless intelligence and disinterested vigor. At times opinions have differed as to

OF MATTERS POLITICAL.

The Local Feeling Regarding Governor Merriam.

HE WILL DRAW UP TOWARD THE REST.

And Will Poll a Larger Vote Than was Expected; Other Political Affairs.

Governor Merriam's prospects in Duluth and St. Louis county have brightened very materially during the past week. Those disgruntled republicans who raised such a hue and cry at the time of his nomination are beginning to see that they have been laboring under a mistaken idea. Now they are beginning to see that he has been one of the best governors Minnesota has ever had. He is an exceptionally bright business man, and as such has given the state a business-like administration and loyalty to republican principle is beyond cavil. His record as a banker, president of the State Agricultural society, speaker of the house of representatives and lastly as chief executive of the state, is open for inspection. Although a banker, his efforts in the legislature for the reduction of the legal rate of interest from 10 to 8 per cent, and his recommendation for even a lower rate, ought to convince the voters that he has their interests at heart, and it will be found that on Nov. 4 that a great many of the dissatisfied republicans will vote for Governor Merriam's re-election.

It is amusing to see how easily some votes can be led away by a new party. Alliance principles have been preached to them in such a way that they really believe that if Owen is elected governor, each one will have a new suit of clothes, and their wives new dresses. If ever there was a case of succumbing to party lash, it can be seen in the way which the alliance leaders are conducting the present campaign. But the lash is not long enough to serve all purposes and before election day some of the drove will be lost to the alliance and gathered again into the republican fold.

The democrats do not seem to be doing anything in St. Louis county. Nothing is being done openly and whatever work there is in the nature of a still hunt. The headquarters are seldom open during the day, and in the evening only a few of the faithful gather at the rooms in the Banning block to tell each other what a nice old man is Thomas Wilson, and what a bad man is William R. Merriam, and how near S. M. Owen will come to being elected.

While there is so much talk about the stampede of the Scandinavians to the alliance ticket, it is a noticeable fact that none of the local reportable Scandinavian papers are supporting the ticket. The Skandinavian, of course, supports the alliance ticket; it would support anything, besides its editor, one M. Wessenberg, is a candidate on the state ticket. The Posten and Scandia, both edited by bright, thinking Scandinavians are supporters of Merriam.

On Saturday evening there will be a rousing Scandinavian republican meeting at the Opera house. There will be good music during the evening and a number of addresses. Hon. Herman Stockenström and Capt. Joseph Osbourne of St. Paul will be among the speakers, and something fine may be expected, as both are eloquent.

A colored Glee club has been formed which in the future will be one of the features of public meetings. They are practicing every night on a number of campaign songs and will soon be ready for their first appearance. F. D. Parker a colored speaker of St. Paul will deliver an address in Duluth some evening next week. Mr. Parker was in the register of deeds' office in St. Paul for a long time and is one of the brightest colored men in the state.

My wheat closed yesterday at 11 1/2 higher than it has been before at Duluth for years. This means a good price to the farmer, still he believes himself down-trodden and is anxious for a new party to obtain control. Some men would be dissatisfied if their mother-in-law died.

D. J. Sinclair is making a most aggressive fight and has already cut wide swaths in the democratic-alliance phalanx. As an alderman he has been a faithful servant of his constituents and his fitness for the position of clerk of courts is beyond discussion. F. J. Voss was put in his present position largely by republicans, and they would have made but little opposition to his re-election. But now that he comes out for the best office in the county, is regarded as a piece of what is generally termed gail. However, his chances for election are not the brightest in the world.

Although but little has been said in the newspapers about the candidacy of A. J. Crossett for county treasurer, he has nevertheless been saving wood and has succeeded in saving a good deal of the dust. His election is one of the certainties, not only because his opponent is a comparative stranger to the voters of the county, but principally because he is capable of filling the office, has innumerable friends, has never before asked for an office, and has always been a straightforward, honest republican. There is no better friend to the sick than "Al Crossett," as he is commonly called, and many a voter whom he has befriended, has taken off his coat and will work for his election.

There was an enthusiastic republican meeting at the city hall in West Duluth last evening. Addresses were delivered by J. D. Boyd, H. C. Kendall and Hon. G. S. Ives, the republican candidate for lieutenant governor. West Duluth can be counted upon for a magnificent republican majority.

The democrats will hold a meeting this evening in Ingalls hall. Speeches will be delivered by Judge Nohavay of Stillwater, and W. M. Marshall, chairman of the state central committee.

P. P. Wilson of St. Cloud, and old time democrat, is in the city. He says that the political situation in St. Louis county is decidedly mixed this fall. This in former years has been the banner democratic county of the state, but the "grangers" this year are going to cast a large vote and they will make serious inroads upon the democratic majorities. This makes the situation more favorable for the republican ticket.

St. Louis county will have plenty of republican speakers next week. The committee has made arrangements for a number of meetings at the West End, there will be one or two meetings at West Duluth, and some of the speakers from abroad will deliver addresses at the ward meetings.

"The dissatisfaction among Swedish republicans upon whom the democrats and bolters are depending to cut Merriam and Comstock, is not one thousandth so widespread as the politicians would have people believe," remarked a politician this morning. "And I think that all disaffection will be brought into line before election day comes. We have good assurance that Knute Nelson will come up here and speak, and if he does everything will assume an oldtime aspect."

At the republican congressional campaign headquarters at Washington it is said today that reports from all parts of the country indicate that next election day will witness heavy republican gains. It is admitted that a few districts may be lost in the North but the reports from the South, it is said, make it certain that these will be more than made up. Tennessee, both of the Carolinas and Georgia are looked to to overcome any losses in the North or West. It is said that the Georgia reports indicate as a certainty, at least, two districts if not three, will go republican.

Look Out for the Liar. Red Wing Republican. It is only two weeks to election. The chances for disproving any lie before election grows less with every day. Consequently the temptation for the liar to work grows greater with every day. Experience has always shown the number of falsehoods increase as the day of election approaches. Hence sensible men will disbelieve all statements from this time unless accompanied with indisputable proof.

ODDS AND ENDS.

A tree planting society has been formed through letters received from societies in leading cities of the difficulty of urban tree planting. The chief enemies to trees in cities are gas, horses, and electric light and telephone men. A very smart young man in Savannah tried to pay his street car fare with a $100 bill. The conductor was accommodating, and stopping the car he went into a store and got the bill changed, giving the young man a shot bag full of silver, amounting to $20.35.

There are growing on a farm in San Antonio, Cal., two large fig trees that are as old as the state. They are 30 feet in height, and are marvels of productivity. It is thought they will yield 1000 pounds of fruit each.

An odd feature has been proposed for the World's fair. It is a comprehensive collection of "idols, fetiches, kobogs, tabus, kissees, enquizes, ju jus, guse grees, and totemas, together with the sacred vestments, utensils and paraphernalia of all known idol-worshipping nations and tribes, ancient and modern."

In a dry well recently found in an old house at Gloucester, Eng., were found a great number of iron implements. The principal specimen is a carpenter's plane of quite modern type, although unquestionably more than 1500 years old, three or four axes, retaining their fine-cutting edges and still quite serviceable, a number of chisels and gouges of all shapes and sizes, hammers, adzes, saws, files, &c.

The Best Man in the World.

Well, if not positively the best, one of the wisest is he who checks disease at the start in his own system. In preserving or restoring the heaven-granted gift of health, he deserves profound consideration. His example is worthy to be imitated. The complaints which afflict us are largely attributable to a want of tone in the stomach, either inherent or inflicted by ourselves upon that much abused repository of the food that should nourish us. What is its requirement in adversity? A wholesome tonic. None so good, if we rely upon experience and testimony, as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Unmedicated stimulants won't do. Regulation, as well as invigoration of the digestive viscera, is not to be effected by these. Through the agency of the stomachic named, strength of the entire system is retrenched—dyspepsia, and biliousness overcome. Malarial, kidney, bladder and rheumatic complaints are eradicated by this salutary reformer of ill health.

UNITARIAN CONFERENCE.

Under Headway This Afternoon: To night's session at Temple Opera.

The opening session of the fourth annual convention of the Minnesota Unitarian conference was held last evening at the Unitarian church, corner Second street and First avenue east. Every seat in the building was occupied. Among the ministers present from abroad were Rev. Minot J. Savage and Rev. Grindall Reynolds of Boston, Rev. J. H. Crocker of Madison, Revs. J. F. Edinger and T. B. Forbush of Chicago, Rev. Eliza Wilkes of Liverne, Revs. S. M. Crothers and A. Lundberg of St. Paul, Revs. H. M. Simons and K. Jensen of Minneapolis, Rev. J. C. Sage of Sioux Falls and Rev. W. E. Greenman of Winona.

The program of the three days' session was begun by Rev. H. M. Simons of Minneapolis, his text being Genesis vii, 22: "While the earth remaineth, seed time and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease." His discourse was interesting and was listened to with interest.

This afternoon the conference opened a little after 2 o'clock, with half an hour's devotion, after which there were papers and discussion. There is to be a supper and social under the auspices of the ladies of the parish. At 8 o'clock there will be a mass meeting at the Opera house, where the principal address will be delivered by Rev. Minot J. Savage of Boston, and there will be five minutes addresses by Revs. S. M. Crothers, Rev. Christopher Jensen and Rev. T. B. Forbush. IT WASN'T JACK.

So the Courtiers of Whitechapel Congratulate Themselves.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The body of the woman found murdered in the South Hampstead locality last night shows that the crime bears no resemblance to those committed by "Jack the Ripper," and a medical examination of the remains proves that the woman did not belong to the Whitechapel class from which "the ripper" selected his victims. The body is that of a woman about 35 years of age and well clothed. Her linen was marked. Her throat was cut and her skull fractured, and all of the pockets in her clothing were empty. A perambulator containing a blood-stained fur rug was found near by which, it is supposed, was used to convey the body from the scene where the crime was committed to where it was found.

THE LAND OF PROMISE.

Never Promised Anything Like This; Oklahoma Farmers Starving.

TOPEKA, Kas., Oct. 25.—F. Warner, a farmer living in the western part of Oklahoma, near Reno, has arrived in Topeka, sent out by his suffering neighbors to solicit aid for them. Mr. Warner says that the settlers are without supplies; that their wives and children are without clothing and that they can obtain no work. Unless they are speedily supplied with aid they will suffer from starvation and cold. The men must remain upon their land or forfeit their homestead rights.

FACTS OF THE MURDER.

Friends of the victim Tell of His Circumstances.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The police are satisfied that Leon Butler, arrested yesterday, knows more about the murder of Norman Wolcott of Trenton Falls, N. Y., than he cares to tell. Two women have been found who are sure they saw Butler walking the old gentleman toward where his body was afterwards struck by the switch engine.

A dispatch from Menasha, Wis., says: "Norman Wolcott, the man supposed to have been murdered in Chicago, was for thirty years a well-known and highly respected man here. He came to Menasha with his wife in 1854. In 1855 he identified himself with church work, founding and building the first Methodist church in the city in 1855. His profession was that of a veterinary surgeon. When his wife died he sold his property here and went to live with relatives at Trenton Falls, N. Y. "Recently his sister, Mrs. Henry Standen of this city, invited him to return and make his home at Menasha and he was on his way there when murdered in Chicago. It is thought here that he had considerable money in his possession."

AFFECTS THE NORTHWEST.

Central Traffic Association Laboring on Freight Rates.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—It is understood that Chairman Blanchard of the Central Traffic Association has been authorized to make a proposition to the effect that the Grand Trunk road will be allowed a differential of one and a half cents per 100 pound on dressed beef provided it will agree to restoration of rates between Chicago and the seaboard. Mr. Blanchard has had an interview with General Manager Hickson and it is almost certain that no agreement has been reached as yet.

The Grand Trunk in fighting the Lake Shore to maintain a differential of three cents per 100 pounds, has lowered the rate eighteen cents within a few months. Any agreement reached now it is asserted, would have to include not only the Grand Trunk but the Canadian Pacific also.

District V. M. C. A. Election.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Officers of the district V. M. C. A. in convention here were yesterday elected as follows: President, C. S. Palmer, Sioux Falls; first vice president, S. G. McConaghy, Duluth; second vice president, W. F. Finch, McCallister College; third vice president, Rev. John Eastman, Plandreau; fourth vice president, John Mills, Minneapolis; secretary, B. A. Shannon, Fairbault; assistant secretary, O. G. Boise, Hope, N. D.

THE TOWN OF ST. LOUIS.

What the Latest Suburb Has in a Manufacturing Way.

DETAIL OF ITS INDUSTRIES.

It Also Has Sawmills and Furniture Factories Besides What Has Been Told.

While the other townsites companies have been occupying the attention of the public for the past week, the St. Louis Land Improvement company has been saying but little, but it has done plenty of good work for the town of St. Louis. There are a number of natural features about the site which not only render the property valuable for townsites purposes, but aid materially in building a city.

No town can have a system of sewers or water works, but in this respect St. Louis is well adapted for the location of a city. By means of the ravines running from the high lands to the low lands, a perfect and practically inexpensive system of drains and sewers can be obtained, while at the same time streets of every grade can be constructed leading from the manufacturing to every part of the townsites. Pure water can also be obtained from numerous springs in the high land. The supply is inexhaustible and the water can be carried through pipes by the force of gravity to the tops of any of the factories to be located on the bottom lands.

The dock system as now laid out by Mr. Patton in the bay and running out to the river will give four miles of dock front, none of which will require dredging. The only thing required will be the deepening of the bay from three to five feet, in order to admit to its dock the largest lake vessels afloat.

ONE HUNDRED HAPPY CHILDREN.

They Enjoy a Long Conveyance and Park Drive This Morning.

Through the generosity of H. C. Kendall, the children of the Bethel Sunday school were treated to a ride around the boulevard this morning. Three large four-horse busses and several other vehicles accommodated over a hundred of the children and if anybody had any doubts about their enjoyment of the trip they need only to look into the bright happy faces of the boys and girls upon their return and all doubts would have been dispelled.

First the favor extended by Mr. Kendall was thoroughly appreciated not only by the children but by all friends of the Bethel goes without the saying, especially as they had been looking forward to the treat for six or eight weeks.

Duluth News: Already 255 persons have consulted with the librarians necessary to secure books from the public library.

A Narrow Escape.

READING, Pa., Oct. 25.—The Reading express train, in this morning, ran into three loaded freight cars on a siding near Pottstown. The coal cars were wrecked, and the engine fell on its side, while the tender telescoped the smoking car. The escape of the passengers from death was miraculous. Jos. Markowitz, who was on one of the coal cars was the only one killed.

GLASSMAKERS.

They Start a Manufacturing Company in Grand Rapids, Mich.

GRAND RAPIDS, Oct. 25.—H. Troyford of Chicago, John L. Pugh of Columbus, Ohio and O. C. Hawkes of Birmingham, England, all well-known glass manufacturers, are here to take preliminary steps to the establishment of a glass factory. This has been brought about by the formation of the glass trust.

The furniture manufacturers here rather than pay tribute to the trust, invited these capitalists to co-operate with local capital and begin manufacturing. They will manufacture all kinds of glass as well as beveling and silvering mirror plates, polishing glass and glass for putting on other furniture. The company has been organized with a capital stock of $100,000.

WORK OF A FIRE BUG.

The $300,000 Fire in Massachusetts Yesterday Caused by Incendiarist.

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—A Herald special from East Pepperville, Mass., says that the visitation of flame which desolated a large portion of that town yesterday, was the work of an incendiary is pretty well established. The wire which connected the burned factory fire alarm gong was cut, so that the signal gong could not be given until the fire gained great headway.

The hose used in Fairchild's was a was clogged up by stones, and the keyholes of the headquarters of the Northeast Engine company were plugged up, making it necessary to force the windows to get the apparatus out. No one understands the motive for the crime, if such it was.

ON THE OTHER FOOT.

Corrode & Saylor Sued by the Government for Stealing Pine.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—Joseph P. Egan, superintendent of a firm of railroad contractors of Reading, was arrested by a United States marshal and brought to the city. He and Francis H. Saylor and James H. Corrode bridge builders, are charged with trespassing upon government timber lands in Ontonagon township, Michigan, in April and August 1887, and cutting and removing pine trees, containing 300,000 feet of lumber valued at $1800. They were contractors on the building of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic road.

Not Born to Be Killed on a Railway.

MOONSVILLE, W. Va., Oct.—Governor Hill's special train on the Burlington & Quincy road was run into by the Chicago express just east of Moonsville station this morning. The only damage resulting to the governor's train was a demolished cowcatcher of the engine.

The other train had the engine and platform of car smashed.

The Heathenish Elects.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—At today's session the Locomotive Engineers elected the following officers: First grand engineer, T. S. Ingraham; second, D. Everett; third, Ash Kennedy of Winnipeg. A WESTERN INDUSTRY.

Senator Washburn Talks of the Sugar Beet.

HE HAS INVESTIGATED THE SUBJECT.

The Great Oxnard Refinery at Grand Island and Its Excellent Results.

Less than eight weeks ago the extensive manufacture of beet sugar in America began. The work already done shows most conclusively that this manufacture is not only feasible, but that it is to become an industry whose possibilities are yet undreamed. And that the Northwest is on the eve of a new development that will be a wondrous benefit to her farmers. Senator W. D. Washburn who has been an enthusiastic champion of the sugar beet, has just returned from the first beet refinery at Grand Island, Neb., and talked as follows to a Minneapolis Journal reporter:

"I am more than ever convinced," said the senator, "that the success of this industry is established beyond any possible question. The prospects are remarkably bright. There is no question in the world but that the manufacture of sugar from beets in this country has been established for all time. In my recent visit to Grand Island I made a thorough examination of the plant which has been put in there. It is a large plant, about $500,000 capital being invested. Mr. Oxnard who is one of the largest refiners in the country, told me that he had no doubt whatever but that plenty of capital would be forthcoming to introduce the manufacture into the Northwest. The beet-sugar beet, as it is called, takes in the greater part of Minnesota, the two Dakotas and portions of Iowa and Nebraska. In this belt beets suitable for sugar manufacture can be grown successfully, and the analyses show that there is a greater proportion of succharine matter in the American grown beets than in those grown in Austria or Germany. There the amount is from 12 to 14, while here it is from 15 to 16. The climate and soil, of course, have much to do with it, while the care of the beets is an important factor."

"What did you find as to the practical working of the Grand Island plant?"

"They are using at present 350 tons of beets per day. They turn out 60,000 pounds of the finest kind of sugar per day. This is all the very best grade, the fine refined white sugar. The machinery I found quite expensive, as it is very heavy and has to be imported."

"How would this affect the manufacture of sugar in Minnesota, this coarseness of machinery?"

"Well, I can answer your question in this way: You can get the best results in manufacturing flour from the most complete and most modern machinery. You can manufacture flour in a small mill with inadequate machinery, but you cannot get the results you do with the great mill. The same will hold true of the beet sugar manufacture. It costs a good deal to put in a plant with this improved machinery, but the results attained warrant it."

"How is it as to the farmer's side of the case?"

"The time has come," said the senator, in reply, and with much earnestness, "when there must be a change. We cannot depend upon wheat alone in Minnesota. We must learn not to carry all our eggs in one basket. The farmers find this enterprise very profitable. At Grand Island, for instance, they pay the farmers $3 per ton for beets that contain 12 per cent of succharine matter. Then they pay 25 cents for each additional per cent, $3.25 cents for beets with 13 per cent, $3.50 for 14, $3.75 for 15, $4 for 16. As the per cent of succharine matter depends a great deal upon the care taken in raising the beets it will be seen that there is a marked incentive to the farmer to pay much attention to the matter of cultivation. A low average for beets is 12½ tons per acre."

"Would it be feasible to ship the beets a long distance for manufacture?"

"No, it would not. The beets raised in Minnesota, for instance, should be manufactured in this state. The place of manufacture should be to the place of production. You will see by these figures I give you what a profit there is in the raising of beets to the farmer. As I have said the soil and climate of the greater part of Minnesota are adapted to the production of a fine beet with a large percentage of succharine matter."

"What portion of the year do the manufacturing run?"

"About four months, but as they run night and day during that time it is equivalent to eight months. There has been some experimenting with silos, storing the beets for manufacture the year round, but it has proven a very expensive method. As to the tariff, the removal of the duty is not relished by the sugar men, but the two cent bounty will aid the manufacturer and foster the industry."

"How soon do you look for the commencement of active operations in Minnesota?"

"Well, as to that I cannot say positively, but I think it is probable that there will be at least two manufacturing plants put in in this state next season. The reports as to the raising of beets from the seed which I have had sent out all over the state are just beginning to come in at the department in Washington. There will be analyses made also at the state experiment station. I have just received a letter today from Anoka from a party who put in some of the seed showing most excellent results."

Senator Washburn has been making an exhaustive study of this beet sugar question and he has become a most enthusiastic advocate of the enterprise. He has only encouraging words for the future.

Track to the Mallman Mine.
Vermilion Iron Journal: Last week a party of surveyors were engaged on the Masabi range surveying the route for the proposed spur to the Mallman mine from the Duluth & Iron Range road. It will be four miles long and Capt. James thinks will be built this fall, advancing as one reason the fact that the Mallman is to have new and larger machinery and at present has no means of getting it in on account of the poor roads. This spur also affords the Mallman the means of shipping and no doubt the time is near when it will be taken advantage of.

WHAT NEW DULUTH HAS

Announcement Made of Several New Industries.

A FINE SHOWING OF PUSH IS MADE.

A Half a Dozen Manufacturing Concerns That Have Not Been Noted Before.

But few new towns have started under more encouraging circumstances than New Duluth. Although the company was organized less than a year ago, yet on next Tuesday it will put its first division on the market, giving the certainty to investors that contracts have been signed, sealed and delivered with outside manufacturers that will give Duluth industries employing 1200 men. This the New Duluth company guarantees.

Work has already begun on the foundations and superstructures for some of these.

The Herald has already exclusively published information regarding five of these concerns. The first one to close with the Land company was the Atlas Iron and Brass works, an institution that will employ 200 men in operating a plant that will cost $75,000. The Advance Refrigerator company is another. Its plant will cost $75,000, its product being 30,000 refrigerators a year. The company will employ from the first 200 men, and already has a market for its output. One of the most substantial companies organized to do business at New Duluth is the Holmes Pripod Boiler company. This plant will cost over $80,000, over 200 men being given employment. It will manufacture the celebrated Hazleton boiler, one of the most valuable patents of the kind in existence. The fourth deal to be successfully negotiated was with the Herman Beckinger & Co. Herman Furniture company of St. Paul. This is a large concern turning out a valuable product of furniture of all grades. The company brings its own machinery here from St. Paul, but its plant will cost $65,000. In conjunction with the factory a saw mill will be run, capable of sawing 6,000,000 feet of hardwood timber each year. Fred Herman, indirectly connected with this company, will build a hardwood finish, sash, door and blind factory, to cost over $10,000 and to employ sixty men.

Among the new concerns that The Herald announces today for the first time is the Lancaster Buggy company, now doing business in Lancaster, Ohio. This company has a large and established market for its product, which consists of buggies, trucks, drays, etc. The foundation for the building will begin this fall, and the superstructure completed next spring. The plant is to cost between $25,000 and $35,000, and will furnish work for over 100 men. The Duluth Furniture company is a recently-organized institution. C. B. Holmes, the Chicago millionaire, being president, the other members coming from Duluth. The company is capitalized at $250,000 and its plant will cost about $100,000. This company will turn out furniture of as fine grade as that from any of the Grand Rapids, Mich. factories. The foundations will be put in this fall and the building finished and regular work begun in the spring of 1891.

The company has also closed with four small industries to employ in the aggregate 110 men. But these institutions have some solid men back of them and are of the kind that have scope for constant growth. Two of these concerns will manufacture notions and a patent roofing, another is a machine and repair shop and the fourth will turn out a patent article. But by far the most important of the New Duluth manufacturing concerns are the three lumber mills which the Land company has located at Mud Lake. Two of these mills will be run by Wisconsin lumbermen, the third coming from Michigan. The foundation for the Michigan mill will begin in November, the superstructure, as with the case of the Wisconsin concerns, to be finished and all things ready for sawing next season. The Michigan mill will be equipped with a circular and a gang saw, and can turn out 20,000,000 feet each year. The largest of the mills will have one gang and two circular saws, and its annual capacity will be about 25,000,000 feet. The smallest mill will have one circular. The three plants will cost over $150,000, and will employ several hundred men. It is possible, too, that C. M. Hill will build a mill at New Duluth.

With these fourteen assured industries, employing something like 2000 men, New Duluth will at once take a place as one of the important suburban towns of this city.

Pope Pius IX. Expelled

The Voice of Masonry some years ago, published the following, and to those who never heard of the occurrence it will prove a matter of interest, as setting forth the fact that Pope Pius IX. was at one time a member of the craft, and was expelled from the order for perjury:

"At the semi-annual meeting of the Grand lodge of Masons, Scottish Rite of the Orient of Palermo, Italy, on March 27 last, Pope Pius IX. was expelled from the order. The decree of expulsion was published in the official Masonic paper at Cologne, Germany, and as preceded by the minutes of the lodge in which he was initiated, and is as follows: "A man named Mastai Ferretti, who received the baptism of Freemasonry, and solemnly pledged his love and fellowship, and who afterwards was crowned Pope and King, under the title of Pius Nono, and who cursed his former brethren and excommunicated all members of the Order of Freemasons, therefore, said Mastai Ferretti is herewith, by the decree of the Grand Lodge of the Orient, Palermo, expelled from the order for perjury."

The charges against him were first preferred in his lodge at Palermo, in 1863, and notification and copy thereof sent to him, with request to attend the lodge for the purpose of answering the same. To this he made no reply, and, for diverse reasons, the charges were not pressed until he urged the bishops of Brazil to act aggressively against the Freemasons. They then were pressed, and, after a regular trial, a decree of expulsion was entered and published, the same being signed by Victor Immanuel, King of Italy and grand master of the Orient of Italy.

NEWS ABROAD.

A Long Budget of Condensed and Interesting Cablegrams from the European Continent.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The trial of Baron Noldi at St. Petersburg, on charges of forgery and appropriating the sum of more than 2,000,000 roubles is still in progress. The baron belongs to one of the first families of the aristocracy. Two weeks ago the baroness journeyed to Spain, and, throwing herself at the feet of the Empress, implored pardon for her husband. The Empress, who was greatly affected, was inclined to favor the plea, but the Czar proved inflexible. Two hundred witnesses have been examined and 300 more are on the list. Several high personages of the Imperial court, and some of whom are very close to the Czar, have been shown to be implicated.

The last of the pearl button manufacturers of Birmingham suspends operations today as the result of the American tariff bill. Of the ten that were running six weeks ago, it was hoped that it would be able to weather the storm, but it has been deluged with letters cancelling orders. Three thousand male and female employees are thrown out of work, without the slightest prospect of a resumption of business until spring.

One of the most prominent of the Protestant Episcopal ministers of Ireland, the Rev. Dr. William Irwin, has been found guilty by the diocesan court appointed by the bishop of Londonderry on the charge of winning the affections of one of his parishioners, a minor, by giving her presents, meeting her in secret, kissing her, etc. The bishop has suspended him from the exercise of all clerical functions.

Dr. Ernest Kay, one of the most eminent medical men of Sweden and a noted writer on sociology, has submitted a report to the government in which he declares that the girls of Sweden who go in for the higher courses of study and who aim in the direction of passing the highest examinations are the "unwholesomest" of all girls. Of 3072 school girls whom he has examined since the beginning of the year, 61 per cent were ill or presented the symptoms of chronic illness. From these results he argues that too much schooling is planting disease among the mothers of the next generation.

The decree of the imperial court relating to the status of female medical practitioners in Russia goes into effect on Monday morning. Under it female doctors are allowed to practice freely in all parts of the empire, but are compelled to wear a certain decoration denoting their profession. They are granted the special right of practicing in all institutions, gymnasiums and schools for young ladies, as well as in all benevolent establishments and hospitals for women. They are also given the privilege of practicing in hospitals, dispensaries and ambulances belonging to the Zemstvos, and are exempted from the obligations imposed by law upon their male colleagues of attending when called upon as experts in criminal trials.

Tomorrow is the 90th birthday of Field Marshall Count Von Moltke, but the national celebration in honor of the event commenced today at Berlin. The distinguished warrior arrived here this morning escorted by Count von Waldersee, chief of staff of the German army. Tonight there will be a grand fête with a torchlight procession in which 100,000 people will participate. By special direction of the Emperor all the military bands will be allowed to assist. The city will be magnificently illuminated, there will be 20,000 torch bearers in the procession. The festivities will be continued tomorrow while Monday will be a national holiday.

ON TO VICTORY.

No republican paper has space enough to take up every stone of abuse which has been slung at the republican administration of this country and state and smash it to powder with the hammer of fact. Sample stones enough have been smashed to show any fair-minded man what the democratic and alliance artillery amounts to. Glaring misstatements, malignant scandals, and delusive pretences are the stock in their camps, fired away with a great clatter of sound and fury and bursting in air.

The republican party is the party which has lifted up this country for the past thirty years, and its work speaks for itself. Look at the country today! Compare it with any other country on the face of the globe, and then denounce the work of the republican party, if you dare, in the face of this magnificent showing. The Herald would be content for one simply to point to it. An exhibit so stupendous of progress and attainment testifies of its makers as no words can and may rely on the common sense of the American people to justly appreciate it and laugh to scorn the belittlers of the work.

So we have no thought of a campaign of defense. Let the stones rattle and stamp speakers howl! The truth of fact, the grandeur of achievements are invulnerable. To the nation the republican party has given a success unparalleled. It stands today for the assured continuance of that success. It stands for the protection of every man, woman and child in this country in their constitutional rights without regard to race, color or previous condition rank. It stands for the fair and strong enforcement of every law of the nation. It stands for majority rule, without which a republic is an abortion. It stands for the government of the American people by the American people. And for these things, vital to the republic and of supreme concern to every true American no other party stands. What American then should doubt for a moment where he will stand when election day calls on him to choose?

To this state individually as well as to the nation, republican party control has given advancement which it will be hard to match anywhere else in the Union. How astonishing has been the increase in population, in production, in developed resources; and in the Union, which this year's census holds up in plain view. Where shall we turn for reasons for a change? As surely not to the froth pots on the stump. All that has been said and can be said falls flat in face of the patent fact that Governor Merriam has given this state on the whole an excellent business administration which needs no defence, and justifies its own continuance. Despite all froth in the mouth, it will be continued, and the republican state ticket will head the polls in November.

The Herald is doing a rushing business for advertisers as it sixteen-page edition today witnesses, all coming in the regular course without any worked-up special edition attractions. Come on. The Herald will put every cent paid out in this city for advertising where it will do the most good to the advertiser, and every cent so put out makes a better paper for the readers too. How is today's Evening Herald for three cents.

The lies that are being told about the tin-plate schedule are a fair sample of the weapons employed against the bill throughout. It is alleged, for instance, that the increased woolen and linen duties will inevitably raise prices upon the consumer. Now, it is plain, as the committee which speaks for the framers, says that they can have that effect, if they have it at all, only upon those varieties of goods on which increased duties have been imposed. Those varieties are only the finer grades, such as persons of large incomes will use. The duties have not been raised, but lowered instead, upon the ordinary grades such as are in common use, and the prices of these cannot possibly go up, because the market for them is already in the possession of American manufacturers. The effort of this bill in all its departments is to recover to our people markets that they have lost, and to obtain for them new markets into which they have not hitherto sought an entrance.

Rev. M. F. Gjertsen, who has just been stumpng Wisconsin for the Bennett law and American cause, reports that the democratic union of the nation is going on in a high old style. "The democrats are working like beavers, flooding the whole state with a law in English, German and Norwegian, and which contain the most open and unadulterated lies about the Bennett law. These tend to create entirely wrong and false impressions among some classes of foreigners. For instance, in a pamphlet printed in the Norwegian language the following barefaced assertions appear: That the Bennett law forbids pupils leaving the public school for one day to attend divine service on Good Friday; that it forbids them to be absent to attend the funeral of their mother or the wedding of a sister. These are very fair samples of the lies circulated from democratic headquarters to create prejudice against the law." We should think that the campaign in that state would turn all but the toughest stomachs in the party.

THE LEGEND OF THE LILY.

(Boston Transcript.)
 Once, long ago, when earth was young and fair,
 Ere yet the stain of sin had dimmed its light,
 An angel, wandering down from regions bright,
 With God's own presence, sought a blossom rare.
 A pure and spotless flower that he might bear
 In triumph back to that far heavenly height,
 And lay in homage in his master's sight
 Before the great white throne, and thus declare
 His love and worship. Long he sought in vain.
 Fair were the flowers of earth, their perfume sweet;
 But all their gaudy colors were not meet
 For his high purpose, and the flower he fair
 Would find must stand forth without spot or stain.

Of color—in its purity complete,
 Sadly he wept, and falling to his feet,
 Down dropped the crystal tears in gentle rain.
 Then, lo! a radiant flower of snow-white hue,
 Fed by those tears, sprung up, and with a song
 The angel gathered it, and sped along
 The dewy plains of earth, then straightway flew
 To heaven's transcendent gates, and passing through,
 He mingled with the white-robed, shining throng
 Of spirits, praising God in anthems strong.
 And at God's feet he laid his offering true.
 Then said his Master, "For this zeal of thine,
 And fervor, through the world this flower shall grow."
 And sinful man shall look on it and know
 How weak is his poor service, and incline
 His heart to purer thoughts, and work divine.
 So on this world, made dark by sin and woe,
 Like unto his own tender smile, so we below,
 Forever does the spotless lily shine.

AFFAIRS OF SPORTS.

A Ball Crank Writes The Herald an Official Letter.

IN THE ASSOCIATION NEXT YEAR.

That Appears to be the Program; Billiard Tournaments and Talk; Other Sports.

SO FAR AS theatrical attractions are concerned Temple opera will be closed until Nov. 3, when Scanlan, the comedian, in popular Irish romantic comedies, will appear for a two nights' engagement. After Scanlan come Mark's International Vaudeville, one of the best entertainments of its kind on the road. The house will then remain dark for a week, during which time extensive alterations—and for the better—will be made. In the first place that unpleasant current of air, that chills the enthusiasm of the audience and gives colds and headaches to the people who go to the Temple to enjoy themselves, will be done away with, for storm doors and windows will be put in, and the auditorium made, if possible, as warm, cozy and comfortable as a home parlor.

In the second place, the seats are arranged at present on a plan that gives only discomfort and cramps to the habitués of the place. This serious defect will be remedied by taking out one or two entire rows and rearranging the whole parquet and parquet circle. Some capricious people—they may indeed have but small mind for the artistic—are prone to find fault with the draping of the boxes, saying that there is a palpable incongruity between the hangings and the ornamental effects and warm, rich tints of the walls, ceilings, etc., and that the drapings look like the product of a refractory shop. These assertions may be right, at any rate the Temple managers presume they are, and are therefore going to redrape the boxes and railings. Designs from the hands of experienced drapers are now being considered. Over 250 more electric lights are to be put on the auditorium and on the stage. Another improvement will be the turning of the managers' office into a cloak and check room, such an apartment having long been needed. The stage properties and scenery will also receive attention for the better. And while Temple Opera is at present, as Mrs. Frank Leslie says, one of the costliest and prettiest theaters in America, it will have still other appointments to carry out the truth of this remark.

Harry Doty is at the door for Manager Miller, and with Joe Christy, the former custodian of tickets, in the same position at the Lyceum, no man in the country will be better equipped in this respect.

Manager Miller's time is fully occupied looking after the improvements that are being made in the Temple, looking attractions and directing the occupations of a half-dozen men. He says that not one bad attraction will find its way to the stage of the theater.

Manager Haycock of the Lyceum is already up to the eyes in business with his new house. His bookings show some gr at attractions, and he will spend much of his time this winter in New York looking up others.

NEW YORK LETTER.

The Largest Stage in the World; Theatrical Notes and Successes.

New York, Oct. 24.—[Special correspondence of the Herald.]—New York is to have soon the largest stage in the world. Messrs. Gilmore and Tompkins propose to remodel the Academy, and for that purpose they have purchased Nilsen hall. When rearranged, the stage will face Fourteenth street, on which thoroughfare will also be erected a number of handsome entrances. The change will also enlarge the stage. It is the desire of the Academy's executives to have the largest stage in the world, and when "The Old Homestead" returns next season, opportunity will be afforded to present on the stage a large slice of Denmark Thompson's farm.

The Casino has swung into line with another success. The music of "Poor Jonathan" is hummed on all sides. Rudolph Aronson's experiment in presenting a modern dressed opera in the house of fanciful costumes has been productive of happy results, and a score or more of enthusiasts have written him letters of congratulation upon the success of the new departure. Lillian Russell, by her artistic efforts in this opera, has more firmly cemented her hold upon the public. Since the first night there has not been a dull moment at the box office.

Agnes Huntington began the third week of her engagement at the Broadway theater on Monday evening in "Paul Jones." The theater has been well filled at every performance.

That the present engagement of the Kendalls in this city will be fully as successful as that of last season, is already assured. Their performance of "The Squire" has been witnessed by a succession of audiences as large as the Fifth avenue theater could accommodate. Their stay in this city is limited, and the advance sale of seats indicates that there will be few vacant places at any performance.

There would seem to be no limit to the ingenuity exercised in theatrical advertising. Besides the general display of Swaney pumpkins in the shop windows of New York to advertise the "Old Homestead" at the Academy, the management have caused to be nailed broadcast over the city and suburbs thousands of common wooden shingles bearing a similar imprint. "A High Roller," which goes on tour next season, is being popularized just as ingeniously. Thousands of huge toy balloons are being sent rolling heavenward, each bearing several hundred dodgers, which, by a clever device, are released thousands of feet above terra firma and wafted earthward in every direction.

The Opera.

"The Khedive," a new comic opera by Louis and Miah Blake and Harry B. Edwards, is shortly to be produced at New Orleans.

According to sworn testimony given in legal proceedings the other day, Mr. W. S. Gilbert has received £30,000 in eleven years as his share of the profits of the London Savoy theatre.

Franklin Aus der Ohe's season begins in San Francisco on Nov. 18. She will give a number of recitals in the West—Chicago and some Michigan towns—before that date.

It is stated that M. Maurel will next year undertake a starring engagement in this country, playing the leading parts in such operas as "Zampa," "Le Songe d'une Nuit d'Été," "Don Giovanni" and "Rigoletto."

Campanini is in New York again, minus that tumor, and his doctor says with a voice as pure and sweet as ever. He has washed his hands of concert tours, and hopes ere long to have a chance of reappearing in opera. If he can come to terms with some manager it is not impossible we may hear him this winter with Mlle. De Vere in "Lucia."

The Drama.

Victorien Sardou has turned his 60th year, and Sarah Bernhardt has begun to dye her hair.

London takes kindly to Bronson Howard's comedy, which American playgoers know as "Hurricanes," but the English title of which is "Truth."

The Queen of Roumania has joined the noble army of playwrights. She is responsible for a poetic tragedy, founded on a romantic legend of her country.

Rhea was among the arrivals by the Gasconne last Sunday. She opened with "Josephine" in Troy on Wednesday. The play is to be done into French and produced, with Rhea in the title part, in France, Belgium and Holland.

Rehearsals of Augustus Thomas' new play, "Reckless Temple," in which Maurice Barrymore is to make his first appearance as a star at the Standard theater Oct. 27, are well under way.

It is related that on the first night in Paris of "Camille" by the younger Dumas, the elder author of that name attracted considerable attention by his obvious excitement. During one of the between acts a diplomatic friend, thinking to flatter the old gentleman, said: "Ah, Monsieur Dumas, there's some of your work in this piece." "Yes," was the reply, "the author of it is my work."

AN INTERNATIONAL OFFENSE.

A Too-Enterprising Sporting Club May Have Trouble.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 25.—Robert Sullo a 15-year-old boy, went across the river Monday and began shooting duck in the St. Clair flats. Notwithstanding the fact that he was outside the preserve of the Toronto club, the game keeper arrested him and carried him to the Toronto club house. He was kept in confinement for the night and in the morning taken to Port Lambton where the gentlemen sportsmen attempted to secure a warrant against him for poaching. The justice refused to consider the case.

The boy was then taken to Port Sarnia, and after much persuasion, a justice was induced to proceed against Sullo to the tune of a $10 fine with $15 costs.

The American residents are greatly excited over the matter. Sullo, Sr., is advised that it is a plain case of kidnapping, and is determined to be redressed, even if he has to call in the assistance of the secretary of the state.

GOOD TIMES.

Dun's Commercial Agency Says Business Is Good.

New York, Oct. 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "Business continues large in volume and generally profitable. In many branches there is noteworthy expansion on account of the new opportunities which the revised tariff gives. The most important industries are doing well. The iron business is hesitating, because the unprecedented consumption is apparently overmatched by unprecedented production, and Bessemer iron is weak at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. But the demand for all finished productions continues so large that the capacity of mills seems to be strained to the utmost, and while no advance in prices is reported, the market is everywhere strong. Markets for breadstuffs continue to advance."

THROUGH A BRIDGE.

A Train Loaded With Precious Freight Is Wrecked.

DEBUCQUE, Iowa, Oct. 25.—Freight train No. 7 on the Illinois Central railroad, loaded with grain and horses from the Independence races at 5:30 last night, went through an iron bridge at Center Grove.

The bridge was being reconstructed and fifty men were at work. Robert Keatly, a 15-year-old son of the bridge watchman, was caught in crashing timbers and killed. Five others were injured: Dan Dougherty, Hugh Connors and John Wolfe of Chicago, and Miles Winters and Jerry McGowan of Dubuque.

CHANGES IN THE TEMPLE.

Of the Unique and Pleasant Changes to be Made.

THE LARGEST STAGE IN THE WORLD.

Such Will be in the Garden Theater, New York; Theatrical News.

MAYBE IT sounds a trifle chestnut to again spring the question of a ball team for Duluth for 1891 and succeeding years, but the fact that a move looking toward a club is in progress is itself good evidence that there is still abundant interest in the matter.

The Herald has received from a well known lover of the game the following letter which it gladly prints:

To the Editor of The Herald:

Does Duluth desire representation in any of the baseball associations next season? If she does it is strongly probable that a place can be made for her in the Western association. Kansas City or Milwaukee will be put next year on the American circuit and this will leave a vacancy in the association.

I speak officially when I say that Duluth can be associated with the Western clubs for the season of 1891, should it so wish.

Mr. Jay Anderson has been the best patron of legitimate sports Duluth has had, and he is working to put Duluth on the roster of the Western association.

He has already done much correspondence to this end, and the answers he has received from the association's officials clearly give hope that Duluth will be offered a place. Indeed, word to this effect came to Mr. Anderson from an official of the Western organization entirely unsolicited. And on the strength of this he has been looking around for a site for a baseball and driving park.

The most favorable location he has found is the piece of level land near Twenty-seventh avenue west owned by M. B. Harrison. This piece is plenty large enough for the purpose, and its freedom from gullies or inequalities of surface render it perfect for such service.

Mr. Anderson is very enthusiastic over the outlook, and declares that Duluth shall have a club next year. Is there any reason why we shouldn't? J. B.

Billiards.

Billiards is bound to be popular this winter. The country all over and Duluth no exception, is talking of professional and amateur matches, and not a city will lack for amusement of this kind. Local interest centers in the match to be played next month by Billy Tole, the expert manager of the Spalding billiard room and Jule Meyer who claims the championship of the Northwest. Tole challenged Meyer through the St. Paul Globe yesterday, and the "defi" has been met by Eugene Bensinger, proprietor of the Standard house, St. Paul. He will back Meyer for two games at $250 each, one to be played in St. Paul the other in Duluth. This offer Tole will probably accept. Meyer is an old player, having been clicking the ivory for the past twenty-five years.

Tole came here from Milwaukee, and is one of the coming players of the West. Runs of 150 and 200 are ordinary occurrences with him, and his practice work is usually watched by lovers of the game, who assemble in the evening at the Spalding room. Tole and Meyer will play an 8-inch balk line game. Tole is playing a strong game, and Meyer must knock out more counts than he ever did before to win.

It is the intention of Manager Tole to institute a series of amateur pool matches. Several of the best players in town will be picked out, classified and the best handicapped. Prizes in the shape of umbrellas, scarf pins, canes and the like will be the incentives for good play.

National Jockey Club.

New York, Oct. 25.—The dinner to be given by Mr. Pierre Lorillard at the Union club on Oct. 30, to which all the turf magnates of this country have been invited, may lead to the organization of a jockey club similar to the one that governs racing in England. Among the gentlemen who will be present are: August Belmont, D. D. Withers, J. G. K. Lawrence, De Courcy Forbes, John Hunter, Captain Carter, J. G. Heckscher, W. K. Vanderbilt, L. L. Lorillard, Col. Kip, Col. Scott and Leonard Jerome.

THE STATE PRESS.

Polk County Journal: It is true that the farmers lack for money to pay for big speeches and to get up a big burrah, but they will always be poor for these things and everything else until they learn to do as other business men do—attend to their own business.

Mankato Free Press: Bill Erwin had better revise his figures on the Owen vote in the Second district or people will soon believe that he has deliberately lied.

New Richland North Star: The Midway News after many years of close observation arrives at the conclusion that Thomas Wilson is a "rich, shrewd, unscrupulous, sly and sanctimonious hypocrite." One of those fellows, perhaps, who can smile, and smile—and steal the ivory of heaven to serve a railroad corporation in.

St. James Journal: The governments of Europe are tumbling over each other to assure the United States that they wish to negotiate reciprocal treaties with this country. Reciprocity is bound to win, and the McKinley bill will hasten the day when our desire for more extended commercial relations with foreign countries will be consummated.

THE UNITY CONFERENCE

Temple Opera Meeting of the Church Last Night.

REV. M. J. SAVAGE ON UNITARIANISM.

The Program Carried Out Today and the Meetings Stated for Sunday.

At last evening's session of the Unitarian conference the chief d'ouee was an address by Rev. Minot J. Savage of Boston, one of the most noted preachers of the doctrine. Previous to the evening service officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President Judge L. W. Collins, St. Paul; vice-president, Rev. Mr. Lundberg; secretary and treasurer, W. L. Chapin; missionary committee, Rev. Messrs. Staples, Jansen and Crothers. The president and secretary were named as delegates to the Unitarian convention in Chicago next week, and Rev. Eliza Wilkes and Rev. S. M. Crothers as alternates.

At the evening session Judge Stearns presided and Mr. Savage spoke to a fair audience. He said he was a stranger to Minnesota, "I would count it honor if I could do the slightest thing to lay the foundations of the religious and moral life of a great people. Those in the old churches who are at rest in their religious beliefs are those who have not studied, who do not think and who have not inquired." A prominent Congregational clergyman said not long ago that he had not read a book written since the seventeenth century. Among those touched by modern thought are two classes. First, men who believe that religion is passing away, a thing of the past. Then there are thousands who are glad that it is not dying out, but are afraid that it will. They are afraid to think or have others think, or to have the foundations of their faith investigated. Now it has always seemed to me that the fear by these people of investigation is the only infidelity that anyone need account of. That is not belief. That is doubt, fear.

What is it that has disturbed our old faiths that we could not remain in the old creeds in which we were trained? I was brought up in a Congregational seminary and began to preach as an orthodox minister. What has compelled me to change? We are living in the most remarkable age, religiously, that the world has ever seen, and are part of the greatest revolution that humanity has ever experienced. It is a change which involves not only a new universe, but a new conception of God, a new conception of man, and a new theory of human destiny. First, touching our estimate of the Bible, I was taught to believe that doubts of its infallibility was a sign of depravity. The Bible is the book of the most civilized of barbarous peoples. God was in it from the first to the last but he was out of it just as well. We no longer believe in the infallibility of the Bible. Then we have a new universe. Where now is the old hell just beneath our feet and the throne upon which God sits just a little distance away from us? But by this I don't think we have lost God—we have found him. He is not so far away. He is here. There is a new man also, and it is the ascent of man we are to believe in. Adam and Eve are mythical.

"The old theory of the universe, making up what is called the scheme of salvation, is rejected now. God did not make a world to wreck it. With all reverence I say that if I believed that theory I would be compelled not to praise God but to execrate him for his injustice. We cannot hold these theories, and so we have come to be what we are."

Today there were devotional exercises and reports from the denomination's missionary field. Tomorrow's program is: 10:45 a. m., First church, Rev. Grindall Reynolds, Boston, secretary American Unitarian association; 11 a. m., City Hall, West Duluth, Rev. Eliza T. Wilkes, Luverne; 11 a. m., hall, West Superior, Rev. J. H. Crocker, Madison; 8 p. m., platform meeting, the Liberal church at Temple Opera house, with these subjects of discussion: "What is its Reason for Being?" by Rev. H. M. Simmons; "What Does it Seek to Accomplish?" by Rev. J. H. Crocker; "What Does it Demand of its Members?" by Rev. Eliza T. Wilkes; "What Does it Give to the World?" by Rev. Grindall Reynolds.

NOT PLEASANT.

The Outlook for "Wild" Ore Carriers is Bad; the Menominee Route; Escanaba's Ore Shipments.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 25.—The Marine Review says: A great deal has been said of late regarding new boats for the Menominee Transit company and the Schlesinger mining syndicate, whose ore will be carried by that company. The Globe Iron Works company of Cleveland is at work on five boats for the Menominee company, a sixth, the Norman, being already in commission, but as was said when the contract was let, this fleet will not be sufficient to carry all of the ore of the Schlesinger mines, and more will be built.

The Menominee Transit company is controlled by the Messrs. Hanna, who are also connected with the Globe company in the construction of the ships. The Schlesinger syndicate, having big projects on hand involving millions, agree with the Transit company and builders to take the boats by redeeming in a specified short period of years bonds that are issued for their construction. The bonds bear a satisfactory rate of interest and are readily disposed of. The fleet of six boats to be placed in commission next spring will be capable of carrying little more than the product of the Chapin mines, and more boats will be needed later on, but when they are built, the work will be done on the same plan. The Schlesinger scheme means a great deal to the lake.

The fact that not a single wild boat has been chartered this season for ore from Two Harbors is sufficient to give some idea of the unsatisfactory condition of business. No boats have been chartered from Two Harbors for the reason that the shippers took contract tonnage enough last fall to more than cover the output of that mining district. They have even been compelled to charter the boats to other shippers for single trips at odd times. While it must be admitted that the estimates of the Minnesota shippers were in excess of their output, this same condition is also true of other ports, and there are no signs of a change with the close of the season. Grain freights out of Duluth show no signs of helping matters, the movement being even lighter than at this time a week ago. Coal shippers are unable to get a sufficient supply of coal, and there have been more boats than cargoes right along. Rates are unchanged.

Escanaba Ore Output.

ESCANABA, Oct. 25.—It is hardly probable that the ore shipments from here will reach the 4,000,000 tons this season expected. Only 3,152,542 tons have gone forward, but the season is rapidly drawing to a close, not more than four or five weeks remaining, and during the latter part of the season it is more difficult to handle ore on account of cold weather. The strike at Leiseping materially interfered with shipments. For about two weeks comparatively few trains were on the north end; generally there are about fifteen trains, but during the fortnight the number was reduced down to two or three, and when it is considered that each train represents about 500 tons you will readily comprehend what effect it had on shipments. The weekly output is about 102,000 tons, which, with five weeks more of favorable weather will bring the total up to over 3,500,000.

THE WAY TO THE HEART THROUGH THE PURSE

The surest way to a man's good will is through his pocket book. Give him a tip on a good thing and he becomes your friend. We got a fast hold on the public's good will by saving them dollars. We went to their hearts through their pocket books. The high-price clothiers wonder how we've grown so rapidly and blossom forth so brightly. Our business tree is nurtured by the fountain of reliability. Every limb bears buds of economy. The continued bribe business (a small profit on many sales) makes our business profitable and saves the clothing buyers many dollars.

Ask to see our $10 Fall Top Coat. A considerable quantity of them. You'll be content with the overcoat and the price.

We believe we've got the majority in Black Cheviot suit buyers. Our qualities are right. They're always selling $15 and $16 is enough for a reliable Cheviot Suit that you can tie to for wear and color. More making right along and everybody's size. All sorts of cool weather clothing ready and don't cost much.

OF MATTERS POLITICAL

The Triumvirate Will Speak Here November 1.

WHITEMAN AND WILBUR ON THURSDAY.

A Few General Local Notes Gathered in the Political Headquarters.

A member of the Fifth district congressional committee who was in the city today reports that while majorities are going to be cut down in a good many cases there is not the question of a doubt about the election of the entire republican state ticket as well as Comstock. Halvorson, he says, will secure quite a large vote in the western part of the district and Whiteman will probably carry Stearns and Morrison, but he will make no gains in the west, and Comstock will be elected, but by a smaller majority than two years ago.

The meeting at Temple Opera this evening gives every indication of being a rousing republican rally. There will be plenty of good music by Walker's band and speeches by Hon. Herman Stockenstrom and Capt. Joseph Osborne of St. Paul, the latter in Swedish.

The greatest political meeting of the campaign will be held at the Temple on the night of Nov. 1. Governor Merriam, Hon. C. K. Davis and Hon. S. G. Comstock will form a mighty triumvirate of speakers.

Knute Nelson is suffering from a severe attack of quinsy, but it is probable that he will be able to speak in Duluth next week. Physical inability will be the only thing that will interfere. Hon. Mark D. Willard and A. J. Whiteman will speak at Temple opera next Thursday evening.

D. J. Sinclair is gaining votes every day. Disgraced republicans and a number of democrats are beginning to see that his opponent has bitten a larger portion of the political apple than he has any right to claim.

THE BETHEL.

It Elects Officers and Transacts the Business of its Annual Meeting.

At the annual meeting of the Duluth Bethel society, held yesterday afternoon Directors A. W. Bradley, W. S. Woodbridge and L. Mendenhall, were re-elected, while Page Morris, H. H. Hanford and J. J. Eklund were added as new directors. Officers for the next year will be: W. S. Woodbridge, president; A. W. Bradley, vice president; M. O. Hall, treasurer, and W. C. White, secretary.

The executive committee will be Messrs. White, L. A. Marvin and M. J. Carpenter. H. M. Peyton, H. M. Peyton, Messrs. Hall and Woodbridge. A letter to the public has been prepared, giving the work of the year. As this work has been fully noted in The Herald from time to time no publication of the letter is needed.

The terrible suffering and the pitiful condition of the working classes throughout the country, so easily traced to the acts of that fiend in human form known as Thomas B. Reed of Maine, who has been very properly called by a free, fearless, but perpetually outraged press, the Czar of America, leads us to inquire what is a czar and whether we are tending. If I had been told forty years ago that amid the citron groves and spruce gum vineyards of Mount Katahdin, or in some clover enameled pasture of the mighty Pine Tree State, a great big coarse czar would be born, whose influence would be felt throughout Europe and as far back as Rome City, Ind., I would have hesitated in selecting Maine as a site for my own birthplace.

REASONING WITH REED.

Had I known that there, where beneficent sunshine woos from its hiding place the scarlet which mantles to the brow of the wintergreen berry, and where the crystal sap of the sassafras tree comes forth to gladden the heart and stimulate the salivary glands of nations yet unborn; that in the quiet of some hotbed of shingles, where the white birch spool is made, or where the scream of the sawmill or the snore of the shingle mill salutes the balsam burdened air, would spring up, with blood in his eye and side whiskers on his front teeth, a cruel and corpulent czar who would enjoy biting old people, I would have controlled myself and been born elsewhere.

Maine is the hotbed of progress and American freedom. Everything in Maine is free except the man. The work of giving to the colored man the divine right of voting, as he was requested, was inaugurated and assisted in Massachusetts, which was then a part of Maine. Freedom has always been a characteristic of Maine—freedom to be, to do or to suffer; freedom to be born there and then go west to grow up with the country; freedom to remain there and behave one's self or go away to some other state; freedom to fish, cut, bail or go ashore, and freedom to utilize her hallowed precincts as a birth place, provided they be returned in good order as when first received.

It is, then, to me a most serious and a most bitter truth that comes to me now knocking for admittance at the storm door of my recently retitled and refurbished temple of reason. It is the great sorrow of a lifetime to know that in Maine, where the only true, deep and earnest dried apple pie of the great work-a-day world was first discovered, there should arise a middle-aged czar with a knout in one hand and an ox gad in the other, at the end of which is a sharp brad three-fourths of an inch in length.

And what is it to be a Czar? Ask of the blood-spattered history of Europe, where you can never even trust a hen to lay for you a pure and noble egg. Ask that man whose life is telegraphed in shivering fears and the chilling horror that even his own long trusted hens must be watched lest they insert some deadly poison in an egg while preparing it for use. Ask him at night as he cooks his own supper over a kerosene lamp because he dare not trust the hand of his slave. Ask him as he unlaces his sheet iron corset and hangs it on a chair, or jumps into his Mosler folding bed and screws the copper coverlet down so that people cannot stab him in the night. Ask him as he runs his eye carefully over this column which I am now writing, and then blows it out by means of his mucus-laden roller and a handful of black sand, regardless of a deep and earnest kick of our entire list of shocked and outraged subscribers in his empire!

This is not in the nature of a threat, but in order to lead up to the great question whither are we tending. Is the time coming when one man is to have the responsibility of this mighty government upon his shoulders? Is the day at hand when one man will have to be responsible and have to personally pay all the bills of the government? Are we to be ruled by one man who will not even allow us to think a disrespectful thought of him without danger of the knout?

Think of the time, dear reader, if it must come, when a nice, pleasant old gentleman like Mr. Holman of Indiana, may become the parent of a disrespectful thought regarding the Czar. I fancy I can see William now, brought forcibly along the aisle, clutching eagerly and yet impotently at the desks and clothing of members as he is dragged to the desk of the speaker, with his tongue hanging out like that of a hunted stag at a stag party. Then in fancy I see him compelled to remove his Prince Albert coat and vest, and then remove sufficient of his shirt so that the Czar can get at it with his knout! Then I hear the loud and echoing plunk of the knout as it descends upon the spinal xylophone of the great Objector!

Oh, it is too terrible to think of! It is too sad to anticipate! Let us hope that the day may be longer in coming than some of the papers go on to state.

What is the general tendency of the hour in other countries? Is it not toward the dissolution of empires and the disruption of dynasties? Most assuredly it is. Moreover, the monarchs themselves are not at all feeling well. The King of Holland is quite ill. His vicarious instead of doing him good seem to be productive of ill in the stomach. He is often heard to wish that he was dead, and his staff have promised, so far as possible, to gratify his every wish.

The King of Spain is a brunette glutton from quite a distance up the creek. He founders himself almost every day, and then murmurs because he can contain no more. His doctor's bills, they say, would buy a good cow every year. He hates books and enjoys nothing but feeding. He takes no interest in his nice new clothes, but constantly his ear is strained to catch the sound of the 12 o'clock whistle, which announces that the hands at the castle have knocked off for dinner. He then blows off the royal digester to a square meal, to use a crude Americanism.

The King of Dahomey has had both his own and his wife's relations strained by France, and war is almost inevitable. He knows also that it will be one of those disagreeable wars in which he will have the excitement of getting some of his most indispensable brains shot out without the glory of a victory. Though he may think he is right, and that it is better to be right than to be a relative of the executive, he is almost certain to get done up by France, and go home carrying his largest brains in a collar box.

The King of Italy formed the foolish habit of cutting his hair pompadour years ago, and now he cannot make it stay down. Over and over again he has written to me to know what he should do in order to destroy or allay at least that appearance of surprise which his erect hair gives him. He says his life is embittered by it, and that if it were not that he fears that he would frighten the seraphim he would willingly blow out the gas and go home.

Pedro II. of Alcantara made an assignment last year, and putting his throne out in the carriage house with burlaps over it he went abroad, telling the rump senate and house of representatives to take their old empire and never to darken his doors again. When last heard of he was preparing a magic lantern slide lecture on "How to Reign with Least Fatigue, and What Style of Scepter is Best Fitted for Indoor Reigning."

Leopold II. of Belgium, says that if he could get the same salary from Phil Armour for sticking hogs that he does for reigning over Belgium he would be in Chicago early in November, when the great anniversary and carnival of the hog assassination of Illinois is at its height, and he would have his clothes sent to him afterward.

Khuloukora I. king of Siam, says that he would rather run a soda fountain than be king. He gets up in the middle of the day, and his throne fairly aches by 6 o'clock at night.

Muley Hassan, the Sultan of Morocco, is tired and sick of his job, and says that if he could take a few of his best wives and a shotgun, and a wall tent, and go out camping for about eighty-five years and let the kickers do the ruling themselves, he would be willing to do it if he could do so honorably, but his like Jay Gould with his money, he says. The thing has no doubt made a slave of him, with a big iron collar on his neck that leaves him never day or night, but curses him even with the fear that he will lose it, and not only be again poor and forgotten, but occasionally raked up as an example and jeered at by the mob. That is why, as Muley Hassan says, a man frequently clings to a throne that has a big hornet's nest in the base of it. He hates to quit, and thus admit that he was not indispensable, or give the common people a chance to say unjust things of him when he is gone. He is like the colored man who held the bear by the tail and desired help to let go.

Wales has been very successful in some ways. He has fleshed up first rate, and has also made a record as the oldest prince in England, Ireland or Scotland. He is looking real rugged, but his figure reminds one of a disabled penicillin with a string around it.

Georgios II. king of Greece is a somnambulist, and hardly a night passes that he does not wander forth and fall off the edge of his kingdom somewhere. He says if he felt sure that he had made his calling and election sure he would not care how soon the summons came. He says he is tired of reigning over a little clearing like Greece, where the history of all the old family business is repeated, and the best thing that can be done of it is found on its tombstone. He wants to go west he says, where hope fires the eye and warms the heart, and where wet-eyed and somber memory is perpetually out of a job.

READING THE KING'S LETTER.

No, it is not encouraging to know, as I do, the woes of the great who are in our set. If the reader could come with me to my bright warm library, where the glowing fire lights up the rich carving and inlaid work that delights the eye on every hand, and read over my shoulder of the care and care and cankered sorrows of those emperors who are intimate with me, and who thus pour out their whole and hearts to me, and ask me over and over again to get them places on the paper, he would understand that it is not everything to have a brass band of your own that plays what you like all the time, nor all joy to be so great and so powerful that you can have sirup twice on your cakes if you choose, or get excused from jury duty on the grounds that you have to reign on that day.

Seriously, I hope that this czar scare will blow over, and that we may use our bombs for nest eggs in the spring, and that all may yet be well. I have too much faith in the great, strong heart of the American people to believe that they are in favor of a czar, and I also feel that if I could have an hour's quiet talk with Mr. Reed, after the members had gone home and the sergeant-at-arms is sweeping out, I could convince him that caring is no kind of a way to live, and that there is a feeling against it, especially at Waterville and Kendall's mills. Somehow I feel it in my heart that as son as Mr. Reed looks the situation in the eye and reads this piece he will be man enough to say to himself, "Whatever betide, I will not be a great coarse czar."

While his constituents at home did not jump on him with that fervor which many of us had expected, Mr. Reed, I am sure, would not knowingly become a hateful tyrant with blood on his boots, legs and a back yard full of festering corpses.

Let us all, so far as we are able, throw every tender, gentle influence around him, and we can save him before he has got a taste of human blood.

TRICKS IN TRADE.

Little Movements Which Tell Successfully on Customers.

New York Town Topics: While I stood chatting with him in the doorway a rather overdressed youth was looking in at the window with a longing gaze. It was the scrutiny of an uncertain buyer. Presently he entered the store. The suave proprietor, beaming benignantly at him through his eyeglasses, approached.

"I want to look at that Windsor tie in the window," said the customer, pointing through from the back of the window to a blue scarf in the front row. "Certainly," said Mayer, "I will get it for you," and in reaching for it he knocked several boxes of collars and some other goods away.

"Sorry to have troubled you," said the well, as he beheld the havoc his curiosity had caused.

"No trouble at all. One of the clerks will straighten things up in a moment." "What is the price?"

"One dollar." This seemed rather to stagger the youth, although the scarf was one of a handsome texture and well worth the money.

"Isn't that a little high?" he queried politely.

"Not for that scarf, but I can show you some at 25 and 50 cents."

Accordingly the assortment was brought forth and looked over, but the youth was true to his first love, and although I have no doubt it cramped his finances somewhat he selected the $1 Windsor.

"There, you see," said the diplomatic Mayer, after the customer had departed. "I knew just how to catch him! He was one of those distrustful sort of fellows; and if, instead of immediately going in the window after that scarf, I had said I 'had one in stock just like it,' it would have been certain to look different to him and I should have failed to land his money. I instruct my clerks that when a window article is asked about to always get it out. It is the surest way, and really saves time in the long run, for you frequently have to get it out anyway to prove that it is as good as the stock article are of one and the same lot. Besides, did you notice that I knocked over a lot of stuff in reaching for it? Well, I did that on purpose! That just settled him! He made up his mind then, after having given me all that trouble and my being so polite about it, that he could not go out of the store without buying something. I tell you there are tricks in every trade, nowadays, and you've got to know them all—that is, the legitimate ones—if you are going to keep up with the procession!"

Simple Enough When You See It.

London, Truth: A few days ago I was standing by an American gentleman when I expressed a wish to know which point was the north. He at once pulled out his watch, looked at it, and pointed to the north. I asked him whether he had a compass attached to his watch.

"All watches," he replied "are compasses." Then he explained to me how this was. Point the hour hand to the sun and the south is exactly half way between the hour and the figure XII on the watch. For instance, suppose that it is 4 o'clock. Point the hand indicating 4 to the sun and XII on the watch is exactly south. Suppose that it is 8 o'clock, point the hand indicating 8 to the sun, and the figure X on the watch is due south. My American friend was quite surprised that I did not know this.

Thinking that very possibly I was ignorant of a thing that every one else knew, and happening to meet Mr. Stanley, I asked him whether he was aware of this simple mode of discovering the points of the compass. He said that he had never heard of it. I presume, therefore, that the world is in the same state of ignorance.

A PAGE FOR WOMEN.

A Marvellous Head of the Lakes Musical Prodigy.

STREET CLOAKS AND FASHION CHAT.

Mrs. Ewing's Woman's World; Why Winnie Davis' Engagement Was Abolished; Notes.

MUSICAL wonders there will probably never be an end—while the world lasts, but most of them are merely temporary. So said Edward Baxter Perry, the noted blind pianist, who was here the first of the week. He was talking of a little head-of-the-lake's girl, daughter of Cashier Deyo, of one of the Superior banks, who had been brought over to see him and be heard by him.

The little 5-year-old girl played for him. She had never had a lesson on the piano—she played some of the many beautiful harmonies composed by herself, she has never had a lesson in harmony, and all the blind master could say was "Wonderful!"

The child appears to be a master, herself, of harmony and of music; she plays the piano, though she can hardly reach the keys, with an expression that is beautiful, and she is at home in composition. A number of pretty things have been composed by her, all of them named and most of them dedicated to friends. Several of them are so excellent that they will be published this winter, at the request of Duluth musicians, Mr. H. P. Robinson and others.

STREET FASHIONS.

How the Promenade Appears When Attired by a Leader.

The pleasant fall weather is constantly bringing out a number of handsome costumes and wraps, so that a promenade on the avenue or a drive in the park is almost as satisfactory as an opening day. And of course the women are out in force, with eyes wide open to take in each detail, and equally, of course, when they encounter a crowd or group which is extremely smart or superlatively elegant, the knowing ones immediately credit it to Redfern. And it's hard to find anything which will surpass his creations in point of beauty and originality.

Look for instance at this stylish Henri Deux cape wrap. It is of deep aubergine plush trimmed with ostrich feathers of the same rich purple, shading almost to black. The close-fitting undercoat has but the narrowest of feather bands down the front and around the collar. The long, low full cape is more heavily trimmed, and has a high standing collar which flares very much at the sides. It is lined with silk in a lighter shade of red purple, and broadened skirts of the darker hue. The toque is of velvet, with feather and ribbon trimming.

Our other cut illustrates a very useful fancy wrap, which will serve for the day promenade or drive, or with the hood over the head, for a theatre wrap or for sleigh-riding.

When required for the latter, Redfern usually lines the hood with a pretty soft fur. En passant, it is just the thing for Christmas week at Tuxedo, or for the winter carnival in Montreal. It is made very full, the part which covers the right shoulder extending quite across the left breast, and the other end laps over this and is flung over the right shoulder, thus doubly protecting the chest. As seen here, the material is dark red scouring cloth, lined throughout with rich garnet plush. The hood is of the monkish order, with peaked top.

Fashion Notes. The two-heel Piccadilly shoe is very popular.

Two of the novelties in Paris consist of tying the fichu at the back instead of in front, and wearing a gold chain so long that it hangs down below the waist.

The Swiss belt seems to have developed into a bodice. It is worn quite as high as that of many a ball dress, and the folds of the softer fabric are tucked into it, rather in the style of the Sir Joshua Reynolds portraits. The Swiss bodice appears on even some of the outdoor jackets.

Bright military scarlet is to play an important part in the autumn and winter dress.

ANOTHER NOBLE WORK.

News of the Churches and Notes for Sunday Reading.

THE BETHEL STARTS A SPLENDID MOVE.

Religious Papers in Duluth; the Y. W. C. T. U.; Prison Sunday; Among Local Parishes.

NEXT WEEK the Bethel will inaugurate a new and noble work—that of a Girls Friendly League. The method can best be told in Rev. C. C. Salter's own words. Said he today:

"I can give you a better account of the new work designed in the Bethel when the teacher and helper comes. She is an Eastern lady trained in the industrial department of the Boston Young Women's Christian association on Berkeley street. The superintendent of that department says of her: 'She has been a teacher of music and has devoted herself of late to such work as modelling, etc.' She will organize a work like that attempted by the 'Girls Friendly League' securing to all who wish to devote their evenings thus the attractions of music, reading, etc. 'The support of this helper is in part pledged by the gift of $100 from a real estate firm here, $100 from a Philadelphia friend. A lady in Duluth pledges one month's salary, the ladies of two of the churches pledge each a month's salary and others will doubtless aid in like manner. The expected teacher will devote part of her time to visiting and befriending any who may be able to help. She will have her rooms in the Bethel. We expect her at week."

With its next number, next week, Church News bids adieu to the public. It has been managed four years by Dr. Dunn and Mr. Noyes. The Church Record, which will succeed it, managed by Mr. Barker of St. Paul's church and Mr. Noyes of Trinity Congregational, will be a very handsome, magazine-form paper.

Rev. George H. Kemp, pastor of Endon Baptist, is a hard worker, and has already infused a great deal of new life into his church. He is fast adding to his work by new departments, both socially and in the line of Bible study.

At the reception of the Y. W. C. T. U., given to the teachers, "Flower Missions" was the theme of entertainment, presented by Miss Jennie Cornell. The Y. rooms were handsomely decorated with cut flowers, and large letters, "Flower Mission," in evergreen, was conspicuous on the wall. The artist, Miss M. Smith, loaned many of her handsome pictures. The windows were filled with plants. Miss Cornell explained the work accomplished by the home flower mission. This Sloan gave a humorous recitation, and a story given by Mrs. Harvey of this city on "The Mission of Flowers" was read. The story is a true one and relates an incident on Duluth streets and how one young man was saved by a box of pansies.

Miss Allie White, who has been one of our earnest workers, is about to move to Tacoma, Wash., with her mother.

Miss Edith Scovell will soon go to California with her parents to spend the winter.

The Y. will hold their next meeting Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 28, at 4 o'clock, in their room in the Palladium building.

Several of Duluth's religious societies are showing commendable enterprise in the new suburbs up the river. During the past week New Duluth was visited by officials of two or three of our churches and the ground looked over for lots, and negotiations are being made for their purchase. Said a prominent pastor last evening: "We shall have a church organization there just as soon as the number of members will warrant the step, and the matter of real estate and building are being looked after now."

Tomorrow will be quite generally observed as Prison Sunday. Social services will be held in many churches, at which the welfare of prisoners will be considered. No reform has made greater strides within a few years than that of changing our jails and penitentiaries from schools of crime into true reformatory institutions. And yet the work is by no means accomplished. How to treat a criminal that his enforced confinement may fit him for industry and virtue upon his release, and may influence him to seek honest labor rather than new exploits of crime, is still a question not fully solved.

The general impression of the religious press seems to be that the recent meeting of the American board, while not remarkable for enthusiasm, will yet prove memorable as the beginning of a new era of prosperity in the history of foreign missions. Differences of opinion as to the management of the work seem happily adjusted by the resolutions adopted, and the way is open for united and vigorous prosecution of the great mission of the board, as it has not been for several years.

The new church on Lowry Hill makes the twenty-first organization of the Congregationalists in Minneapolis. The Presbyterians have but one less and the Methodists and Baptists follow closely. There are few cities in the land that can boast a more distinguished ministry, a larger number of handsome churches or greater proportion of church-going people than Minneapolis possesses.

The great temperance battle in Nebraska waxes warm as the decisive fourth of November approaches. The liquor men concede that the churches are largely in favor of the prohibitionists. It is charged by the latter that the census of Omaha has been padded some 30,000 names in the words where the liquor interest has a sure majority and that careful preparations have been made to count that number of fraudulent votes. Wisconsin and Nebraska have the sympathies of all good men in their struggle for self-preservation.

Sermons in Union. New York, Oct. 25.—In Episcopal churches throughout the United States sermons will be preached tomorrow on the subject of church unity, and prayers will be offered for special intercession for the reunion of Christendom.

JAY GOULD'S FINE. He Will Have to Pay $100 for Failing to Appear as a Juror.

New York, Oct. 25.—Jay Gould was called as a juror in part second of the general sessions in June. He did not appear and a fine of $100 was imposed. Under the new jury law it is the duty of the corporation counsel to see that the fine is collected. So Assistant Corporation Counsel William Wallace appeared yesterday in the general sessions before Recorder Smyth, and called at the bar the names of Jay Gould and six other delinquent taxmen of the June panel. Then, in order to give Mr. Gould and the other delinquents a very last opportunity to present legal excuses, if they have any, Mr. Wallace asked that the proceedings be adjourned until Friday. Recorder Smyth granted the request. Meanwhile Mr. Gould has gone out of town on a railroad trip. The chances are that he will have to pay the $100.

A GRAND COMBINATION. Inducements: Fast Time, Perfect Comfort, Absolute Safety.

These are the inducements offered the traveling public by the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City railway, one of the youngest and beyond dispute one of the best railways upon the continent between St. Paul & Des Moines, St. Joseph, Kansas City and points south-west, Chicago and points south and east. Its vestibuled compartment sleeping cars, run on through trains, are marvels of elegance, and add to beauty and luxury perfect ventilation, making them the most desirable at all seasons of the year. The dining car service is fully up to the best standard, and the entire equipment of the trains of this road is new. W. R. Husebnark, general passenger and ticket agent, Chicago, Ill.

The Way Made Clear.

One of the most serious obstacles to success in the way of man is planted right in the middle of the road to health. How to restore and to maintain a regular habit of body and digestion is too often a source of needless, and, unhappily, of vain inquiry. It is not necessary to weigh against drastic purgatives. They who have used them continuously know the consequences. A remedy which unites the action of a regulating machine for the bowels with that of a tonic both for these organs, the liver and the stomach, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, sanctioned by the best medical authority, and receiving daily the endorsement of our fellow countrymen. With this effectual, though gentle, laxative at hand, it is possible to defy those changes of temperature, producing constipation, as well as constitutional attacks of biliousness, which beset even people naturally healthy. Malaria, dyspepsia, rheumatism and kidney troubles are remedied and prevented by the Bitters.

Royal Baking Powder Has no Equal.

The Royal Baking Powder will make sweeter, lighter, finer-flavored and more wholesome bread, biscuit and cake than any other leavening agent. It is of higher strength, and therefore goes further in work and is more economical. All government and scientific tests go to show this. Royal Baking Powder as a leavening agent is absolutely without an equal.

RUSH MEDICAL COLLEGE, CHICAGO.

"As the result of my tests I find the Royal Baking Powder superior to all the others in every respect. It is entirely free from all adulteration and unwholesome impurity, and in baking it gives off a greater volume of leavening gas than any other powder. It is therefore not only the purest but also the strongest powder with which I am acquainted."

"WALTER S. HAINES, M. D.," Prof. of Chemistry.

CHICAGO COLLEGE OF PHARMACY.

"The Royal Baking Powder, which tests the highest in strength, is free from lime, alum, lime phosphates or other adulterations. Its superlative purity, the entire wholesomeness of its ingredients, the scientific manner in which they are combined, together with its much greater strength, make the Royal unquestionably superior to any other baking powder."

A DULUTHIAN'S LIFE.

Sailing Twice Around the World Without Seeing Home.

SOME OF CAPT. LEWIS' EXPERIENCES.

Cyclones and Tempests, Pirates and the French Fleet; Lively Life for a Lad.

WHEN THE inventive genius of Fulton utilized the forces of steam in the propulsion of vessels he revolutionized the art of navigation; and the trim built ship with its white wings that never grow weary, saw the last of its supremacy upon the ocean. Since 1850 steamships have practically taken the place of sailing vessels.

But romance and story still call into being the sailship; somehow, steam and electricity seem too prosaic to take a place in the author's fancy. There is delight in managing and treading the deck of a staunch clipper that runs these days of rapid transit cannot obliterate, and as for stories of adventure, why, you must seek the retired captain of a sailing craft to find out about the "good old days at sea."

Probably but few men in this country are more familiar with the ocean or have taken longer voyages or seen more strange peoples or countries than Capt. Ray T. Lewis of this city. For twenty-two years—and he is still in the prime of life—this gentleman was on the ocean and during all those years found his way around the world many times. His second voyage was his longest, and happening to find him at leisure one afternoon a Herald reporter got from him its story. Here it is, and in his own words: "I had made one voyage from New York to London, thence to New Orleans, then back again to the head of the Adriatic sea and from there to Boston, taking me a little over a year. I was then only 18, but considered myself quite a sailor. After spending about a month at home time began to hang heavily on my hands, and I made up my mind to go to sea again. So I went to New York and embarked on one of the old time and beautiful clipper ships, the Kit Carson, Captain John Dillingham, bound for San Francisco. My year's experience entitled me to ship as an ordinary seaman. I took my chest into the fore-cabin, donned my blue shirt, and was about as fat as any of the twenty seamen on board, eight of whom were American young men of about my age, bright and intelligent, from good families, who adopted the sea as a profession incidental to rise to the quarter deck as soon as experience would allow them. Besides the crew there were three mates, carpenter, cook, steward and the captain and his wife, making twenty-eight all told.

"We sailed from New York in August, 1858, and had a passage of 140 days without meeting any accident. We had very severe weather off Cape Horn, and were thirty-three days getting around. We passed on the journey Robinson Crusoe's island Juan Fernandez, and were very much interested at the sight of the place. At San Francisco our second mate left; the third was promoted and I took his place. I was then entitled to be called 'Mr.' and have the 'sir' added to my conversation the crew might have with me. We were here chartered to go to Puget Sound with lumber for Melbourne, Australia. Puget Sound in 1859 was a very different place from that locality today. Then Tacoma and Seattle were only saw mills.

"It was then at the time of the Fraser river gold excitement, and our crew deserted. Men were scarce and we made up our loss by shipping men of all trades and races. Seventy-six days brought us to Melbourne. We were here chartered to go to the Sandwich islands, sailing within sight of the Cannibal islands. It was at night, and we saw hundreds of fires lighted by the natives. We spoke to whalers near the islands, and visited with them for a day. They told us they saw five men, who had been killed in war, hung up on the limbs of trees ready to be eaten. These islands are different now, being controlled by England and cotton, sugar, etc., are grown there. Steamers en route to Australia now make it a regular stopping place.

"Well, at Melbourne we discharged our cargo. It is a beautiful and attractive city, with fine government buildings and a salubrious climate. We took ballast here and started for Calcutta.

"We were forty-five days on the voyage. This was my first visit to a tropical city, and it was therefore exceedingly interesting. Calcutta's estimated population is 600,000. One of the most attractive drives is to the Seven Tanks, about eight miles. There are tame fish at the tanks, which would come at a whistle and feed out of one's hands. Of course I saw the palace of the King of Oudh and the place where the famous Black Hole was located, though the building has been destroyed. While I was there the charter of the East Indian company expired, and the country came under the rule of Queen Victoria. There was great rejoicing over the event. We landed in Calcutta for San Francisco and sailed in December. A few days out and we encountered a terrific cyclone on the Bay of Bengal. It lasted eight hours. That was a night to be remembered. All hands were on deck some with axes to cut away the masts and all waiting for the worst. The sea resembled boiling milk. All our sails were blown from the yards although everything was made as secure as possible before the storm began. A person who has not experienced a wind that blows 100 miles an hour can have no idea of its force. These so-called Western cyclones are really tornados; a cyclone is from 100 to 1000 miles across and governed by well known laws. A tornado may be fifty or 300 feet in diameter, and is altogether a different kind of storm.

"The day after the storm was bright and sunny, but our poor ship was in a disabled condition, and leaking badly. But we managed to get her into better condition, and proceeded on our voyage. Then the crew mutinied. For two days there was war between crew and officers.

At length the ring leaders were put into irons. We sailed through the sea of Java, Banda and Flores, into the Pacific ocean islands, where we traded for fruits, articles of native manufacture and turtles passed up the Ladrone islands reaching San Francisco after a passage that lasted 126 days.

"We were soon chartered again and started for Liverpool. We took the inside passage down the coast of Mexico, sighting land nearly every day. We passed by the Coosa or Treasure islands where pirates, in 1812 secreted some $15,000,000. Stopping at Iquique, Peru, we took nitrate of soda. Having been promoted to second mate it was my duty to go ashore to superintend the loading of the cargo. The cargo was put onto 'baleas' made from the skins of sea lions and floated to the ship from shore. A native would shoulder one of the bags, which weighed from 250 to 400 pounds, and carry it to any part of the ship. Iquique was destroyed by a great tidal wave fifteen years ago, during which holocaust a United States man-of-war was carried two miles inland. Getting everything ready we started on our trip around Cape Horn. A few days out and our ship began to leak. We passed in safety, the ship leaking badly all the way. We finally came to anchor of the great docks of Liverpool. Here we laid sixty days.

"We were chartered by the French government and loaded with supplies and ordered to join the fleet in China. I was promoted to first officer, quite a responsible position for a man only 21 years old. In February, 1860, we sailed for Woosung, a port twelve miles from Shanghai. When we sailed from the Mersey the ship Carrington was about one mile astern, bound also for China. We were within hailing distance of her seven days out; in the Southern Indian ocean we saw her; in the Straits of Lunda she was five miles ahead, while going up the Yangtze Kiang she was about one mile astern, and we anchored just ahead of her.

"We laid here five days, and then the captain returned and we were ordered to join the French fleet at Che Foo. This was a port some 600 miles north, and never opened to foreigners. We found 100 sail of the French fleet and transports and the French army of 1500. We laid here some two months under naval rule, occasionally wandering through the French army. We experienced the tail end of a typhoon. Several ships were blown ashore, and the United States ship Hartford, which happened to lay near us, rolled all her boats out of her davits.

"We recd orders to follow the fleet and army to the Gulf of Pechili. We got there after a few days, and we found the English fleet of 200 sail. It made a grand sight. Over 300 full-rigged ships and men-of-war, all anchored closely together in an open roadstead. The Tarkee forts were in plain sight, and the army was ordered to disembark. It landed some fifteen miles down the coast. When ready it marched around and attacked the forts in the rear, capturing them with very little loss, and much to the indignation of the Chinamen, who considered they had been taken an unfair advantage of, as the ground in front of the forts had been well protected. Their arms were of the most ancient types, and the English and French armies had very little difficulty in making their way up the river and capturing Peking, with the Emperor's summer palace, with all its valuable treasures, and ivory furnishings, and then burning it. It was said to have cost over $1,000,000, besides the library, with an entire record of 2700 years were lost. The four months spent in this sea were exciting, and it was dangerous sailing out side of the ports controlled by the French.

"From Che Foo we proceeded to Hong Kong. I might say here that the inhabitants of Northern China are called Mongolians, and are an entirely different class from those who emigrate to this country, and many are large, well built, strong and warlike, and never leave their own country. All their agricultural and domestic utensils are of the rudest and most ancient form. There is one language all educated Chinamen speak. It can be understood all over the empire—called the Mandarin, and I will also say, having since been many times in China and one time brought 450 of them as passengers from Hong Kong to San Francisco, that I never saw one who could not read and write his own language. The high class are gentlemen by education and instinct, and the most generous men I ever had dealings with. At this time the China seas were infested with pirates."

"Mintilo is a most interesting and strange city of 200,000 people. It has since been nearly destroyed, both by a typhoon and earthquake. Here people pay $12 for a hat, $15 for a shirt—and go barefooted. We proceeded towards Boston and anchored off Angier Point, in the Island of Java. This place was destroyed by an earthquake a few years ago, when 100,000 people lost their lives and the whole topography of the Straits of Sunda was changed. At this place we saw some people with silk hats, Prince Albert coats and no trousers. The clothes had been given them by some ship officers. And on May 15 reached Boston three years and eight months since I had left my home. During this voyage I went twice around the world; once from east to west and again from west to east."

The Best Man in the World.
Well, if not positively the best, one of the wisest is he who checks disease at the start in his own system. In preserving or restoring the heaven-granted gift of health, he deserves profound consideration. His example is worthy to be imitated. The complaints which afflict us are largely attributable to a want of tone in the stomach, either inherent or inflicted by ourselves upon that much abused repository of the food that should nourish us. What is its requirement in adversity? A wholesome tonic. None so good, if we rely upon experience and testimony, as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Unmedicated stimulants won't do. Regulation, as well as invigoration of the digestive viscera, is not to be effected by these. Through the agency of the stomachic named, strength of the entire system is retrenched—dyspepsia and biliousness overcome. Malarial, kidney, bladder and rheumatic complaints are eradicated by this salutary reformer of ill health.

COAL RECEIPTS CLOSING.

Light Dock Business Expected From This Time On.

THE DOCKS AND THEIR CAPACITY.

Comprehensive Review of the Great Capacity of Duluth and Superior Docks.

COAL RECEIPTS at Duluth are pretty well over for the year, and but a small part of the season's requirements are to come up in the six weeks that remain of navigation. Anthracite coal is even nearer the total demands of the trade than bituminous, and the demand for tonnage is light. The companies report coal as scarce, owing largely to a shortage in the East, and expect to find shipments so heavy that nearly all that is now on hand will be sent out early in the winter. The demand for all classes of coal has greatly increased, but that for bituminous particularly so, because of the growth of railway construction and the local manufacturing demand, which now cuts a very large feature.

The Northwestern Fuel company, as the oldest and largest company has precedence. It has received up to date $25,000 tons, of which $25,000 have been on its two Duluth docks, while $170,000 have been at Superior. It has sent forward $180,000 tons, $105,000 from this side the bay. It expects to receive about $5,000 tons between now and the close of navigation.

The Pioneer Fuel company has received so far $130,000 tons, and looks for fully $20,000 tons still to come forward. Its shipments have so far been slow. Should it increase its dock capacity, as expected, it will next year double its business.

The receipts of the Ohio company have also been unusually large this year. The receipts to date are $75,000 tons, and to the end of the season the estimate gives $25,000 tons. The shipments have been heavy. A close estimate gives $25,000 tons as the quantity sent West to date, and the close of navigation this figure will have been brought up to $175,000 tons.

This makes a total of $330,000 tons of coal so far received over Duluth docks this year. The three Superior companies have failed to turn in any report, but they with the branch Duluth docks located there, have handled about the same quantity, making total business at the head of the lakes about $1,300,000 tons. Possibly $50,000 tons more are to come forward, but this is hardly probable.

In a recent review of the tremendous coal business of the head of the lakes the Black Diamond speaks as follows: "Next to grain, the chief commodity is coal, and the growth in that traffic at this point has been most remarkable. Shipments are from here to the Dakotas, to Montana, Nebraska, northern Iowa, Missouri, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and each season witnesses a large increase in tonnage handled. This year it will not fall much below $1,500,000 tons of anthracite and bituminous. All this tonnage is handled over ten docks, five of which are at West Superior and five at Duluth. A brief description of these docks may be of interest."

The Northwestern Fuel company owned the first coal dock at Duluth, and now has two at this point and two at West Superior. Dock No. 1 is 600x1150 feet, dock No. 2, 1200x200 feet, with an extension 300x200 feet; dock No. 3 is 720x250 feet, and dock No. 4 is 750x250 feet, being an aggregate storage area of 1,312,500 square feet. The combined water frontage of these four docks, that is equipped with hoisting apparatus for unloading vessels, aggregates 3340 feet and, according to the length of steam or sailing craft, enables the company to unload from ten to fifteen vessels simultaneously. The company having a trackage on its dock of 9130 feet can load 270 box cars of 40,000 pounds capacity at the same time. In addition to the above described properties, the company owns another dock at Washburn, being 400x1000 feet, 400,000 square feet of storage surface, with 300 feet of track, capable of loading 35 to 60 20-ton cars at one time.

The vice-president of the company, Mr. A. C. Jones, is in charge of these plants, with offices in Duluth. It would be difficult to find a man more thoroughly informed on all matters pertaining to the coal business at the head of the lakes, than Mr. Jones, who has been connected with that business for many years, following the growth thereof, from its very infancy.

A five-minutes ride, brings us to Rice's Point and after a ten-minutes walk on sandy ground along or over a perfectly bewildering network of railroad tracks, necessitating the greatest care and circumspection as well as agility to dodge the many locomotives and cars, moving in all directions, the large dock of the Ohio Coal company is reached. It is situated near dock No. 2 of the Northwestern Fuel company, and has a water frontage of 2300 feet, being 1000 feet in length by 300 feet in width, thus presenting a solid storage surface of 300,000 feet. This dock is so situated and the apparatus for unloading cargoes so arranged, that both sides, or 2000 feet can be utilized for discharging vessels, either into the dock, or direct into cars. The company has constructed another dock also 1000x3000 feet the former figure representing the space for vessel anchorage. The two docks combined have an area of 600,000 square feet for stocking purposes, and, with 3000 feet water frontage, there is abundant room for from eight to twelve vessels at one time. The company has trackage room and can load in its two docks from 115 to 120 40,000-lb. cars simultaneously. D. B. Smith is the company's superintendent and has general charge of their plants at Duluth and West Superior, with offices in Duluth, together with Mr. E. L. Fisher, who attends to the company's retail business. The company also has a dock at Ashland 692 feet by 207 feet, making a storage area of 143,244 square feet.

In close proximity to the Duluth dock of the Ohio Coal company is the new dock of the Pioneer Fuel company. This company acquired by purchase a large tract, and last year erected as complete a coal dock as can be found along the lakes. The dockage is 300 feet by 300 feet, giving an area of 240,000 square feet, with anchorage for three vessels in line at one time, and trackage room for from forty-five to fifty twenty-ton cars at the piers. Although it appears to be the plan of this company to do the greatest amount of business within as small a space as possible, thus concentrating forces, the growth of its business will undoubtedly necessitate a large increase to its present dock acreage in the near future, and it is rumored that 1000 feet more of their land will soon be utilized. John Opdale is superintendent of the dock, and Mr. George Dinwiddie is the company's representative at Duluth.

At West Superior, a tramp through bushes, over tracks and ditches, brings us to the new dock of the Silver Creek & Morris Coal company, on the bay of St. Louis. The construction and equipment of this dock is certainly a credit to the energy and enterprise of its projectors, as perhaps no structure of its kind and size was ever made ready for occupancy in a life time. Work commenced in April and in the early part of June every thing was complete. The dock is 1000 by 350 feet, thus covering an area of 350,000 square feet. There is room for three vessels in line in front of the dock and track room for 100 cars. F. D. Connery is in charge.

But a short distance away is the largest coal dock on the lakes the property of the Lehigh Coal & Iron company. It is 2500x300 feet and covering an area of 750,000 square feet, 540,000 square feet of which contain a superstructure. The 2500 feet of water frontage permits from six to nine vessels to anchor. There is trackage room for 150 cars, which can be loaded at once. Within fifty yards from the dock the company has erected a large boarding house. About half a mile east the company has a plant of fifty beehive coke ovens, turning out about 450 tons of Connelville coke per week. This plant proves a great success, and it is the intention of the company to add another fifty ovens to those already up. J. M. Hunker, is in charge of the plant. C. P. White is the company's representative. The dock of the St. Paul & Pacific Coal company has a water frontage of 1600 feet, and is 300 feet in depth, making 480,000 square feet for storage surface. From four to six vessels can lay up at one time. The dock has trackage for from 90 to 100 cars of 20 tons each. This is the only dock on the lakes where revolving screens and conveyors are in use.

It is thus seen that the total area available for the storage of coal on the ten docks at Duluth and West Superior is 4,275,741 square feet, equal to 98 acres of ground, while from 800 to 850 cars can be loaded at once, and from 40 to 50 vessels have room at the docks at one time. It is not difficult to figure the capacity of these docks. The storage room will hold from 1,300,000 to 1,350,000 tons. It is safe to say that the amount capable of being handled over the docks direct from vessels would be fully double of the actual storage capacity, or 2,700,000 tons. It is evident that if the roads entering at Duluth furnish facilities, the room now occupied for coal storage purposes is amply sufficient for some years. At the present time there are but about $50,000 tons in stock, which is being cut down rapidly. The stock of anthracite is already about enough.

A CHATTY TALK ON ART.

A Duluth Artist Writes in Criticism of the Guild.

ALL THEY WANT IS HONEST JUDGMENT.

But That is not Generally Accorded; of the Motif in Picture Painting.

LET US TALK about art, certainly there is no theme that will admit of purer and grander thoughts. That there has been a rapid growth in matters pertaining to the fine arts in Duluth during the past two years there can be no doubt. It is to be hoped that this sentiment may continue to grow, for it is the cultivation of taste for art and music that helps to mark the difference between refinement and mediocrity.

Is it not a fact that those who know the least about any profession or art are first to criticize and suggest? (perhaps this is why I write). Would it be out of place if I should offer a few thoughts as to how we can become a better acquainted with art and nature, how we can learn to love them more, and to say the least, appreciate the good qualities of a painting and forgive the mistakes of the conscientious artist—for who does not make mistakes, and who is more severely and often unjustly criticized than the artist? I am not speaking from rancor, for really I am fond of good, honest criticism from those who are judges of the subject at hand; but when we hear such men as Chase and Cox so unmercifully "cut up" by those who call themselves art critics, it makes one wish for a more thorough study of art, by the masses. When I speak of study I do not necessarily mean to paint. One of the very best ways to become familiar with good art is to visit galleries and picture stores and study well the works you find there. Do not say you haven't time. Ten minutes two or three times a week viewing and studying paintings will do more toward educating you in art than will ten years of "glancing as you pass by."

The novice looks for technique only and says of an artist that his handling is grand and he is therefore great. One is charmed by some "pretty" color and pronounces the artist a great success; while a third, who does not happen to care for that particular subject, declares it a daub and affirms that he can paint better than that.

In one of our local art galleries the other day I encountered just the same severe critics, one who "paints just lovely but never took a lesson in his life." He was looking at a painting by Dupre and said that it looked very amateurish, and asked my opinion. I invited him to join me on a tour of inspection. The first painting we came to was a print piece which my new made friend thought was grand. I drew his attention to the fact that grapes were not as red as marble, that a plate was not soft like fruit, and should not be painted so. There was a landscape—and he evidently thought it the proper thing to criticize it—so a charming sunset, by George Inness he pronounced a daub. Now the central thought of this artist, and in fact the critic didn't see, was to render the dreamy quietness of a summer evening on the farm. Does it not impress one as though an indescribable stillness pre- vailed; not a leaf stirs; the sun has ceased to shed its scorching rays and all nature is hushed in silence as it views the grandeur of the sun, kissed clouds that float so peacefully through the gold and crimson sky. Are not the figures in the foreground well drawn; do not the distant hills look miles away; see how the clouds hang in the air and are not stuck fast to the sky. Now observe those rocks, how very hard and firm they are; let us water, doesn't it look as though one might throw a stone in it? The artist has accomplished all that he set out to do, could you ask more? My friend who by the way is one of our leaders in society, admitted that he had never before known what to look for in a painting and promised me then and there to say less and think more when looking at paintings in the future.

It is not, as many suppose, the highest type of art to make an exact copy of nature. There are often many things in nature that would not compose well in a painting, but it requires the skilled artist to know what to leave out of his painting and yet tell the story truthfully. As a speaker makes himself better understood by avoiding superfluous words, so does the artist avoid petty details that do not aid him in giving a strong impression of the subject under consideration. Hereafter in viewing paintings, let us indulge in more earnest study and less sarcasm, and endeavor to feel the same inspiration the artist experienced when he painted it. If the "handling" is not just as you would do it never mind, that is only his manner of speech. If his ideas are original and sound, if he has given us food for thought, thoughts that may arouse in us a new interest in art let us be content and go on and by and by we will know more and then we will wonder how we could entertain such crude and selfish ideas about art and artists.

PATTISON FEELS HURT.

The Pennsylvania Politician Wants Editors Punished.

THREE SUITS FOR CRIMINAL LIBEL.

The Defendants Alleged that Mr. Pattison had Accepted Several Bribes from Corporations.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—Robert E. Pattison, democratic candidate for governor, swore out warrants of arrest this morning in proceedings for criminal libel against the publisher and editor of The Philadelphia Inquirer, the proprietor of The North American of this city and the publisher and editor of The Harrisburg Call. A hearing in the case will be given this afternoon.

In the three papers mentioned there was published on Saturday morning an article which charged that Governor Pattison had been bribed by the Vanderbilts to sign what were known as the South Pennsylvania bills of 1883, and that the governor sought out and retained ex-Judge Jeremiah S. Black to write a veto message, and, having received it with the understanding that it was to be sent to the legislature, he changed his mind by the next morning and without notice that Judge Black approved the bills, and that Judge Black severed all amicable connections with the governor.

It is also stated that $20,000 in stock had been paid to Pattison and Attorney-General Lewis S. Cassiday for the signing of a bill chartering a Pittsburgh natural gas corporation.

FIGHTING OVER FEES.

A Prominent San Francisco Lawyer Under Arrest.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Ex-Lord High Sheriff Hutton of London, spent last Saturday night in the county jail before he could secure bail for $8000. He was arrested at the instance of an old English friend and fellow lawyer named Donague, with whom he quarreled over fees in the Blythe case.

Hutton formed a syndicate of the Savage heirs to Millionaire Blythe's big estate. They thought they had a sure thing, and agreed to pay $100,000 to Hutton and an equal amount to Donague in case they were successful. The syndicate also raised $12,000 to pay the expenses of the two lawyers in San Francisco. They soon used this up, when Hutton got $2000 more. Donague wanted a share of this, but Hutton refused. Suit was brought, and Donague received judgment for $2000. Hearing that Hutton proposed to leave the city, he had him arrested.

MURAT SELLS OUT.

The Stock of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette Sold.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 27.—It is announced here upon reliable authority that Mr. Murat Hulstead, who owned a controlling interest in the stock of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette company, has sold to a broker a portion of his holding.

Whether the sale is coupled with a contract to give the purchasers control by proxy of his remaining shares, so as to give them the management of the paper is not known, but it is probable.

This sale settles the fact that Mr. Hulstead will not return to Cincinnati, but will remain in the East until the names of the purchasers from the broker are made known. There is much speculation on that point. Gen. Alger and Hon. J. S. Clarkson have been guessed by some as the men.

Type Setting Machines Ordered.

MONTREAL, Oct. 27.—The Dominion government has purchased four Merzenthaler Line type setting machines for use in the government printing bureau, and it is altogether probable that a large number more will be ordered as soon as these are in perfect working order. According to the terms of the contract they are to be placed in running order in the government printing office by Dec. 15 and it is understood that they will be employed in setting up the debates of the house of commons during its sessions.

DEATH BY ELECTRICITY.

The Constitutionality of the New York Law Argued Today.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The first motion to secure final action from the supreme court of the United States on the question of the constitutionality of the New York electrical execution law, was made in the supreme court today.

It was moved that the case be advanced and set down for a speedy hearing. The point raised in the case is that the Kemmler execution illustrated that killing by electricity is a cruel and unusual punishment, and as such prohibited by the constitution of the United States.

After counsel had made the motion, Chief Justice Fuller asked: "Is there any distinction between that case and the case of Kemmler?" Daniel O'Callahan, who was the counsel who made the motion, responded: "Yes, sir; the distinction—that the carrying out of the sentence in the Kemmler case was not scientifically successful and the petitioner hopes that electricity will be decided to be not a proper method."

HENS ARE BIRDS.

Canada Proposes to Evade the Duty on Hen's Eggs Thus and So.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 27.—The officials of the customs department have thoroughly examined the McKinley bill and they call attention to two features of the bill worthy of consideration. According to their reading of the act, hen's eggs are admitted to the United States free from duty, their grounds for this construction are these: It seems that the list of dutiable goods appears the item, "Eggs five cents per dozen," while in the list of free goods is mentioned "eggs of birds, fishes and insects." "Now," said Joseph, the dominion appraiser and one of the best authorities on tariff matters in Canada, "if an American importer enters a consignment of hen's eggs as eggs of birds, who can say they are not birds' eggs? No one will have the hardihood to say that a hen is not a bird and even if a collector decided against this interpretation of the law the shipper would be entitled to get a ruling of the courts on the question."

Kansas Package Dealers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—A motion was made today in the United States supreme court, to advance three habeas corpus cases for consideration of the propriety of original package establishments in Kansas for violating the prohibition liquor law. The point raised is that it was necessary for Kansas to exempt its prohibition law after the passage of the original package law by congress in order for it to become effective against the selling of original packages. The chief justice announced that the court would not decide the motion until the vacancy caused by Justice Miller's decision has been filled.

What Church is This?

WILKESHAIRE, Pa., Oct. 27.—The conference of the clergy of the United Great church will be held here next Wednesday. The conference will be attended by clergymen from different parts of the state and Jersey City and Minneapolis. A petition will be presented to the cardinal of Hungary asking him to secure from the vatican the appointment of a vicar-general for this country.

Sentenced to Death.

WICHITA, Kas., Oct. 27.—The 3-year-old son of Col. A. S. Billman, eight miles south, fell into a hot of water yesterday while no one was present. With in a few minutes the servant returned, finding the child with the flesh completely cooked.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

State department says the published statement that the Bearing sea fisheries question has been submitted to arbitration is untrue, as the arbitrators have not been selected. Correspondence is still passing between the United States and Great Britain on the subject, and a conclusion is not yet in sight.

Graphite has been discovered near Sancti Spiritus, Cuba, and the owners of the mine intend to begin working immediately in connection with some American capitalists, as the mineral, which is as good as that of Siberia, can be advantageously disposed of in the United States.

By the bursting of the stand pipe in the city water system of Temple, Texas, Sunday, the whole town was flooded. The damage done is heavy and several serious injuries to persons are reported.

The 124th anniversary of the old John Street Methodist church in New York, the oldest Methodist church in America, was celebrated Sunday. Exercises were of the most interesting character, and included speeches by ex-Senator Warner Miller and ex-Postmaster General Thos. L. James.

Another Petition.

Another petition has been going the rounds among real estate men relative to the New Duluth sale. It is similar in tenor to the one given to the company this morning, with the addition to the document of the statement that the ones whose names are attached will not buy any New Duluth property, on the contrary they will try to keep others from buying New Duluth lots. This petition is backed by some of the heaviest and most reputable dealers in town.

Making Voters.

CANTEENS ARE ALL RIGHT.

Annual Report of the Department of the Columbia.

INDIANS ARE ALL LAMB-LIKE.

The Commander Recommends that there be no Change in Existing Court Martial Laws.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The secretary of war has received the annual report of Brig-Gen. Gibbons, commanding the department of the Columbia. He reports that the Indians of the extreme Northwest are in a perfectly peaceable condition and says he thinks they will remain so indefinitely "unless goaded to desperation by the constant encroachments of the whites and their acts of injustice."

He says in regard to courts martial: "I suppose irregularities in court martial proceedings have recently given rise to a great deal of comment throughout the country and a proposition has been made to take from the department commander the power to order general courts and vest it only in division commanders. I am of the opinion that this would be a great mistake, would not be in furtherance of the administration of justice and would simply add one more to the disadvantages of the present division organization."

He reports the canteens in his department as being in a satisfactory condition, and says the system is not only better than that of traders' shops, but that the enlisted are beginning to realize some of its benefits.

He recommends that the war department charter a seaworthy vessel for the transportation of stores across the mouth of the Columbia river and Bakers bay, as was done until recently when the contract for that service was discontinued. Since the stopping of the steamer the garrison at Fort Canby has been cut off from the ordinary table supplies.

The District Court.

Three suits were begun in the district court this morning. Heber H. Hanford seeks to recover from the Harvey Iron and the Z-r-i-b Iron companies a dividend of $27,632.12 on the amount of $2000 for which he claims ownership of said lands. Emil Hartmann also brings action against the former named company to recover land and a judgment of $5000 for damages. Carolina Smith is plaintiff and Henry Leopold, et al, defendants, in a suit to recover land and damages to the extent of $3000. Christopher Olson is suing G. K. Maxwell and the defunct Lake Superior Review, a publishing company, praying judgment for $476 claimed to be due for rental of plaintiff's premises.

A meeting of the Methodist pastors of Duluth and Superior was held this morning at Grace church, at which a committee was appointed to make arrangements for perfecting a permanent organization.

Advertisers Have Noted. Evidently, News: The News (Saturday Herald) want columns tell the tale. This paper publishes more legitimate, paid want ads than all the other Duluth papers combined. The reason for that is plain: It is read by more people than any of the others. Advertisers should make a note of this fact.

PORK PACKERS MAD.

They Will Unite Towards Making Galveston a Shipping Port.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.—The recent order of the interstate commerce commission forbidding the railroads west of Chicago to charge a higher rate on live hogs than on packing house products to Missouri river points has aroused the St. Louis City packers.

If enforcement of the order is persisted in they will endeavor to combine the packing interests of the Missouri valley with the railroads west of the river and divert all packing house products to a seaport like Galveston, Texas, where shipments by water can be made as easily as from Eastern seaboard points.

Since March, 1890, more hogs have been packed west of the river than at Chicago, and the magnitude of this movement if carried out, can readily be seen.

Not Prohibited by Law.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Oct. 27.—Several merchants of this city are conducting guessing and voting schemes in advertising their business, and fearing that the newspapers carrying their advertisements might be suppressed, Postmaster Neville was requested to consult Postmaster-General Wanamaker whether the schemes were prohibited by the lottery law. Mr. Neville has received a letter from Attorney-General McLean, saying that such advertisements of guessing and voting may for the time being be permitted to run in the newspapers.

Flunkers on a Strike.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—In accordance with the vote at the meeting of their union last night, the steam fitters of the city this morning, to the number of between 300 and 400, went on a strike. Their demand is for an advance of about 10 per cent in wages.

THE LIBERAL FAITH.

Unitarian Conference Closes
With Several Good Sermons.

THEY AIM TO INSTRUCT, NOT ABUSE.

Rev. G. H. MacClelland Defends the Orthodox Faith in a Brilliant Discourse.

The Unitarian conference closed last evening with a meeting at Temple opera. There was a large audience in attendance. Rev. J. H. Crooker of Madison, Wis., delivered the first address, on the subject "What does a liberal faith seek to accomplish?"

"Our aim," said the speaker, "is not to destroy but to create; not to deny but to affirm; not to banish religion but to en-throne religion as a new power in human life, the power that shall make the kingdom of God prevail in human society, the power that shall rear into human life all that is necessary to the elevation of man; this is what the general church is seeking to accomplish."

What we seek to do is to make a rational use of the Bible and compel a rational understanding of science and we think this is the only way by which we can hold the rising generations to faith in the Bible and faith in God.

Young men and women who have been taught the old theory of the Bible discover when they get out into the world that it is false. They then not only put away the Bible, but put away all faith, all hope, and say: "As my minister told me falsely about this subject, I'll not believe any theory whatever."

So the only way to hold the rising generations is to teach them the very highest truth of the Bible; to lift the teaching to a level of thought represented in this universe; of the thought represented in the history of the history of humanity and the constitution and laws of human society. We seek to open the doors of the church so wide that every man, woman and child that wishes to be good and do good may be welcome without regard to creed or form of faith.

Rev. Eliza T. Wilkes of Luverne spoke on the subject, "What it Demands of its Members." She said: "If you look toward the liberal church for any going, aesthetic surroundings for social gain, you see not what it means. It demands, first, sincerity, and asks its members to see things as they are—what is true and what is false. It demands of its members that they think for themselves. But can you give us no tangible, absolute truth? you say. Yes, but you must help to find it for yourself. The new rule of life calls for unselfish living. Brotherhood has not begun to be apprehended. One man tried this 1800 years ago and found a cross. Does it demand that you go to save and help with the message that Jesus loves them? Yes, if you have nothing better to tell, go and tell the old story, but the new reformation not only tells that Jesus loved them, but goes and says, 'I love you.' It is pitiful that we must go back 1800 years to find one who can best give this illustration of tender love and sympathy."

It is not in the prayer meeting that we must work. We have no time to loaf around the throne. We mean to stiffen our knees instead of bending them. There has been too much whimpering as paupered children. What we want is to work out salvation on a piety that can be put into acts and deeds. This reformation means a religion that can be taken into the counting room and bank, workshop and kitchen. It is not for material success we are anxious. Is there no heroism in taking up this work to try and save this age from the grossness of materialism ever known. A great ocean stands back of us, of which we know little, and ahead of us a great future that keep swallowing one by one from our midst. Is it only to get together luggage and traps that we are here, or to get together hand in hand, in helping each other in this mighty struggle? For success I ask only this—to bear unflinching testimony to truth."

Short addresses in the same line were also delivered by Rev. T. J. Volante and Rev. Grindall Reynolds of Boston.

DEFENDS ORTHODOXY.

An Interesting Discourse by Rev. G. H. MacClelland Last Evening.

Last evening at the First Baptist church Rev. George H. MacClelland spoke on the subject, "Unitarian Theology—Liberal Faith—Anti-Christ." The sermon was prefaced by the remark that personality was to be avoided, that the desire was to discuss things pertaining to Christianity and the interests of Christian people.

"The mystery of any doctrine is due to our finite near-sightedness and hence all supernatural things are in a sense dim and mysterious. One constantly hears the taunt that Christians believe what they do not understand and cannot explain, and the charge is true, not only of Christians, but of infidels as well. The Bible is peculiar only that its mysteries are supernatural; the moment we admit the supernatural we are prepared to admit all mysteries. To believe in God is to accept the miracles of the Bible—all things are possible to the infinite. Once the vestibule of the supernatural is entered and the way is easy to the temple of supernatural truth."

"Doubt viewed abstractly is no more a sign of intellectual greatness or independence than is faith viewed abstractly. An impression prevails that to be skeptical concerning truths of universal acceptance is an indication of intellectual superiority; while on the other hand, faith in the old doctrines is a proof of mental weakness. It probably comes about by accepting our own estimate of ourselves. Occasionally some fool has proclaimed himself a God and he always found followers. If a belief is wrong and individual thought discovers the error, then doubt is a proof of superiority."

"If Christianity were a product of man then each age of civilization would bring us a better God and a better way of salvation. If Christianity be true of man cannot advance beyond God and there can be no progress beyond the Bible, for God wrote it. His word must be infinite and as unchangeable as He is eternal."

"When the modern skeptic evolves a conception of divinity better than that revealed in the scriptures and would write a different Bible we have found one better acquainted with God than He is Himself."

It has been argued that Christianity is losing his hold upon the masses. Statistics show that in the last 105 years the church has gained seventy-nine members for every day and in the past ten years there have been 1,256,375 professions of faith, and an average gain of 344 per day in one branch of the church. This is a time of general religious investigation, of freedom and a boundless of inquiry—a good thing for our Bible is not true the sooner we know it the better.

The subject is to advance a story and adapt the Bible to it, making it conform to the "spirit of the age" then one might be led to believe that Christ was simply a martyr, but even then it is impossible to logically interpret such a view for from Genesis to Revelations emphasis is placed on the death of Christ in such words as redemption, atonement and purchased by blood. In a recent oration by a representative of the moral theory of the atonement, a beautiful picture of God's love was given, but the grandest exhibition was not mentioned. The ascent of man was rather his descent, the story of his fall promulgated as a myth and the cross was forgotten. No belief, if belief it may be called, can have a crown until God's word is honored and His son adored."

The Catholic fair opens this evening at the Catholic Association hall and will continue for the remainder of the week. The hall is handsomely decorated for the grand opening tonight. The following are contesting for prizes: Mrs. Kenna and Mrs. Mannheim, for the bishop's picture; Miss Robertson and Miss Murphy, for a handsome Bible; Richard Long, Sr. and Capt. Paul, for a fur overcoat; Miss Harney and Miss Ready, for an opera glass. There will be a handsome prize given away each night. Refreshments will be served during the day and evening.

Western Association Meeting. OMAHA, Oct. 27.—The annual meeting of the Western association will be held at Omaha on Saturday next, and it is why matters connected with the association are so dull just now. There is always a calm before the storm, and as far as life in Western baseball matters is concerned it is being experienced now. The movements of the Brotherhood National league are all directed toward amalgamation, which is sure to come about before the next season is inaugurated. This practically does away with all fear the association managers may have entertained of the Brotherhood taking the association stars. With affairs so situated, plans for the season of 1891 can be arranged, and no doubt will be arranged on Saturday next.

Skater Donoghue's Plans. Young Joe Donoghue, the champion skater of America, is already on his way to Sweden and Russia where he intends participating in the skating races for the championship of the world. Joe will go first to Christiania. He recalls the fact that his lack of success two years ago was due to the fact that he did not go early enough to be acclimated, and consequently when the time for the big races arrived he was not in condition to meet the native talent which opposed him. He did comparatively well, however, taking everything in consideration. He won a fair proportion of prizes, but the much desired championship was withheld from him. After competing at Christiania he will go to England to participate in the races of the National Skating association of Great Britain. These will be held about holiday time. His next objective point will be Amsterdam, where the important championship races will be held. He will compete in the half mile, one mile, two miles, three miles and five-mile races, the winner of three of them being declared champion. After Amsterdam the American champion will go to Hamburg and Berlin, and after a few matches, which will doubtless result from some of the regular competitions, he will return to America in time to participate in the championships to be decided some time during February.

The receipts of the Yale University Baseball association last season were $12,992.03; expenses, $9,968.02; balance, $3,324.01. Of the balance $2,500 was turned over to the Yale Field corporation and $834.07 to the new management.

Peersall, "Fole," is the heaviest loser on the turf this year. The Saratoga meeting cost him a cool $90,000 which, with his disastrous night at the Pennsylvania club left him nearly stranded. He is up and at it again, however. The Beverly stable was the cause of his misfortune.

Special Parties For Pacific Coast.

The Pullman family sleeping car excursions started last season by the Lake Superior, St. Paul & Union Pacific line (C. St. P. M. & O. and U. P. railways) are becoming popular, and many special parties of first-class people have been forwarded to Pacific coast points with great satisfaction and economy to themselves.

These cars leave St. Paul and Minneapolis every Thursday at 7:50 a. m. in charge of a Pullman porter, and are provided with mattresses, curtains, pillows, bed linen and every necessary, leaving nothing to be provided by the passengers, and ladies traveling alone or accompanied by children receive every attention.

Each berth in these cars accommodates two persons, and the price of berth from St. Paul or Minneapolis to Portland is $3. To San Francisco, $3.50.

Parties going to Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, and points in Washington, Oregon and California should try this new line, making quicker time to Portland and San Francisco than any other, with no extra charge for fast service, and with as low rate as any all rail lines.

Tickets and accommodations, in family sleeper, can be secured through any agent of this company, or of George M. Smith, general agent, 332 Hotel St. Louis block.

HE DID THE RIGHT THING.

So President Harrison Says of Minister Mizner.

END OF THE BARRUNDIA CASE.

The President Believes that the Minister was Justified in the Course He Pursued.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—It is understood that Mr. Mizner, our minister to Central America, has received from Secretary Blaine assurances of the approval of the President of his conduct in the Barrundia case, and has been fully justified in the course he pursued. This information comes from the city of Guatemala, where it appears the state department was most anxious that the information should be first officially promulgated.

The reason for this is that as the President had no intention of recalling him, it was deemed important, in view of the steps taken in congress to obtain the state department correspondence, that the central American governments should know as speedily as possible that Minister Mizner still retained the confidence of the administration.

According to the announcement, Minister Mizner is held not to have exceeded his duty. On the contrary, he went further in the matter in the interest of Gen. Barrundia and his family than he was required to do. He secured a written guarantee from the president of Guatemala and the minister of foreign relations, made to the government of the United States, that in no case would the life of Gen. Barrundia be in danger. Minister Mizner so stated in his letter to Capt. Pitts, which was read and translated to Barrundia.

It appears, also, that Mizner did not order his surrender. He simply called the captain's attention to the instructions laid down by the state department for the information of commanders of merchant vessels in just such cases. It also appears that the solicitude not to involve the company in trouble with the Guatemalan government was wholly on the side of the captain of the Aconitico. The demand for Gen. Barrundia was not based upon political grounds, but entirely upon allegations of crime.

MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARED.

Two People Disappear From Minneapolis Under Peculiar Circumstances.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 27.—Two disappearances were reported to the police yesterday, one of which is of a peculiar nature. Mary Morley, a 13-year-old girl who lives with her parents at 218 First street north, left her home yesterday morning and started for the Lincoln school; her mother, who was going to pay a visit in the vicinity of the school house, accompanied her. Since yesterday noon nothing has been seen or heard of the missing girl. She attended school in the morning, but nothing has been seen of her since the noon recess. She was dressed in a brown dress, long cloak with cape and black jockey cap, and is rather large for her age.

Mark Fitzgerald, a shoemaker 65 years of age, who lives at the corner of Fourteenth avenue southeast and Fifth street, left his home Tuesday morning and has not since been seen. It is thought that he may have suicided owing to domestic difficulties.

A DOUBLE MURDER.

A Jilted Lover's Horrible Crime at Alliance, Neb.

ALLIANCE, Neb., Oct. 27.—C. M. Thornton, a young farmer living twelve miles north of here, killed Ferd Robinson and fatally shot his sweetheart, Myrtle Kerr, Saturday.

The girl and Thornton were engaged to be married, but when Thornton went to see her yesterday she told him she had decided to marry another man, named Foreman, to please her parents. Thornton expostulated with her and she was about to get into the wagon with him when her father, Enos Kerr, rushed out of the house, seized and attempted to take her away. Robinson who was in the house, calling on Miss Kerr's sister, rushed out with a pistol in his hand. Thornton, who was at the time trying to cover Kerr with a revolver, shot Robinson dead and when his sweetheart attempted to disarm him, she was shot in the side. Thornton is under arrest.

HIS OWN MEDICINE.

A Would-be Murderer Killed by Masked Men.

SULLIVAN, Ind., Oct. 27.—Edward Houck went home drunk Saturday and began to abuse his wife who was ill in bed, threatening to kill her with a hatchet. While he was standing over the bed where she lay four masked men entered the room, took him out, and with the same hatchet, beat his head into a jelly.

Houck died yesterday from the effects of his injuries. No one saw the murder except Houck's wife who cannot describe the men very accurately. The police are looking into the matter, but have made no arrests.

A Harrow Trust.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 27.—The spring-tooth harrow men have organized the National Harrow company with a capital stock of $500,000. The main office of the company will be at Utica. They have purchased a great number of patents covering substantially all of the harrow manufactures in the United States.

New Methodist University.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Bishop Hurst of the Methodist Episcopal church, has arrived. The bishop is enthusiastic over the proposed Methodist university which is to be located near Washington. Already between $45,000 and $50,000 have been subscribed.

TWO RS.

Reed and Rusk Receive a Room as Coming Candidates.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The enthusiasm which has greeted Speaker Reed and Rusk has opened the eyes of a good many shrewd politicians and is causing no little talk and speculation. Not so much from their own actions as from the apparently semi-authorized statements made by their relatives. It is beginning to be accepted as a fact that President Harrison will not be a candidate for the re-nomination before the next republican national convention.

The man from Maine has more than once given it out, flat-footed, that his day as a candidate has gone by, and it is, therefore, not surprising that the prophet-mongers should see in the reception accorded to the speaker in the West, a boom, which, although not much larger than a man's hand, may develop into something formidable before many moons. As one of them remarked this morning, Reed and Rusk will make a good combination. It would not surprise me to find the two's ticket boom very loudly ere long.

THE PETERS FAILURE.

Schedule of the Assets and Liabilities of the Firm.

MANISTEE, Mich., Oct. 27.—The assignment of the R. G. Peters Salt & Lumber company and of R. G. Peters has filed his bonds and schedules. The bonds are alike, each for $250,000 with Albert M. Henry as principal and R. A. Aigor, James F. Joy, C. H. Bahl, William C. Colburn, Allen Sheldon, Alexander McPherson and Alex. Lewis sureties.

The R. G. Peters Salt & Lumber company's inventory, as filed by the assignee, shows assets of $2,803,932; liabilities, $584,379; contingent liabilities, $431,000; scheduled by R. G. Peters in his direct liabilities with Peters on A. Meigs & Co., $100,000; and with the Peters Lumber company of Ala., Ala., $90,000. The R. G. Peters' inventory is: Assets, $3,630,016; liabilities, $1,453,285; contingent as indorser of Arthur Meigs & Co., William Dunham, $250,000; and Mathinson & White, $80,000.

On Peters' individual assets is listed his stock of $1,700,000 in the Peters Salt & Lumber company, the value of which is problematical.

AN IMPORTANT SUIT.

Palace Car Companies at Law Over Patent Infringements.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—There was a big crowd of railway men in Judge Greaham's court this morning. The suit is the Pullman Car company vs. the Wagner Palace Car company from infringing on the Pullman patents. The effect of this motion, which in all probability will be granted, will be to strip the Michigan Central railroad of every parlor car in use on that line, and to confer the Baltimore & Ohio and the Pennsylvania in the enjoyment of that valuable privilege.

Several months ago Judge Colt, of the Eastern district of Massachusetts, decided that all the principal vestibule attachments now used by the Wagner company were infringements on the Pullman patents. It was naturally supposed that the Michigan Central and Lake Shore would follow the example of the Eastern roads and take off the cars declared to be infringements, even though this would reduce their through traveling patronage, but they manifested no intention of so doing, the Pullman company was forced to take the proceedings in progress today.

The Best Man in the World.

Well, if not positively the best, one of the wisest is he who checks disease at the start in his own system. In preserving or restoring the heaven-granted gift of health, he deserves profound consideration. His example is worthy to be imitated. The complaints which afflict us are largely attributable to a want of tone in the stomach, either inherent or inflicted by ourselves upon that much abused repository of the food that should nourish us. What is its requirement in adversity? A wholesome tonic. None so good, if we rely upon experience and testimony, as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Unmedicated stimulants won't do. Regulation, as well as invigoration of the digestive viscera, is not to be effected by these. Through the agency of the stomachic named, strength of the entire system is retrenched—dyspepsia and biliousness overcome. Malarial, kidney, bladder and rheumatic complaints are eradicated by this salutary reformer of ill health.

IN TO WIN.

The whole republican state ticket is in to win, and from top to bottom there is not a nominee, who will not add some individual strength to the ticket. With the state campaign national issue are not bound up, and neither the McKinley bill, nor the Lodge bill, nor any other measure of national concern should affect the vote that will be cast for Governor Merriam and his associates on the ticket. The actual question before the republicans, whether of high tariff, low tariff, or no tariff sort, is has our republican governor's administration been a good one, and does the coming administration promise to be as good or better? Ignoring any petty or fanciful local grudges, the answer of level-headed republicans will be: The present state administration, on the whole, has been able, economical, clean cut, businesslike, impartial. It has justly regarded and promoted as far as practicable the interests of the state at large. With the benefit of experience and more thorough acquaintance with the needs of the state, the next administration should be even better. There is no sound reason for a change, and there is sound business reason for a continuance of the republican administration. And nothing which the contesting parties offer in the way of men or changes of policy makes any showing of advantage in exchange to any loyal, sensible republican? This is no patent, and republicans as a whole are so loyal and sensible that some crafty calculations will be confounded. Governor Merriam and all on the ticket are in to win.

WHY PROTECT "RAW MATERIAL?"

If there is any kind of duty which the free trader delights in jumping on with both feet it is a protective duty on what he calls "raw material." Raw material with him covers every product which is not in the strictest technical sense a manufacture, and in this sense, the wool of a high-bred sheep embodying long years of skill and labor in perfecting is only a raw material. Shall we throw it out of the protective range then without a thought? or shall we think a little of the possible grounds for its protection? Note in the first place that a relatively large home production of the raw material of the woolen manufacturer is, under the conditions of this country, of high importance both to him and to the people at large. It assures him a certain and readily attainable supply in times of peace or war. It insures against the falling off or monopoly of foreign sources. It guards against sudden fluctuations in price and supply so peculiarly disastrous to him. Even if he were obliged to pay a considerable tax for its maintenance, he might fairly count this as an insurance fund and pay it without grudging just as he pays insurance on his mill and plant. Such a tax may be imposed by a protective duty, but there is sound reason for maintaining that no such tax is so considerable in the long run as hasty observers presume. For against it must be balanced the saving effected by home supply and protection against foreign risks. So holds now the National Association of Woolen Manufacturers and so it has held for twenty-five years, as the address of the first president of the association, maintaining the interdependence of wool growing and manufacturing, expressly asserts. It is on this firm and true ground of unity of interest that the alliance of wool growers and manufacturers rests today and the more carefully the subject is considered the more closely drawn are the ties of union. But what of the people? How are they benefited by this combination? What is the preservation of a duty on wool to them?

Well, let's see. In 1890 we produced 60,264,913 pounds of wool, according to the calculation of the agricultural department. Twenty-five years later our production was 330,000,000 pounds. With the development of our woolen manufacturing industry under the tariff of 1861 and its supplements in the years following, our demand for wool increased so that it not only consumed a home product at the close of the war of 80,000,000 pounds, but an importation of 73,000,000. Under the operation of the Morrill tariff of 1867 our home production steadily advanced until we produced five sixths of the wool we consumed in the early years of the present decade. Moreover under the protection of the duty on wool the quality and weight of fleece made a phenomenal gain. To it we owe the development of the improved American merino, a wool-bearing animal so far in advance of the imported Spanish merino, from which it was bred, that it is as distinctly American as the nation itself, and stands in the front rank of high-bred sheep. With the improvements in combing machinery and consequent growth of our worsted industry, the production of combing wools here, too, very largely increased.

The extraordinary progress of this industry was arrested in 1883 by the alteration of the tariff of 1867 and an erroneous classification of the treasury department, admitting "wool tops," unquestionably a manufactured preparation of wool fibres, as scoured wool or raw material. When the census of 1890 was taken every county in twenty-one states had sheep. Only 105 counties in the great total of the states had no sheep. No industry is more widely distributed than sheep raising, save perhaps the production of the cereals. Collectively and individually the people of this country have an interest in its preservation and extension. For the United States, in spite of heavy recent losses, ranks fourth in the world as a sheep-raising country. Its great stock is a prolific source of wealth, an employer of home labor and a sure resource in time of need.

Now, we cannot afford to knock thirty years of progress in the head by the sweeping repeal of all wool duties, as was proposed in the Mills bill, and will be put through if Mr. Mills and his friends have the power. We cannot afford to see the destruction of thousands of flocks and the certain degradation in the quality of the remainder. Sheep will still be raised, of course, for mutton, but in the main the wool would be a by-product; and the difference between raising for mutton and raising for wool is a distinction which free traders delight to ignore. We had half as many sheep in the country in 1890 as this year, but the wool product was only one fifth of what it is today. It is easy enough to break down the industry, but it will take an immeasurable amount of energy, cost, time, skill and patience to offset one short breakdown, and the blow of repeal may prove an irreparable injury. This every practical sheep-raiser knows and will affirm. Will Americans permit that blow to be struck?

The Bay City Michigan Tribune of Sunday last, comes to us with forty-eight pages—the largest paper ever published in Michigan outside of Detroit. The advertising in the paper speaks volumes for its prosperity. It is one of the best papers in Michigan and is winning republican votes every day.

The Axis of the Continent.

Boston is sometimes called the "hub of the universe," and has considerable claim, in an intellectual way. The Rocky mountains are alluded to as the "backbone of the continent"—and they are certainly rugged and knobby enough to constitute a formidable and reliable vertebral column. (No wonder Uncle Sam is so independent with such a backbone.) If these are appropriate appellations, then we may rightly call the Mississippi valley the axis of North America. In its borders are the bulk of the people—it is the food storehouse of the whole country—and the remainder of the country revolves about it, dependent upon it for food, for the great working force, for the political power. To reach any portion of this valley above St. Louis, "The Burlington" is the natural, the best, the quickest route for the traveler, every city in the section being on or near its lines. For tickets, time table, rates and information, call on any agent of "The Burlington," or connecting lines, or write to W. J. C. Kanyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. B. & N. R. R. St. Paul, Minn.

SEEN AND HEARD.

When the law requiring all buildings over two stories high to be fitted with fire escapes went into effect there was a decided disposition on the part of property holders to evade the requirements of the measure or to overlook it entirely. Human life, in such cases, is always held cheaply, people thinking that there will never arise an occasion when an escape will be useful. But there was a practical illustration the other day of such a law at Syracuse the other day. The Leland hotel burned, and several people lost their lives. In a conversation with a New York Star reporter Saturday one of the hotel proprietors stated that one of the things that was the means of saving many lives was the rope with which each room was provided by these ropes fifty persons, who otherwise would have perished in the flames, were enabled to escape from the building.

"The scene last night in the chamber of commerce building was a fit subject for the pen of a Swift," said an Easterner last evening. "No satire could be too scathing in denouncing such proceedings, and to a calm, unimpassioned onlooker it would seem that the people of Duluth had gone speculation mad. I have seen speculators go crazy on the floor of the stock exchange; act like lunatics over a hurry in wheat, but I have never seen such a disgraceful scramble as there was for place Saturday and Sunday nights. I should think that really men could have curbed their impatience until Monday. There should certainly be no necessity of disturbing Sunday peace with noisy demonstration. I had heard that Duluth was lively, but hardly thought to see so much 'stir'."

ODDS AND ENDS.

Russell Sage has added $200,000 to his previous gift of $600,000 for a department of philosophy at Cornell university. Mr. Sage's gifts now aggregate over $1,000,000.

The baleful influence of the Standard Oil company is seen in Iowa, where a woman has named her twin daughters Kerosene and Gasoline.

□ In St. Louis there are no basements used as stores, restaurants or saloons. Cloverdale, Ky., has a new daily paper called the Dairy Girl.

Some Philadelphia ladies have combined to abolish kitchens in their homes and start a co-operative cooking house. Relic sellers at Gettysburg are said to import wagon loads of junk from Southern battlefields and sell them for Gettysburg relics.

A farmer at Chico, Cal., has trained cats to catch gophers, and protects his grass fields by this means. He considers his felines worth $20 apiece for this purpose.

A recent edict in Norway declares that no girl shall be eligible for marriage unless she is proficient in spinning, knitting and baking.

I'M GROWING OLD.

[N. Y. Observer.]

Ah, yes! I count it in my years,
And tell it in my stiffening bones;
I note it in my dulling ears,
And hear it in my feeble tones.

And hide it, as I slily may,
By this and that overt disguise;
I have it in the tell-tale gray,
And in the cloud upon my eyes.

Kind friends will often say, 'tis true,
"How young you look, how late and strong!"
But this I know they did not do
When I was sure that I was young.

And so I'm growing old in truth,
My sense less keen, my step less free;
But I retain my red youth;
I am not old, and will not be.

'Tis not in time to make me old,
Though years may wear my frame away;
May make the vital currents cold,
And turn the raven locks to gray.

But long as hope in me is strong,
And faith looks up with undimmed eyes;
And long as love and zeal hot me on,
To reach the mark and take the prize;

Yea, long as from the heights serene
The stream of life flows pure and strong,
The leaf of life shall still be green,
And mine shall be a glad song.

As aged eagles moult their plumes,
And bathe in clouds their new-fledged wings,
So my young soul its strength resumes,
And to its native heaven springs.

And so shall all who wait on God
Forevermore their youth renew,
Mount upon wings to his abode,
And life's eternal path pursue.

Voters of St. Louis County.

In the interest of clean politics and honor and purity in public affairs, and after over thirty years continuous service in the republican ranks, I am now an independent candidate for clerk of the district court. I have neither time nor money to make personal canvasses of the county to solicit votes. I have stood before the shot and shell of the country's enemies, and bear on my body the evidence of that service in the shape of scars of wounds received, suffering more than death that the nation might live. If you believe that the disabled veteran soldier should be preferred for places of honor and profit than give me your votes. Whatever your decision, I shall not complain, but if defeated, will only think that the utterances so often expressed in party conventions and party platforms, local state and national, were only a string of glittering generalities.

Very respectfully,

UNION MEN NOT WANTED.

Telegraph Companies Trying to Crush Out the Union.

NO SERIOUS TROUBLE YET REPORTED.

A Brotherhood Operator Says that He was Obligated to Sign an Agreement.

The recent discharge of telegraphers by the Western Union Telegraph company in Chicago, Omaha and St. Paul is creating a good deal of comment by the employees of that company and those of others throughout the country. The employees affected are members of the Brotherhood of Telegraphers whose membership is largely composed of Western Union operators. The organization is of recent formation and the action of the company is generally accepted as a kind of organization of every kind among the employees on their pay rolls. Several operators discharged have been refused employment by the Northern Pacific road on learning they were members of the Brotherhood, whose members are practically black listed.

There is no local lodge of the Brotherhood here, though one is in contemplation. There has been no discharge here and none are in prospect so far as could be learned. Operators of the company here state that the reports of summary discharges were true, and in their judgment the company is apparently determined to discontinue any attempt at organization for the mutual and beneficial interests of the fraternity.

The Order of Railroad Telegraphers which has a membership of about 13,000 distributed about the country and which have a local lodge known as the Lake Superior Division number 25 will not be affected by the action of the Western Union company. They are a non-striking organization and the settlement of any grievance that may arise is always done by arbitration as provided by their constitution and by-laws. They are watching with interest the movement on the part of the telegraph company, their sympathies being apparently with the discharged employees.

Liquor at a Church Fair.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Oct. 27.—The annual fair of St. Mary's church, which opened in this city Thursday evening, has created a stir in church circles. The council granted a saloonkeeper permission to transfer his license to the hall on the evenings the fair was to be held, and minister and congregation partake alike of the foamy. The sale of liquor is severely criticised by resident clergy.

Railroad Notes.

W. W. Walker has been appointed traveling passenger agent of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic.

The Great Northern has ordered fifty locomotives from the Baldwin works. They will be used on the Pacific coast extension.

The Chicago & Northwestern company, now that it has bought the Milwaukee & Northern line, has its eye on the Milwaukee & Lake Shore road. It is said that negotiations have been entered between these two companies, looking to the sale of the Lake Shore line. This purchase, should it be consummated, would give the Chicago & Northwestern virtual control of the freight business of eastern Wisconsin and give it great advantage in its competition with the Wisconsin Central. Several improvements are contemplated by the West Duluth Belt Line company. The line is to be extended from the dock, near the Marinette works, around the base of the knoll on the Car works land to the main track of the St. Paul & Duluth, near Stowell station.

RIOT IN GEORGIA.

Property Destroyed at Varn and Lives Threatened.

Way Cross, Ga., Oct. 27.—The riot which cost two lives a day or two ago broke out afresh Saturday night, when 150 men, armed with Winchester rifles, went to Varn and fired the turpentine still of L. B. Varn. They also riddled the commissary with bullets, some of which narrowly missed the clerk, who was sleeping inside. The party said they intended to return the next night and finish their work of destruction.

Mr. Varn wired the governor for protection to his property and notified the postmaster-general that he had abandoned the postoffice at Varn in consequence of threats against his life. Governor Gordon wired Sheriff Henderson of Ware county, to hold the militia in readiness to proceed to Varn. No one could furnish any names.

Halfway in Ireland.

DUBLIN, Oct. 27.—Mr. Balfour, chief secretary for Ireland, who is making the tour of the Western counties, will remain at Belmullet, county Mayo, today. Thence he will proceed to Newport and Westport. The Express of this city, commenting on the trip of the chief secretary, says: Mr. Balfour and his companions will long remember their journey of Saturday in the midst of a fierce storm, which helped to reveal wild and miserable prospects. It gave them a vivid experience of the terrible population of that part of Ireland struggle for existence. Mr. Balfour's reception has everywhere been respectful and often cordial.

Big Barge Wrecked.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 27.—The barge Wahnapitae, in tow of the steamer John M. Nichol, was cast off opposite this port last night and undertook to make the harbor. On account of heavy sea she soon became completely at the mercy of the wind and was driven, a helpless wreck, on the breakwater. The life saving crew went to the rescue and succeeded in saving all but John Williams, son of Algona, Mich., and Ira W. Smith, Oswego, N. Y., sailors. She will probably go to pieces.

Three People Killed.

STEEBENVILLE, Ohio, Oct. 27.—The eastbound No. 6, Pan Handle passenger train ran into a crowd of five persons walking on the track midway between here and Wingo, at six o'clock last evening. Mrs. Bluebank was killed instantly. Mrs. Mary Wind suffered a compound fracture of the leg, hurt internally and will die. Joshua Wind had his back broken. Mrs. Bluebank had her back broken.

Honoring the Warrior.

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—This is the great day of the festivities incident to the nineteenth birthday of Count von Moltke and it is observed as a national holiday. The public schools are closed with the view of educating the rising generation in patriotism. This morning, the field-marshal was tendered a reception. Amongst the others present were the grand duke of Hesse and Baden, the Duke William of Wurttemberg, the Count Vohovosky, the former, the representative of the Emperor of Austria, and the latter of the Czar. The second grand military display takes place this afternoon, and the celebration closes to night with and immense torchlight procession, a general illumination, and a scene of festivity unparalleled in the history of the empire.

Mobile's Big Fire.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 27.—Mobile suffered severely by fire Sunday, the buildings consumed being a shingle mill, three cotton compresses and five cotton warehouses with 5630 bales of cotton, the Gulf City oil mill, the Mobile ice factory, three steamboats, eleven loaded and five empty freight cars, two coal and wood yards, freight depot with a small amount of freight, and six wharves. Loss is $545,000 with about $325,000 insurance.

Lovers of Fair Play.

By scheme or otherwise, I have failed to get my name printed on the official ticket as a candidate for clerk of the district court, although I offered to the county auditor twice the required number of signatures to a certificate of nomination. The courts can only determine whether the omission is legal or illegal, and before that determination can be reached the election will have passed. Those who would rebuke this act of petty official usurpation and desire to vote for me, will find a blank space on the ticket after the names of Sinclair and Voss, in which they can write my name, or place thereon a "paste" slip containing my name, making an X opposite the same. These slips will be at every polling place in Duluth, and voters can procure them of my friends there on the day of election.

Very respectfully yours in the interest of fair play,

GILES H. HOLDEN.

Ladies we respectfully solicit your inspection of our imported English and German smoking jackets, dressing gowns and bath robes. Smoking jackets at $5, $6, $8 and $10 and upwards.

BIG RUSH FOR REALTY.

The New Duluth Boom Almost Causes a Riot.

THE HALLS CLEARED BY OFFICERS.

The Company Will Not Change its Method of Conducting the Sale; Foreign Investors.

The Chamber of Commerce building was the scene of unusual excitement yesterday. At an early hour a hoodlum crowd of men took possession of the hall leading to the office of the New Duluth Land company with the apparent purpose of holding the fort until the opening of the sale, thereby stealing a march on the real estate dealers and the public in general who are desirous of purchasing lots.

The news soon spread about town and the halls were soon filled with indignant citizens who were loud in their denunciation of the proposed scheme on foot to bar them from securing an equal advantage in the purchase of desirable lots.

Coffin & Warner, the agents of the building, upon being notified, succeeded with the assistance of a few policemen in clearing the hall of the objectionable would-be tenants who were in charge of Detective Benson. Shortly after being rooted out they succeeded in securing forcible entrance to room number 221, and with locked doors held possession. Tom Gray, who holds a lease on the office, upon seeking entrance was forcibly thrown out by one of the hired men, and Detective Hayden put his foot through a neighboring skylight in attempting to obtain a look at the aggregation, whom Chief McGuire reports contains toughs of the worst kind.

The scheme is said to be engineered by several real estate men, who with a knowledge that but two lots could be bought by a purchaser hired the men to buy for them. The officials of the New Duluth Land company expressed regret at the occurrence. Yesterday a petition was circulated requesting that the company sell their property by issuing tickets to intending purchasers.

The excitement at New Duluth has continued all through the day, and by 4:30 the retainers and henchmen of 101 real estate men had gathered near the Chamber of Commerce building, preparing for a descent upon the hall leading to the Land company's office. The main office of the company has been filled with inquiries after property, and the purchasing forces has been augmented by the arrival of a crowd from Ashland. Not since 1887 has such excitement existed over the sale of city or suburban property.

Notwithstanding the petition from scores of real estate men, the New Duluth company, at a directors' meeting this morning, decided not to change its mode of sale, and in explanation the following notice has been issued:

No Change Can Be Made.

To John W. Ronague, James M. Rogers, Bennett & Wilson, W. E. Worden, R. C. Mitchell, R. F. Wilcutts and seventy-six others:

Gentlemen: Your communication of this date is received. So far as I am concerned I would gladly comply with your request, were it in my power to do so. The board of directors of the New Duluth Land company after spending much time over the matter in question, adopted the plan of first come first served. It is the intention of the company to act squarely and fairly with each purchaser of lots. You can readily see that at this late date it is impossible for the company to change the mode of sale, which has been so thoroughly advertised. At a meeting of the executive committee it was decided to make this concession: After 80% of all lots which have been put up on sale are sold, then thirty additional lots on Commonwealth and Grand avenues will be added to the list of lots for sale. No one having previously bought on Commonwealth and Grand avenues will be allowed to purchase any of these additional lots. This concession we have made hoping that, to some extent, it might help you.

JAMES W. NORTON,
General Manager.

OLD HUTCH FIRED.

The Great Speculator Bounced From a Bar Room.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Benjamin Peters Hutchinson got into trouble the other night at Gore's hotel. Mr. Hutchinson entered the bar room of the hotel at 8 o'clock. At 10 o'clock the famous speculator was singing songs, and it became necessary for the bartender to close the doors leading to the office, so that the noise would not disturb the other guests. Sitting next to Mr. Hutchinson was J. H. Wehn, the Chicago representative of a New York asphalt paving company. Mr. Wehn began to grow impatient about 11 o'clock. The bartender told him to keep quiet. The bartender is a slender little man, weighing not more than 120 pounds. Mr. Wehn weighs over 200. He told the bartender that he was a fool and a number of other things. The bartender continued to mix drinks in silence, however, until Mr. Wehn turned on a roar that fairly made the glasses dance. According to people who were present, a streak of white bounded over the marble bar and shot across the room, and Mr. Wehn was lifted bodily from his chair and thrown into the hall. When the bartender came back Mr. Hutchinson turned to see the batteries of his wrath on the young man. The latter asked the millionaire speculator to keep quiet and receiving only a fresh volley for reply, he jumped at him, as he had at Wehn. Fastening his fingers in the old man's coat collar, he lifted him to his feet, then shifting one hand to the region of his coat tails, he began a forward movement that only ended at the foot of the stairs leading to the alley behind the open Board of trade. The speculator was thrown flat on his back. When the bartender returned to his bar-room he looked all the doors. A moment afterward Hutchinson and his friends were storming every entrance. The millionaire was furious. He was finally persuaded by his friends to go home. The affair caused intense excitement about the hotel. Old Hutch's friends say the assault on him was unprovoked and unnecessary.

Ingersoll and Whitman.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—At the testimonial to Walt Whitman, given at Horticultural hall here, over 1000 people were present. The feature was an oration by Col. Robert G. Ingersoll entitled: "Let Us Put Wreaths on the Brows of the Living." He extolled Whitman as the greatest of living poets. The poet sat in his wheel chair on the stage immediately back of Col. Ingersoll, and at the conclusion of the oration he rolled himself forward and in a feeble voice tendered his thanks to the audience and to Col. Ingersoll, finishing his remarks by exclaiming: "Hail and farewell! Hail and farewell!" The scene was very impressive.

SCOTCH WHALEBACKS.

A Possibility That the McDougall Boats Will Be Built in Scotland.

When Charles Bell the Scotch pig iron manufacturer, and member of the British Iron & Steel Institute, was in Duluth last week he made a call upon Capt. McDougall of whaleback fame. In an interview a Herald reporter was informed by Mr. Bell that the Clyde shipmen and builders were taking much interest in the McDougall boat, as they were considered one of the best carriers for stuff like ore, coal, etc., that had yet been invented.

A rumor has been going the rounds that a Scotch boat-building syndicate had made the American Steel Barge company an offer to establish a yard in Scotland to be located on the Clyde River. This offer, it is said, has been virtually accepted.

Capt. McDougall was questioned by a Herald reporter regarding this report. He said: "The boats of the American Steel Barge company may sometime be built in Scotland," and would give no further information about the rumor.

GENTLEMEN:—Your communication of this date is received. So far as I am concerned I would gladly comply with your request, were it in my power to do so. The Board of Directors of New Duluth Land Company, after spending much time over the matter in question, adopted the plan of "first come first served." It is the intention of the company to act squarely and fairly with each purchaser of lots. You can readily see that at this late date it is impossible for the Company to change the mode of sale, which has been so thoroughly advertised. At a meeting of the Executive Committee it was decided to make this concession: After 80 per cent. of all lots which have been put on sale are sold, then thirty additional lots on Commonwealth and Grand Avenues will be added to the list of lots for sale. No one having previously bought on Commonwealth and Grand Avenues will be allowed to purchase any of these additional lots. This concession we have made, hoping that, to some extent, it might help you.
